state, including oats, hay and other small grains, have been cut 40 per cent. The strawberry crop has been severely damaged and chinch bug damage is the worst in the region's farming history.

Indiana's hay crop is cut 50 per cent and wheat and oats are severely damaged. Corn is germinating slowly. Dust storms have blown away large parts of the onion and mint crops. The fruit crop in the southwestern region is perished. Timber and grass is drying, and small insects and timber fires are adding to the damage.

With hay and pastures most afflicted, crops throughout Wisconsin are mangled. No spring planting has been done in several sections. Corn is suffering.

Minnesota is suffering from an epidemic of grasshoppers. The yield of spring wheat will not reach 85 percent of normal. Dust storms have blown away plants. Pasture lands are drying up, and oats and hay have been hurt.

Some unofficial estimates were that the wheat crop yield in Kansas will not exceed 50 percent. Corn planting will be deferred in several parts of the state. The apple crop area is hard hit.

In several sections of the grain belt Sunday church services were devoted to prayers for rain. By proclamation of Governor William Langer, Sunday was set aside in North Dakota as a "day of prayer for rain."

Mild rains fell yesterday in Wisconsin, northern Michigan, central Nebraska and Minnesota. Local showers were forecast today for southern Illinois, Indiana, lower Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and the eastern parts of the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas. Thunderstorms were predicted for parts of Iowa and Kansas.

LUMBER IS TRUCKED

Gates — Operators of the Evans logging camp and sawmill have been trucking lumber to the valley markets during the past two weeks. They are also loading ties on the cars at Gates. They employ more than twenty men.

Silverton — Arriving from his home in West Frankfort, Ill., is Michael Lynch, who will be a houseguest at the home of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Starnson, for an extended period. Lynch was in the west two weeks and was favorably impressed with the country. He may remain here to make his home.

PICNIC IS FEATURE OF SCHOOL CLOSING

Silverton — Miss Inga Goplerud, her pupils, and patrons of the Brush Creek district school celebrated the closing day of the year for 1934 with a "day of prayer for rain."

UNKNOWN FROG WINS VICTORY ANGELS CAMP

Angels Camp, Calif., May 21 (AP)—The "wise money" of Angels Camp took a whipping yesterday in the world's frog jumping championship, but as it did 99 years ago when a couple of eastern slickers fed the prize frog buckshot and completely bogged it down.

Yesterday, however, there was no skulduggery, for most of the 29,000 who attended the jumping of the international amphibian derby had read Mark Twain's account of the jumping frog of the Calaveras and were on the alert. The trouble was that old Badwheeler, a three time winner and heavily backed, failed to show his usual form.

Most of the local money was down on Badwheeler, but he suffered from muscle contraction and the best he could do was nine feet seven inches.

General Grant was the dark horse. A local product, developed from a mere tadpole in an Angels Camp backyard pool, the General went to the line an unknown to win with a leap of 13 feet five inches. There were 261 other frogs in the class.

Adolph Hitler, a Germany entry, gave the meeting an international flavor, but Adolph didn't understand English and there was no one in the vast throng to give in German the commands to jump. Efforts to goad him into action were futile. To all commands Adolph only croaked.

dropped dead of excitement as he watched the flames.

The great packing plants of Swift, Armour, Morris, Wilson were never endangered as the hot breeze fanned the fire eastward and away from the big processing houses, flanking the acres of open pens on the west.

These packers, little affected by the blaze, were operating today and even the banks that were reduced to ruins announced business as usual in temporary quarters.

Trading on the country's leading livestock exchange started a little late, but the morning arrivals of livestock were only slightly fewer than was anticipated in Saturday's official estimates. The estimated receipts of hogs, put at 29,000 in advance, were reduced to 26,000; cattle receipts dropped from an estimate of 15,000 to 12,000 and sheep—their pens untouched by fire—dropped from 14,000 to 5,000.

The Red Cross said it had treated 1,100 persons for injuries during the feverish battle to check the spread of the flames, but less than a dozen were hurt seriously. Chief enforcers were the cluster of buildings at the Halsted street entrance to the yards, including the old Livestock Inn, the Exchange building, the great exposition hall where annual livestock shows have attracted thousands, the Drovers Daily Journal building, the two banks and a number of shops, homes and tenement houses lying on the fringe just east of Halsted street.

The cause of the blaze was undetermined. Some investigators, including O. F. Henkle, general manager of the stock yards, said they were convinced the conflagration had its origin in a carelessly tossed cigarette.

Henkle said he did not believe

SALEM YOUTHS EDIT JOURNAL AT BEACH RESORT

Elton W. Little and Byron Little, who were former Salem boys and who doubtless will be Salem boys again, are respectively editor and associate editor of the Norfolk (Va.) Clarion, official publication of the federal transient bureau at that place. The boys were once carriers for the Capital Journal.

The paper is nine mimeographed pages of interesting matter, pertaining to the activities of the men in the bureau, and comments from them on many topics. Considerable space is given to general news, and one of the featured articles is the story of Mother's day. The paper is published bi-monthly.

A copy of the paper sent to the Capital Journal is accompanied by the following letter from Elton Little:

"I am herewith enclosing a copy of the first issue of a little publication of which I am the editor. "We thought perhaps you would be interested in receiving a copy, due to the fact we are both former Salem boys and a few years ago, were Capital Journal carriers. "We have been traveling all through the southern part of the United States during the past two years and have certainly acquired an added fund of knowledge and experience. We worked here in Norfolk all last summer and are back to go to work as soon as the season opens at the beaches. We were in the storm which practically destroyed Ocean View Park here last summer. The park is planning to start reconstruction operations some time this week and plans to re-open the Sunday before Decoration day. "People in this town are expecting a very busy season, due to the fact that both the Atlantic and Pacific fleets are on their way here. The merchants have certainly missed the dollars which the boys were in the habit of circulating among them before the fleet left two years ago. "My brother and I are both planning to return to Oregon this fall, and, if we are in financial position to do so, also plan to continue our education. As I am very much interested in writing and newspaper work, I plan to take up the study of journalism."

Darrow Report

Industrial codes by saying:

"All competition is savage, wolfish and relentless, and can be nothing else. One may as well dream of making war like as of making competition fair."

The socialistic alternative of government ownership was suggested in a supplementary report signed by Darrow, 77-year-old lawyer, and one other board member—William O. Thompson of Chicago, former law partner of Darrow. It said:

"The choice is between monopoly sustained by government, which is clearly the trend in the national recovery administration, and a planned economy, which demands socialized ownership and control. "The hope of the American people lies in the planned use of America's resources following socialization."

One member of the board dissented from the Darrow findings in a minority report. This member, John P. Sinclair, now resigned, denounced the conduct of the majority and labeled its findings as "at times misleading and unreliable."

Sinclair urged the president to appoint an "ably staffed, non-political board" to act for the protection of small, independent business which he deemed, in several respects, endangered under the NRA.

The NRA itself, in a reply to the review board which was made public simultaneously with the report, defended itself in language as plain as that of the Darrow document. The NRA administrator, General Johnson, said:

"A mere superficial intemperate and inaccurate document that the report I have never seen. Its arraignment of this board has missed a great opportunity for a real public service. As it is now acting it is of no service to anybody—it is a political sounding board. In view of its fixed prejudices and partiality and its unfair methods of taking and reporting testimony, the conclusion is inescapably that the board is not proceeding in good faith to fulfill its public obligations. "Its continuance as an agency of government would enable it to promote private purposes at the public expense, and in my judgment would impair seriously the usefulness of the national recovery administration. "The major Darrow report consisted of a brief synopsis and general statement of opinion ending in an assertion that NRA can't do the job assigned to it. "It contained also separate reports on the codes for steel, coal mining, rubber pictures, electrical manufacturing, dyestuffs and cleaning, rubber footwear, ice manufacturing and coal retailing. In more or less degree it denounced all but one as oppressive and productive of monopoly, and it proposed radical changes in most. The cleaning code was passed without recommendation on the feeling that "no appreciable results could be obtained by amending the code." "Further, the Darrow recommended the ouster of Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt from supervision of the movie code. "It urged the dismissal for alleged malfeasance and misfeasance in office of two divisional coal code authorities. "NRA's answer parodied the Dar-

Silverton — Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Longmeyer have 400 baby turkeys three weeks old and 200 more that are ready to hatch at their ranch west of Silverton. The Longmeyers keep the turkeys until they are six weeks old then they place them in charge of F. Doolittle on the well known Doolittle farm that supplies sufficient range until the birds are ready for market. Turkey raising is one of the principal industries in the hills around Silverton.

row report in size and structure. "The board took an report any testimony that would serve its prejudice without regard to the competence or bias of the witness or the fairness of the testimony. "The board is not proceeding in good faith to fulfill its public obligations. "Its continuance as an agency of government would enable it to promote private purposes at the public expense, and in my judgment would impair seriously the usefulness of the national recovery administration. "The major Darrow report consisted of a brief synopsis and general statement of opinion ending in an assertion that NRA can't do the job assigned to it. "It contained also separate reports on the codes for steel, coal mining, rubber pictures, electrical manufacturing, dyestuffs and cleaning, rubber footwear, ice manufacturing and coal retailing. In more or less degree it denounced all but one as oppressive and productive of monopoly, and it proposed radical changes in most. The cleaning code was passed without recommendation on the feeling that "no appreciable results could be obtained by amending the code." "Further, the Darrow recommended the ouster of Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt from supervision of the movie code. "It urged the dismissal for alleged malfeasance and misfeasance in office of two divisional coal code authorities. "NRA's answer parodied the Dar-
