MAIL ROBBERY LAID TO TEXANS
San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 21 (AP)—Z. D. Bonner, former president of the Commercial National bank here, and John H. Cunningham, prominent local attorney, were arrested today in connection with a $250,000 mail robbery in Chicago December 6, 1932.

Federal agents arrested Bonner here, and a deputy United States marshal took Cunningham from a St. Louis bound Katy train at Austin and brought him here. They were arrested on fugitive warrants based on indictments returned in Chicago. Arrangement of the two men, who are also under state indictments charging them with receiving and concealing, and conspiracy to receive and conceal stolen government property, was set for 2 p. m. today before a United States Commissioner Paul A. Lockhart.

The federal indictments were based on charges that Bonner and Cunningham conspired to buy, sell and dispose of stolen government property.

Federal authorities said Bonner and Cunningham probably would be allowed to make bond here, but would have to go to Chicago to face trial.

Chicago, Dec. 21 (AP)—Two San Antonio bankers held by the government in their home city today were reported to have been indicted secretly here on conspiracy charges linked with the $250,000 mail robbery on a Chicago downtown street Dec. 6, 1932.

Those arrested are Z. D. Bonner, an officer of the Commercial National bank of San Antonio, and John H. Cunningham, bank attorney. Edward A. Fisher, assistant U. S. district attorney, announced the arrests but withheld details of the charges.

Old Jam of Logs Is Dislodged by Flood
Chehalis, Wash., Dec. 21 (AP)—Several million feet of logs were "jammed" in Harmony canyon on the Cowlitz, seven years ago.

George A. Robinson, owner of the logs, accepted to dislodge them by dynamite and donkey engines. He at last offered $5,000 for a plan that would move the logs downstream. None was forthcoming. Yesterday, however, the raging Cowlitz, after a week of steady rain, burst the logs down the river like so many matchsticks.

St. Paul's Church school, Lynn P. Cronmiller, superintendent, will have its Christmas tree and program Friday evening in the parish house at 7:15 p. m. Mr. Cronmiller has secured a religious film, "Jesus of Nazareth," which will be shown as a part of the entertainment. It is expected that Santa himself will put in an appearance during the evening. Adults as well as children are cordially invited. There will be no offering, but children may bring articles of food for the needy.

PEAK OF XMAS MAIL REACHED AT POST OFFICE

If the volume of Christmas mail is any indication of the general trend of the times, business is holding its own if not making slight improvement. Postmaster John Farrar, although not able to give out conclusive statistics expressed the opinion this morning that Christmas mail so far holds a slight improvement over the volume of a year ago. This is especially true in regard to outgoing mail matter. Whether the incoming volume will be on a par with former years will not be determined until later in the week.

While the package business has shown some improvement, the Christmas card or letter volume appears to be on the decline. In this department, too, no final analysis will be reached until later in the week since many persons may wait until near Christmas day before dropping their greetings into the slot.

The peak of outgoing mail was believed reached Wednesday although the rush of customers continued throughout today. Clerks at the window working at top speed, declare the patrons of the office for the most part seem imbued with the Christmas spirit. Very few had complaints of any description to make.

A number of auxiliary helpers were put to work Wednesday and it is expected they will be kept busy from now until late Saturday afternoon delivering gifts to Salem. There will be no delivery of general mail either Sunday or Monday.

TOD SLOAN OF RACES DEAD
Los Angeles, Dec. 21 (AP)—James Tothunter (Tod) Sloan, one of sports world's most famed characters, died here today.

The little jockey, who was rated by many critics as the best of all-time, lost a long and game fight against cirrhosis of the liver.

For a man who made hundreds of thousands of dollars in his heyday—and ran through it almost as fast as he made it—his end was tragic.

He was discovered a few weeks ago in the county hospital, a charity patient and in a condition which led physicians to say that his death was but a matter of a few days.

Old friends who had gone to his aid many times before had him removed to the private hospital in which he died.

Sloan's name was a by-word for years when he was booting home winners on racetracks throughout this country and in Europe. At one time he was employed as first jockey for H. R. H. Edward, Prince of Wales.

He was 69 years old at the time of his death. He had been ill for many months.

LINDLEY HELD AS MENACE TO SOCIETY

Gilbert L. Lindley, who on September 30 was committed by Circuit Judge McMahan to the state hospital for observation, knows the difference between right and wrong but believed by hospital authorities to be a high grade moron, mentally retarded and mentally unstable and free a risk to society unless placed under a careful guardianship. This is the finding of Dr. J. C. Evans, asylum physician, as given in a letter to Judge McMahan.

Lindley was before the court in late September on a morals charge. It developed that he is an ex-service man and suffered severe shell shock during the war. In light of his apparent mental condition the court declined to act in his case until given a period of observation at the hospital. Judge McMahan, who leaves for California tonight, stated that Lindley would be left at the institution for further observation until final decision is made as to disposition of his case.

STORM FAILS TO STOP CWA WORK

Despite adverse weather conditions work on the various CWA projects within the city is steadily going ahead. While many of the men engaged in digging and pushing wheelbarrows became thoroughly saturated after an hour or two of the most part they stick with the job until their six hours have been completed.

Until such a time as Marion county's quota is increased by the government, no more men will be put to work on the projects, Glen Niles, county administrator has announced. This action was taken because it is believed the quota of 1411 men has already been reached. Registration for relief work reached the 4844 point late Wednesday.

Bids were opened yesterday and today for a quantity of material which will be used in the Olinger field project. This material includes 215 barrels of cement, 70 yards of concrete sand, 125 yards of gravel, approximately 3500 pieces of reinforcing steel, 5000 feet of lumber and a large quantity of wire.

Jim McCleave Sends Friends Greetings

Wholesale wishes for a "Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year" are extended to his many friends in Salem by Jim McCleave, veteran horseman whose string of show horses and corps of fancy riders were for years one of the high lights of state fair horse shows here, in a telegram received by the Capital Journal today.

McCleave, still following the horse show circuit, is in California this winter and sent his season's greetings from Stockton.

REFUSE TO INCUR FURTHER DEBT FOR HIGHWAYS

Marshfield, Ore., Dec. 21 (AP)—All Oregon road projects embraced in the proposed federal loan of $25,000,000 now pending before the public works administration will be withdrawn.

This proposed loan has no bearing on the independent loan being arranged for financing construction of the five Oregon Coast highway bridges.

The announcement was made by Leslie M. Scott, chairman of the state highway commission, who last night conferred by telephone with Governor Meier, vacationing in San Francisco.

The action was in line with refusal of the legislature to pass an act guaranteeing highway revenues to repay the loan, and in accord with the fixed policy of the commission to incur no additional highway debt.

The highway commission yesterday concluded its visit to coast cities on the question of arranging for location of approaches for the five Coast highway bridges to be constructed. At all points the commission's plans were approved. All that remains to be done now is to obtain necessary right of way and the federal loan approval.

As far as the proposed $25,000,000 federal loan was concerned, the commission believed that instead of incurring that debt it would best base future work on the regular federal aid appropriation which in ten years would approximate $20,000,000.

FILE INITIATIVE FOR STATE BANK

A preliminary initiative petition to repeal the constitutional provision which prohibits the establishment of state banks or banking institutions by special act, was filed with the secretary of state today. Sponsors of the initiative are the state grange, state federation of labor and Ray K. Gill and Albert Slaughter individually.

The preliminary petition specifies the measure to repeal section 1 of Article XI of the constitution go on the ballot at the general election next November. The signatures of 20,696 voters by July will be necessary to place the issue before the electorate.

The repeal of the constitutional provision would pave the way for the establishment of state banks which have been urged by both the grange and the federation of labor.

DEBTOR SLAYS CREDITOR BUT COMMENDS F. D.

Santa Rosa, Cal., Dec. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt was praised as America's "greatest patriot" today in a note written by a debt-harassed rancher before he killed the man who held the mortgage on his farm and committed suicide.

Michael Oestinsky, 55, evidently a well-educated Russian, described in three notes the slaying of John Ugoikoff, 45. San Francisco money-lender, when the latter owned the close the mortgage on Oestinsky's chicken ranch in Todd community near here.

The money-lender had demanded payment of the entire $2780 due on the mortgage and had rejected the rancher's proposal to pay interest in January, one note revealed.

"I could not stand the abuse," another note read. "He kept right on. Then I got a gun and locked his mouth."

The third message read: "God bless the president of the United States, the greatest patriot in the United States, President Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Notes were found in a cabin office by members of the Oestinsky family. Ugoikoff's body lay on the floor with a single bullet wound in the chest. Near the door of the office was the rancher's body with a head wound.

The shooting occurred during the absence of Oestinsky's wife and son Benedict.

NO INJUNCTION ON LIQUOR BILL

The promise of Mayor Willis Mahoney of Klamath Falls to institute injunction proceedings in the Marion county circuit court today to restrain the state liquor commission from enforcing the new liquor control act, which would prohibit the sale of hard liquors to state stores only, violates the home rule provision of the constitution, Mayor Mahoney announced in Portland last night that he had instructed the city attorney of Klamath Falls to draw up a complaint asking for an injunction and file it in the Marion county circuit court. He also said he would ask other Oregon cities to join in the case to test the law.

Mayor Mahoney said that he expected the case to be speeded up by action of the circuit in granting a temporary injunction, which would allow the issue to go direct to the supreme court for final determination.

LIONS CLUB HOST AT XMAS PARTY

Members of the Salem Lions club were hosts during a Christmas party held in the Gray Belle restaurant Thursday noon to their wives and a group of children. The children, selected by the local Salvation Army, were recipients of many useful gifts through the generosity of the Lions.

Following a dinner to which close to 100 persons sat down, a program of music was provided. An amusing feature of the affair was the initiation into the "Dad" club of George Solderbeck. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Verne Gilmore and Wendell Heim. Mrs. Ralph Kietzing gave a reading.

Indian War Veterans Of Oregon Plan Last Reunion, Los Angeles

Judge L. H. McMahan of the Marion county circuit court will leave tonight for Los Angeles to attend the last roundup of Oregon Indian war veterans of the Modoc and Bannock-Plute wars which flamed up in the state in the 1870's.

While Judge McMahan is not an Indian war veteran, he conceived the idea of the reunion and with Dr. Andrew C. Smith of Portland, Indian war veteran, made the arrangements for the gathering where many of the old boys with crutches for rifles will once more stage the battles of the war and other famous historic fields, once more make historic capture Chief Joseph. The reunion will be held January 2.

Maurice Fitzgerald, who made the west's greatest ride, will be among those present, states Judge McMahan. Fitzgerald was in the Modoc war and at the battles of the lava beds near Klamath Falls in 1873.

At its close he went to Harney county reporting at Camp Harney, 14 miles from Burns and was there in 1878 when the Bannock-Plute war broke out. From there he was sent by Col. C. E. S. Wood with dispatches to Baker City the nearest telegraph station. It was then he made the greatest ride in the history of the west, said Judge McMahan, when he traveled 188 miles in 23 hours and a half and made the trip using but one horse.

The trip started on a ride of 112 miles and overtook General O. O. Howard's command at Clover Creek in the Malheur country.

Col. Reddington, who formerly lived in Salem, will be among other old veterans at the reunion," continued Judge McMahan. "In the early days he was chief of scouts under Howard in the Bannock-Plute war, was in the chase after Chief Joseph, which led to that notorious Indian's capture near the Canadian line. Col. William Thompson will also be there. He was head of the vigilantes in eastern Oregon when their activities dealt summary justice to cattle and horse thieves. He edited the Mercury in Salem in 1871-72, was editor of the Plain Dealer at Roseburg in 1887-88 and in 1899 edited the Eugene Guard.

Dr. Andrew C. Smith who has been active in making arrangements for this last roundup of the veterans' command where he served as an officer and also participated in the chase after Chief Joseph.

"All of those at the reunion by Dr. Smith and myself are over 80 years of age.

Col. Reddington married Nellie Meacham, daughter of A. B. Meacham, Indian agent who was shot and desperately wounded at the conference between the Modocs and General Canby at the lava beds. General Canby was killed at the conference. The Modocs tried to scalp Meacham, but he was bald headed. They ran a scalping knife around his scalp but there was not enough hair with which to pull off the scalp."

While Judge McMahan was not an Indian war veteran he was born at Auburn, at that time county seat of Baker county, when Baker city was but a trading post.

"I know all of the old boys in those Indian wars," he stated, "so conceived the idea of arranging for this last roundup, to give them a final chance to fight the battles over."
