The class of 1888, East Salem school, will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Sr., on Sunday. The commencement exercises of the class will be re-enacted. A basket luncheon will be served in the gardens. Mrs. Fry is the former teacher of the class. Many prominent out of town folk as well as Salem residents, alumni of the class, are expected to be in attendance.

Election of officers and naming of the meeting place of the next annual convention will close the sessions of the Western Plant Quarantine board here late today. Eleven states, British Columbia, Mexico and the Hawaiian Islands are represented at the meeting called to consider quarantine and plant pest problems. Several recommendations for state and national legislation for conformity in quarantine laws were expected to be acted upon during the afternoon session. Experts on different potato diseases and on weeds were heard during the morning.

The district boundary board today granted a petition from the Raybell school district in the north end of the county to allow them school money for the coming year. Last year there were more than six students at the school and the district was not entitled to school. It is expected there will be a number of additional students this fall, as the district is in a hop section and a number of extra families are there. Under the law it is necessary for the district to secure this permission before July 5.

Sale of one of the older sets of uniforms belonging to the drum corps of Capital Post No. 9, American Legion, to the Woodburn community band, was authorized Wednesday night by the executive committee of the post. The uniforms were worn when the corps won second place in national competition at the convention in San Antonio, Tex., in 1928. Included in the sale agreement is the provision that the Woodburn band take part in the Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the post. The uniforms have red cadet jackets with blue caps, blue military caps with gold braid and orange plumes. Trousers were worn out a long time ago as they were used in connection with other uniforms.

Reduction of the tax assessment by 50 per cent on their property was requested of the state tax commission today by officials of the Crystal Springs Water company, a cooperative firm furnishing water to 50 users in the upper Hood River valley. The assessment now is $30,000. Spokesmen for the group declared the company faced default of its bonds, and that considerable money was required for necessary improvements. The matter was taken under advisement.

In the latest list of Salem newcomers published by the Salem chamber of commerce appear the names of three families who are on the local realtor rolls, says Bob Boardman, Salem supervisor for the federal transient relief service. Letters are being received every week, Boardman says, from transient people in other states who want to come to Oregon. Invariably they are advised not to come, for the reason that their arrival simply means more names on the relief rolls here.

Winfield Needham, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Needham, a graduate of Salem high of this year and a member of the golf and swimming teams, plans to enter Stanford university next fall according to an announcement today from the office of Fred Wolf, principal. In addition to a list issued a week ago three students have announced their intention of entering Willamette university. They are Billy McReynolds, Carol Johnson and Maurice deVries. William Sexton who previously had announced his intention of entering O. S. C. states he plans to enter the University of Oregon next fall.

Memorial services for the late Will R. King, former justice of the state supreme court and one of the most prominent members of the Oregon Bar association, will be held Friday, June 22 at 7:45 p.m. in the Unitarian church under the auspices of the Jefferson club of Oregon. Chief Justice John Rand of the supreme court will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will include former schoolmates of Judge King. A male quartet will provide special music numbers while Rev. Guy Drille, pastor of the First Christian church will give the invocation.

Dr. W. J. Thompson, optometrist, leaves tonight as a delegate from the Oregon association to attend the National Optometric association convention which is to be held in Toronto, Canada during the first week in July. Dr. Thompson plans to see the century of Progress exposition and visit relatives in Canada following the convention.

Farewell services for Rev. Dean Vermillion, who has been associate pastor of the First Evangelical church of Salem and pastor of the Fruitland church for the past year, will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The Fruitland church has enjoyed a successful year, it is stated. Financial obligations were met in full while money was raised for building improvements. These include painting both inside and out, a new floor and platform, new porch and steps. There has also been a gain in membership. Rev. Vermillion will assume his new duties as pastor of the Dallas Evangelical church next Sunday, preaching sermons morning and evening.

The county clerk today called attention to the fact that there are still a number of warrants in his office unpaid on the high school tuition refund on the 1931 tax roll and claimants may have same by calling at the office and bringing their 1931 tax receipts. The refund applies only to taxes in non-high school districts. No fee will be charged, stated the clerk.

Bob Boardman, supervisor of transient relief for the Salem bureau at Hotel de Minto is issuing a call for contributions of magazines for the Molalla transient camp. They may be delivered to Salem police headquarters. Boardman says, and will be picked up there.

STEEVES ESTATE TAX $1845.35

State inheritance tax amounting to $1845.35 has been fixed on the estate of the late Dr. B. L. Steeves, in an order filed today, based on a taxable estate of $29,348.48. The total estate, including a certain trust for $39,266, is valued at $152,859 in the findings. The nature of the trust mentioned is not revealed and such trust has not been recorded. However, $49,509.93 is deducted for debts, claims and charges and a $10,000 exemption reduces the amount to that given.

The findings also reveal that the executor, Sarah H. Steeves, has compromised with the state treasurer on the valuation of the Miller building in Salem, a half interest in which is an important asset of the estate. The appraised valuation was $72,000, but under the compromise this valuation is raised to $82,000. The other half of the property is owned by W. W. Moore.

Provision is also made in the findings covering a contingency set up in the will of the deceased. This contingency is that in event the children and grandchildren were not surviving at the time of termination of the trust, one-half of the estate goes to Willamette university and one-half to the children of a brother of the deceased, Cory W. Steeves. It is provided in the findings in event such contingency comes about the trustee is authorized to pay the additional inheritance tax at that time.

MOSQUITOS BITE BLINDING NATIVES

Mexico City, June 21 (AP)—People of 35 villages in Oaxaca state were threatened with blindness today in disease spread by a swamp mosquito known scientifically as simuliids.

More than 1,000 persons were affected, dispatches said, and the national health department was appealed to for aid in preserving their sight.

GOLD HILL DISTRICT TO BE REFINANCED

Federal officials approved the Gold Hill irrigation district's contract with the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the issuance of refunding bonds. C. E. Stricklin, secretary of the state reclamation commission, was advised today.

Under the aid by the federal government, the bond and warrant indebtedness of the district will be retired on a basis of 51 per cent. The Gold Hill irrigation district is located in Jackson county and contains 1438 acres of irrigable lands.

Stricklin also received word today from C. H. Scott, president of the National Drainage Levee and Irrigation association, that President Roosevelt had signed the bill appropriating $75,000,000 to the reconstruction finance corporation to be loaned to drainage and irrigation districts for refinancing purposes.

This appropriation, with funds allocated last year will make a total of $125,000 available for the purpose. The State of Oregon already has received the approval of irrigation and drainage district loans amounting to $2,250,000.

The first over-night camping trip of the Chemeketas, local mountaineer organization, for the season will take place this coming week-end. The scene of the outing will be in the mountains about 12 miles northeast of Estacada. Cars will leave the Senator hotel at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, June 23, for Saturday afternoon, June 23, proceeding to Estacada. From that point signs will be followed to Shady Rest, a distance of about 62 miles from Salem. Sunday's hike will be to the summit of "Old Baldy," 4,284 feet above sea level. The trail winds up a "hogs back" through virgin timber for a distance of especially strenuous. If the day is clear an excellent view will be had of the country for several miles around.

Carl H. Hendricks, circuit judge of Wheeler county, today was signed by Chief Justice Rand to handle the case of Bach vs. Bach, divorce proceedings in Lakeview, in which several other judges, including Arthur Hay, were disqualified. H. K. Zimmerman of Clatsop county and Earl C. Latourette of Clackamas were transferred by the chief justice to try cases in each other's jurisdiction.

Clifford P. Simpson was released on his own recognizance Thursday after he had pleaded guilty in justice court to a charge of angling without a license. The case was continued to June 29 for sentence. But Campbell pleaded guilty to fishing with more than one line and will hear his sentence July 6. He also was released on his own recognizance.

MALONEY CLEARS TAX QUESTIONS

Portland, June 21—J. W. Maloney, collector of interior revenue, said today that a number of inquiries received by him indicated that many persons have the impression that certain taxes now imposed by the revenue act of 1932 will be repealed on June 30, 1934.

Collector Maloney stated that the revenue act of 1932 provided for the repeal on June 30, 1934, of a large number of manufacturer's excise taxes, together with the miscellaneous taxes on telephone and telegraph messages, electrical energy, and stamp taxes of various kinds, and the reduction of increased rates of tax on issues of bonds and shares of capital stock.

However, later legislation by congress advanced the effective expiration dates given in the revenue act of 1932 to June 30, 1935, with the exception of the taxes on passenger automobiles, trucks and automobile accessories, which expire July 31, 1935, and the tax on bank checks, which will expire on December 31, 1934. The only taxes which have been repealed by the revenue act of 1934 are the taxes on candy and soft drinks, which were repealed May 10, 1934, and the tax on the use of boats, which was repealed effective June 30, 1934.

Collector Maloney called particular attention to the fact that the tax on deeds of conveyance of real property is included among the taxes which will not expire until June 30, 1935.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO FORGING CHECKS

Alfred M. Ambrose, the only one of five men arrested by the police in the last two days on forgery charges, to enter a plea of guilty was to have a preliminary hearing in justice court at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Charles Cochran waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury, and Lloyd E. Wright, 16, was certified to the juvenile court. The bonds of Ambrose and Cochran were fixed at $750 each. Neither furnished the bond and they were held in jail.

Will Barlett and Jimmy Price, two other members of an alleged forgery gang, waived all preliminary hearing and took state prison sentences yesterday.

The complaint against Price was sworn to by E. H. Bingenheimer of Bing's Cash grocery, one of the places where he passed checks. Gordon McGilchrist, paint store operator, and the Table Spry grocery, when the police said Price passed other checks, made no complaint against Price.

A. E. Lebold, administrator of the estate of Glen Gard, has filed in justice court claims of three estate heirs to the estate, each asking a one-fourth interest. The administrator asks the court to pass on the claims and enter such decree as the court seems just. The heirs asking that their share be established are Nora E. Stallons, Mt. Carmel, Ill.; George A. Gard, Edna, Kansas, and Marie Leffert, National City, Calif.

Notification is being sent out by the county clerk's office on order of the county court to all receiving old age pensions and those on regular allowance from the county that they will be permitted to use the county portable canner, in having their products canned for their own use. Use of the canner is also extended to all persons on government relief here.

A fire scare resulted at the Smoke Shop on State street early Thursday when grease on the cooking range caught alight. The only damage was to food cooking on the range.

An ancient sword, badly rusted and minus its handle, was in the possession of Oscar Milligan, shoe man of 184 South Commercial street, today. The weapon was salvaged from a truck load of gravel by Milligan's boys, William and Edward, after it had been dumped on the construction project through West Salem. The gravel had been taken from the Willamette river upstream from West Salem. "The sword had no marks of any nature which might be used to identify its owner. Apparently it had lain in the river for many years.

The Fraternis club of Salem will be entertained tonight at the Silver Slipper in the basement of the Graybelle restaurant by Miss Fay Baker, fan dancer now appearing at the Grand theater. Mayor Douglas McKay, Justice J. O. Bailey and Councilman Walter Fuller are among the invited honorary guests expected to be present. This will be the farewell meeting of the Fraternis club for the season and due to the unusual entertainment that is being presented a full attendance is expected. The dinner hour has been set for 6 o'clock.

FAN DANCER TELLS OF NORTHERN WILDS

Marooned on Whiskey Jack Island in the wilds of northern Manitoba with the temperature 25 degrees below zero was a part of the experience encountered by Fay Baker, fan dancer, during an airplane trip to the Pin Fin mines last January. Miss Baker, who is appearing on a Salem stage recounted some of her experiences during this trip when she appeared before members of the Salem Lions club Thursday noon. Scheduled for an appearance at Pin Fin, Miss Baker and her pilot left Winnipeg the morning of January 2. Bad weather and minor mishaps delayed their arrival at the mining camp and it was Wednesday before they reached there.

On the return trip the motor went bad and a forced landing on Whiskey Jack Island resulted in a broken undercarriage to the plane. While the pilot was repairing the damage with board and fish net he and Miss Baker took refuge with an Armerian family living in a small hut. Six days elapsed before they finally managed to return to civilization.

SALEMITES INJURED IN PORTLAND CRASH

Portland, June 21 (AP)—Four persons were taken to hospitals here last night as the result of an automobile collision involving automobiles driven by David Halvorsen of Salem, and Clementine Elmer of Portland.

Halvorsen suffered rib and possible internal injuries. His passengers, George Miltonberger of Salem, Andrew Halvorsen of Salem, and Mary Todd of Vancouver received bruises for which hospital attention was needed.

The Halvorsen boys live at 1745 South Liberty street. Members of the family evidently had gone to Portland to see the injured boy since telephone calls to the home were unanswered. No information as to the condition of the injured party has been received here today. George Miltonberger is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Miltonberger, 930 Tamarack street. His father had gone to Portland today. Young Miltonberger was reported suffering from bruises and cuts.

BEND'S NEW JAIL STOLEN BY REDMOND

Bend, Ore., June 21 (AP)—Somebody stole Bend's new jail today. The structure, constructed of ponderosa pine as a preparation for the two day Fourth of July celebration here, was reported missing on the main street at Redmond, 18 miles from the city. A masked gang invaded the home early this morning, after falling in a raid earlier in the night, loaded the jail on a trailer and headed north.

Bend's Fourth of July committee still has a patrol wagon and a crew of tin starred cops to enforce the rule requiring whiskered chins until the Fourth, but without a jail the vigilantes are badly handicapped. Negotiations with Redmond for the return of the jail are reported under way.

E. Copples Rivas, representing President Cables of Mexico will be a guest of the Salem Ad club during their luncheon at the Graybelle Friday noon, according to announcement of Carl Ramseyer, club president. The club will also have as its guest Fay Baker, fan dancer, and the commissioner of agriculture from Idaho. The latter will be introduced by Max Gehlhar, who holds a similar position for Oregon. It is expected Miss Baker will tell of experiences last January when the airplane in which she was a passenger was forced down in the wilds of northern Manitoba. Six days elapsed before the whereabouts of Miss Baker could be learned.

The district boundary board today granted a petition from Bridge Creek property owners asking that they be allowed to conduct school in that district next year provided at the time of opening of school there are a sufficient number of children in the district. Last year Mollie Butler was hired as teacher but there was not a sufficient number of pupils and as a result after she held forth for a week in a pupils school a compromise was had on her salary and school dismissed. Three children have come into the district this summer, it is stated, and enough more are expected before fall to make up the requisite six.

Stanley Rayson, 25, who robbed a bank, escaped, was captured and sentenced to 30 years imprisonment, all within the space of 44 hours, was brought here from Roseburg last night, and today was "dressed in" at the penitentiary and assigned to duty in the flax plant. Rayson yesterday robbed the Oakland bank in Douglas county of $1900 and pleaded guilty when brought before Judge B. L. Eddy.

Steam Engine and Paddle Wheels for Aircraft Forecasted

Palo Alto, Calif., June 21 (AP)—Steam-powered aircraft, airplanes using "paddle-wheels" in place of wings and propellers, and simplified transport planes were described to advantages for military duty inasmuch as they would have no wings to obstruct the view or to interfere with machine guns. The cycloidal propeller is noiseless. There seems to be no reason why such aircraft cannot exceed the airplane in any maneuver now performed. The cycloidal propeller offers a means of over-coming most of the present difficulties encountered with lighter-than-air ships.

Kristen also estimated that landing and take-off hazards would be greatly reduced by use of "paddle-wheel" propellers, and that through use of reduction gears greater facility in high speed and high altitude flight would be obtained.

BEER PARLORS CODE OBJECTORS

More than 25 per cent of the restaurant owners in Oregon already have paid license fees under the recently adopted code. Director Max Gehlhar of the state department of agriculture said today. Gehlhar is code administrator.

He said this was an unusually prompt compliance with code requirements and indicated a general satisfaction with the terms of the recently adopted agreement. "Opposition to the code," Gehlhar said, "comes largely from the small beer parlors which are mixing food with their drinks and which resent any attempt at sanitary regulation. The legitimate restaurant men and hotel men, so far as I can determine, are almost 100 per cent back of the code. They realize the necessity for regulation and welcome it."

"The brewers and wholesale liquor dealers also are supporting the code and its requirements for sanitary regulation of all establishments serving food."

Dissatisfaction with the code on the part of some restaurant owners and hotel men was due to misunderstanding, according to Gehlhar. He pointed out that several delegations which had met to protest had become converted to support of the code once provisions were explained fully.

Tillamook Credit Reporting corporation has filed action in circuit court against A. C.
