

NOTED FIGURE OF RACING WORLD PASSES AWAY

Los Angeles, July 21 (AP)—William Hickman Pickens, whose promotional efforts sent a parade of famous figures from Henry Ford to Suzanne Lenglen across the international horizon for almost two score years, was dead today.

Blood poisoning, indirectly resulting from his last and perhaps financially most successful venture—the 500-mile road stock car race here last winter—took his life yesterday.

Pickens' name was associated with many of the pioneers of automobile racing, balloon flying, airplane stunting, foot races and professional football and tennis. He was born in Birmingham, Ala., 60 years ago.

In the late '90s he started promoting bicycle races after beginning his career as a competitor in the sport. By 1900 he had jumped to horseless carriages and soon became associated with a daring young "speed maniac," Henry Ford, whose famous motor buggy "899" spluttered and back-fired around many a fair grounds horse-racing track.

As the industry grew other famous pilots raced under his wing and passed on to undying fame, including Eddie Rickenbacker, Louis Chevrolet and Barney Oldfield.

Keeping ahead of the times—or a little ahead—Pickens turned to the air in 1907 by staging the first international Gordon Bennett race at Chicago. When asked years later how he made out financially Bill laughed and said: "Well, air, it was a great artistic success!"

Balloons and automobiles weren't fast enough, so three years later he stepped into aviation, sponsoring Lincoln Beachy, one of the great early pilots. He staged an airplane-automobile race and put on an air circus—one of his barns—which he billed as "three miles long and a mile high."

When the World War started in 1914, Pickens did much to make the United States government air conscious, staging a night "sham" raid on Washington, D. C., which had officials agog the next day when they found the city strewn with sand bags tagged thus: "This is what would happen if an enemy were to bomb Washington."

Soon thereafter the United States bought its first airplanes for defensive purposes, only to learn later that the rickety crates the fliers had used could not get off the ground burdened with the sand bags. Instead, Pickens had raved through the streets in the early hours of morning, hurling them from his automobile.

Pickens lost Beachy when the famous flier fell to his death while stunting over San Francisco bay in 1915. Soon, however, he dug up a young daredevil from Texas, Omar Locklear.

"Can you change from one plane to another in midair?" asked Bill. "Sure," said Locklear, so he did, and the world marveled.

Pickens promoted one of the first women fliers and is credited in some circles with starting the first air mail by having one of his barnstorming planes carry a mail pouch from one city to another.

New Zealander Wins Over Princeton Man

White City Stadium, Eng., July 21 (AP)—Jack Lovelock, great New Zealand mile runner, today defeated Bill Bronthon of Princeton, in the mile run climax of the annual international track meet between the combined crews of Oxford-Cambridge and Princeton-Cornell.

The Oxonian won by a yard in a thrilling race with Bronthon, who had chased him to the then record mile of 4:07.6 in the Princeton stadium last summer, a mark since erased by Glenn Cunningham's great 4:06.7 on the same track last month.

It was a stunning upset for the Americans who had been led to believe a knee operation last winter had robbed the New Zealand star of much of his speed. Bronthon only two weeks ago had established a new world mark of 3:48.8 for the 1500 meters and was thought to be at the top of his form.

SWIMMING FEAT BY HUG AND REED

Astoria, Ore., July 21 (AP)—Two swimmers yesterday successfully negotiated the seven miles of treacherous currents between Seaside and Tillamook Rock, the first time the feat has been accomplished.

Wallace Hug, Salem, and Jim Reed, Portland, formerly of Salem, life guards at Seaside and University of Oregon students, accompanied by Bill Hoopes of Seaside in a rowboat. The two made the trip without trouble. Landing amid the breakers at Tillamook Rock was the most hazardous part of the swim, but the lighthouse crew hoisted the boys successfully out of the rough sea in a basket.

Wallace Hug is a son of George Hug, retiring superintendent of Salem schools.

FAMOUS HOTEL IN HANDS OF JESUITS

Cincinnati, O. (AP)—The Society of Jesus, ancient order of Catholic churchmen, was identified with colonial history of the Americas, has purchased West Baden Springs hotel, situated on a 6000 acre estate in Orange county, Ind.

The famous middle-western spa will be opened in the autumn as West Baden College for higher education of Jesuit seminaries of the Chicago province, who are preparing for the priesthood.

Announcement of the plan was made here by the Very Rev. Charles H. Cloud, S.J., and the Rev. Hugo F. Stocemeyer, S.J., Xavier university, Cincinnati, a friend of Edward Ballard, West Baden, former owner of the watering place.

Ballard, a non-Catholic, donated the property outright to the Jesuits. It had been closed for a year. The new school will be affiliated with the large chain of secondary and major schools under direction of Father Cloud and will be operated in conjunction with Loyola university, Chicago.

SPORTSMEN FILE FORMAL REPORT

Praise for the work of Gene Simpson, superintendent of state game farms, and outspoken criticism of nepotism which allegedly exists in the state game commission was expressed today in a formal report of Willamette valley sportsmen.

A committee, appointed last Wednesday night by sportsmen of Marion, Benton, Polk and Linn counties, urged that nepotism in all its forms should at once be discontinued permanently.

At Wednesday's meeting 70 sportsmen declared that the commission was attempting to elevate Marion Corrigan, son of Matt Corrigan, commission chairman, to Simpson's post. Marion Corrigan is employed by the commission at the Eugene hatchery. Recently he was sent on a tour of northern California game farms.

"We deplore the present discord and partially shown in the management of the state game department and the apparent desire on the behalf of the commission to disregard the valuable services of Gene Simpson," the report concluded. Members of the committee making the report included Van Welder, chairman, John O. Humphrey and John H. Camp.

MISS SELLARS WINS WOMANS' GOLF TITLE

Portland, Ore., July 21 (AP)—The all-Oregon women's golf championship again rested with Miss Florence Sellars today.

The young Columbia country club star stopped the giant-killing onrush of Mrs. Z. H. Lane of Rose City golf club with a convincing 8 and 7 victory in the finals yesterday at Alder country club.

Miss Sellars was four up at the half-way mark. Mrs. Lane set a surprising pace to reach the finals of the tourney, numbering Mrs. B. E. Eva and Mrs. George James among her victims. But Miss Sellars, 1933 champion, proved too good for her.

RAUCH GIVES KEYNOTE TALK AT SILVERTON

Silverton, July 21—"We as citizens are Oregon's Recreational Opportunities" was the inspiring theme thought of George L. Rauch's well received talk at the banquet of the opening session of the state convention of the Izank Walton leagues of America Friday night at the Trinity church social rooms.

The well known attorney told how we could spiritualize our scenery opportunities, the glory of which we fail to appreciate because of being so familiar with them, and let the tourist know of the varieties of our best beauties at hand in the Oregon country. Rauch listed the recreational opportunities of the entire state. He suggested a tourist temporary license fee of $1 rather than the $28 privilege tax for the tourist to fish and hunt for a day or two. With 500,000 tourists in 1933, averaging nine and one-tenth days stay with an expenditure of $4 per day each, and compared the small sum of purchasing foreign license, he argued that we needed a less expensive inducement to trekkers to leave more money in our state. Mt. Hood travel was induced by proper exploitation and has paid well in return, he stated.

E. L. McDougal was toastmaster. The delegation sang "America. J. C. Hassenstab at the xylophone with Miss Anna Dreller accompanying, and John Overlund, baritone soloist, accompanied by Ernest Byberg at the piano, furnished the musical numbers. Mayor E. W. Garver welcomed the visiting delegation of around 125 members and John B. Ebinger of Tillamook, state president of the Izank Walton league of America, presided. Each guest present introduced himself to the banquet group.

The nine state directors as members of the executive committee held a session following the banquet to line up some necessary legislation for the three days of work and play.

Convention committee members who made their official reports at today's forenoon session at the armory included: finance, Ira F. Gable, Frank B. Wile and Stanley Jewett; credentials, W. C. Foster, T. E. Roberts and M. E. Corbett; resolutions, Judge Harry H. Belt, Arthur I. Moulton and Dr. P. A. Loo; constitution and by-laws, Chester E. McCarty, M. W. Skipworth and Ben F. Igo. A number of distant guests arrived by airplane in time for the banquet.

The public will be welcomed to the armory Saturday evening to attend a lecture by William L. Finley, at which movies of vital interest to all citizens of Oregon who love the out-doors will be shown and the accompanying talk one of unusual worth.

Auburn—Eugene Dell, of Cape Horn, Wash., is a visitor at the home of his great grandmother, Mrs. A. T. Gruber. With him is his grandmother, Mrs. Clara Strandberg of Hoquiam, Wash., who is a daughter of Mrs. Gruber.

Jefferson—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Powell and children of Port Orford, Wash., were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Powell. The two families spent several days at Yachats.

Crawford Team Off To Winning Start

Wimbledon, England, July 21 (AP)—Jack Crawford of Australia, No. 2 in world tennis rankings, today sent his team off to a winning start in the interstate final Davis cup tie with the United States by defeating Francis Xavier Shields, towering New Yorker, 6-1, 6-2, 12-10. Shields, his game hopelessly gone in the first two sets, fought furiously in the third, but finally bowing to the Australian ace. The result was along form lines as Crawford was an overwhelming favorite.

1 SIDED SCORES FEATURE WEIRD KITBALL GAMES

In one of the weirdest games on record in local kitball circles Pades kept themselves in the race last night by burying Waites Market under an avalanche of runs and winning by the phenomenal and overwhelming score of 23-4.

Kays retained second place in the league standings with another one-sided score of 12-2 over Master Bread.

The Pades-Waites contest was a farce from beginning to end, numerous misplays on the part of the Butchers making it more so. Frisco Edwards' boys at no time during the evening seemed able to hold on to the ball, 13 errors being charged up to them throughout the course of the contest.

Despite the mire of bobbles a goodly number of the Pades runs were well earned, as can be seen by the fact that the Grocers got to D'Arcy and King, Waites hurriers, for 15 safeties, including three hits each off the hidegens of Adolph, Kilchen, Clark and Salstrom, the former two smacking a double apiece. Bone, formerly leading the league in hitting, failed to register a single in six trips to the plate.

Sam Steinbock had allowed the Meatmen only one hit when he retired from the mound at the end of the sixth.

Master Bread was never a real threat to Kays, the Woolen Mill players taking an early lead and never relinquishing it.

Gilmore, tossing for Kays, had the Bakers well in hand all the way, although he eased up somewhat in the later innings.

Bill Ashby was the leading hitter for the Breadmen, getting a triple and two singles, while Flinger and Segan were the top-notch clouters for the visitors, the former smacking a home run in the fifth and the latter connecting for a double and two one-base blows.

The scores: Kays 12 10 1 Master Bread 2 8 8 Batteries: Gilmore and Banes; D'Arcy, King and C. Kelly; Waites 4 4 13 Pades 23 15 3 Batteries: Walker, Cannon and Harp; Steinbock, Bone and Schueler.

GAME FORFEITED

When the Eagles softball team of the Junior Industrial league failed to show up last night it forfeited the game to the State Street Grocers by a 7 to 0 score. No other games were scheduled in the playground leagues.

EXTRA-INNING GAME WON BY WHITE SOX, 7-6

New York, July 21 (AP)—The White Sox whipped the Yanks yesterday in 13 innings, 7-6, Luke Appling driving Conlan home with the winning run after the Yanks had tied the score in the ninth.

Jimmy Foxx drove out his 29th home run, taking the major league lead from his team mate, Bob Johnson, and defeated the leading Detroit Tigers for the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-4. The Tigers will hold the league lead with a two-game edge.

St. Louis beat Washington for the second straight, 7-4. Cleveland made it two straight over the Red Sox, 5-3.

Cincinnati took an early lead, but the Glans slashed the redlegs for seven hits and seven runs, winning 11-5.

The St. Louis Cards won behind Tex Carleton's great pitching, beating Boston, 5-1. The first 20 Braves to face Carleton were retired without a hit, then Wally Berger leaped into one for a homer.

Brooklyn and Pittsburgh will play off their game later.

Chicago at Philadelphia was rained out.

MARYSVILLE BOY CASTING CHAMP

Portland July 21 (AP)—Albert Powell, a 21 year old youth from Marysville, Calif., participating in his first championship tournament, won the first two events in the casting tournament of the Western Association of Scientific Angling clubs at Sellwood park here Friday.

The youngster won the five-ounce plug casting distance contest with an average cast of 250 feet three inches, and the distance fly casting event with an average of 118 feet four inches.

Ralph Lytaker of Seattle finished second in the plug contest with an average 20 feet shorter than Powell's. He was also third in the fly distance cast, with Marvin K. Hedge of Portland second.

Mike Butler, track coach and trainer at University of Detroit finished seventh in the fly casting contest with an average distance of 100 feet three inches.

When the Eagles softball team of the Junior Industrial league failed to show up last night it forfeited the game to the State Street Grocers by a 7 to 0 score. No other games were scheduled in the playground leagues.
