

STATE SERVICE CLUBS PICNIC PLANNED ON JUNE 10

BREITENBUSH FINE SAMPLE ORE. SCENERY

Over wooded hills and through valleys where nature's handwork can be seen to advantage, across rustic bridges and along the edges of deep, wooded gorges, where the natural beauty of the scenery may be enjoyed for miles . . . it is but an inadequate foreword describing the approach to Breitenbush Hot Springs, where the annual picnic of the service clubs of the state of Oregon will be held on June 10, and a trip recommended by the Oregon State Motor association.

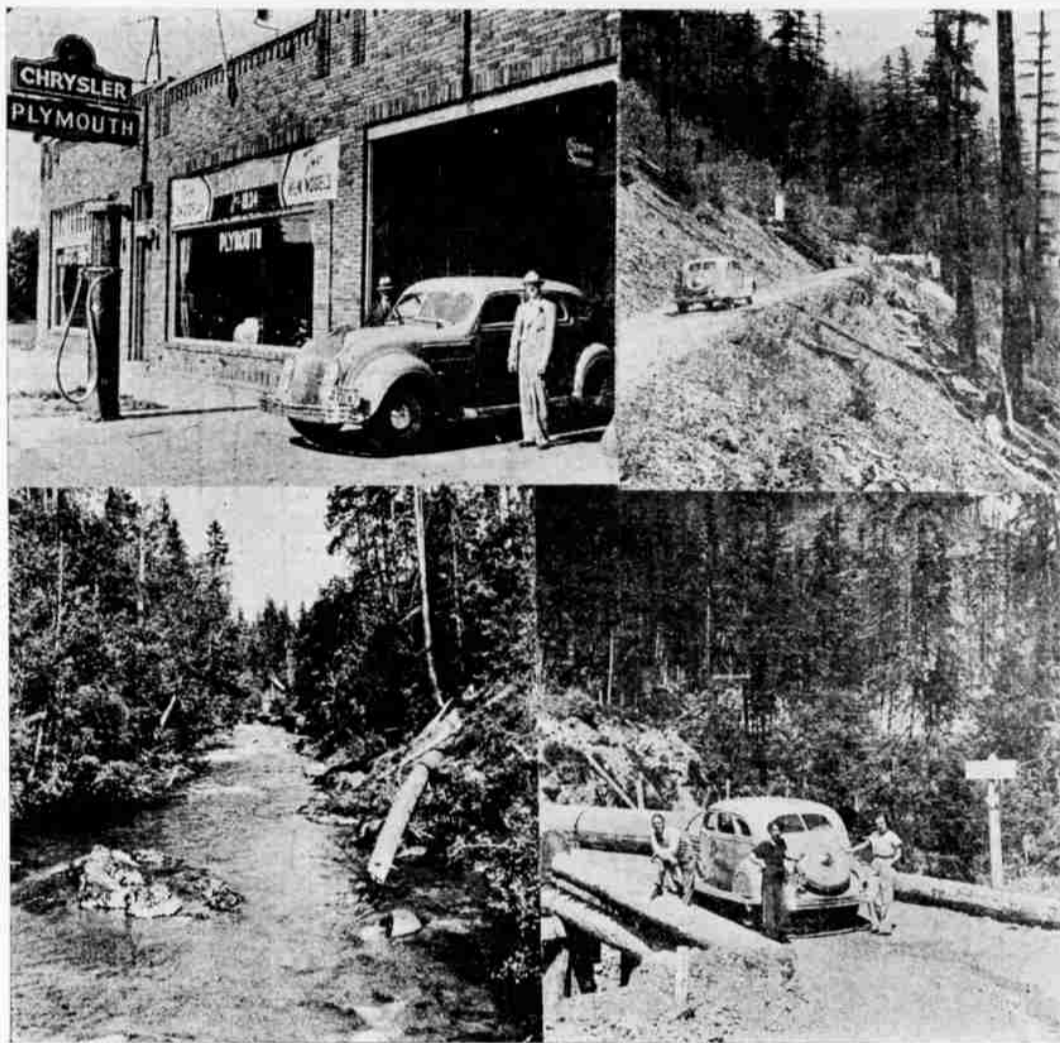

The Capital Journal Motor Log, conducted on Sunday, May 13, in the New Airflow Chrysler, furnished by the Salem Automobile company, left the city at 9:30 a. m., making in Turner, Stayton, Aumsville, Hubbiny, Mehama and stop-

R. Morrison, of the Capital Journal. At Lyons we visited for some time with Tom Hobson, whose father, Harry D. Hobson, is known throughout the country as an expert manufacturer of bows, arrows and fishing tackle. Tom showed us through the work rooms and showed us a lot of finished product, also instructed us in the correct way to hold a yew bow. Tom won the junior national archery championship at the Century of Progress at Chicago last summer.

From there we drove on into Mill City and taking the Chrysler down along the river, took a photo of the dam and the falls. From there we went to Detroit and following the brink of Niagara Gorge drove into the lower Breitenbush Springs shortly before noon. The hotel was not open for business, but they were busy engaged in renovating and making it ready for the official summer opening. Five hundred cars are expected at Breitenbush for the statewide picnic on June 10.

We went up to the upper mineral springs owned and operated by M. D. Bruckman and some of the party took a dip in the mineral pool. We made a real picnic lunch of sardines, cheese and crackers and started back home about 3 o'clock, having thoroughly enjoyed a wonderful trip on a glorious day.

The Airflow Chrysler proved itself as marvelous in performance as it is in appearance and the Goodyear Air Wheels with which it was equipped made riding comfortable and safe. It is also equipped with a Willard battery and Shell gasoline was used for the trip. About 150 miles were covered on the tour on approximately 10 gallons of gasoline, giving an average of 15 miles to the gallon.

The textile strikes in France caused the re-employment of 15,000 workers in Belgium.
