Woodburn Parish Church Dedication Will Be Event With Masses and Program

Woodburn—Plans have been completed for the dedication of St. Luke's new Catholic church which will take place Sunday, September 23. Father Phillip of Mt. Angel will conduct masses at 7 and 8 o'clock Sunday morning, and at 10:30 o'clock Archbishop Howard will give the church his official blessing and deliver a sermon. Father Rubis, pastor of the local parish, by whose untiring efforts the new church was built, will conduct high mass and Archbishop Howard will pronounce the benediction. A number of visiting priests will be present in the ceremony and the men's choir will have charge of the music.

A big public dinner will be given at 12:30 o'clock by the women of the parish. If the weather is good the dinner will be given under the trees on the lawn of St. Benedict's school. In case of rain it will be served in St. Luke's hall. A special attraction during the dinner hour will be a quartet of entertainers, led by Jean Anthony of Portland. Work on the new church was begun April 16, 1933 and the cornerstone was laid July 2 of that year. The first mass was held on Christmas day, 1933. The church has been completed for many months except for a few minor details.

Following the service Sunday Father Phillip will have charge of the parish for three weeks while Father Rubis will take a trip to Spencer, Iowa to visit his mother. After this Sunday the time of the regular masses will be changed from 7 and 8 o'clock to 8 and 10 o'clock each Sunday morning during the winter months.

these chemical reactions is discovered, humanity will be a long way along toward solving the crime problem, Dean R. R. Howitt spoke before the social psychology section of the Salem Arts league Thursday night in the auditorium of the Salem public library.

He asserted that the average person never tells the truth; not that he believes what he wants to believe. He illustrated the vagaries of memory by citing certain motor accident cases. In this respect, he declared that clients never tell the truth to their attorneys, nor do patients give full confidence to their physicians.

Crime and crime detection are closely related to nervous reactions and changing emotional states, he said. Persons aroused to high excitement by alleged danger to the state really are excited because changes affect their personal affairs and private business, he declared. Although it was first believed that the brain was a gland for lubricating the eyes, he said nerve energy or brain energy was really a chemical change, and that mind was a function of the brain.

The social psychology section will hold its next session in the auditorium of the Salem public library the first Thursday night in October.

Mill City—Mrs. G. D. Jenkins and son Don returned to Mill City Sunday from hop fields near Independence where they have been working. Don entered his second year at Mill City high school Monday morning.

SCHEDULES CHANGED BY TYPING DEMANDS

Woodburn—Re-arrangement of the schedules of both faculty and students has been necessary at the high school here, as the demand for first year typing has been so great as to necessitate discontinuing the class in expression and substituting another typing class. This makes three classes in first year typing, with a total of 67 students taking the course. There are only 14 names registered for second year typing.

Coach Gilbert Oddie has been looking over his football prospects for the coming season. About 20 boys turned out for practice, although more are expected next week when the canners will close and hop picking will be finished. Halter, Jackson, Sinram and Larson, seniors on last year's first string, and E. Baldwin are assisting the coach in drilling the green hands.

Most people fail to tell the truth. Asserting that emotions are the result of chemical reactions, and that when the force that causes

HUBBARD FINDS NEW RESIDENTS

Hubbard—Hubbard boasts of a greatly increased population almost over night. It is estimated that approximately 200 were added since last Monday morning when unusual activity was first reported at the Southern Pacific depot. By Wednesday noon there was a variegated mass of cars lined up parallel with the business houses of Main street, from one end of town to the other with the depot as the central point.

It is like a small village now. There are all sorts of cars; fiat cars discarded dining cars, tourist cars and baggage cars, all strung together regardless of type or destination. Some of the cars boast neat lace window curtains, some have blooming flowers in painted flower pots; others are plain utility cars. These structures house the men and their wives and children. It is reported that the steel rails need replacing in spots north and south of Hubbard and that the workers and their families will be here for some time.

The long row of cars facing Main street do leave a homey look. Children are playing about, men are carrying pails of water to the places where cooling is going on. There is the smell of garlic, red pepper and meat in the air. Lines have been strung across the commons, washes are drying, winter bedding and clothing is being aired. Here and there a dog jumps about barking with that possessive air of guarding his master's estate. Even automobiles are parked in the shade of the trees or under brown canvas and small buildings, two of them for too small to house automobiles, grace the greensward.

LODGE WORK RESUMED—Scioto—The Scioto Masonic lodge resumed its regular communications Thursday night after the customary suspension during the summer. Scotts Mills—Miss Ruth Boyce of McMinnville and Miss Ethelene Root of Newberg, teacher of the local school, are boarding with Mrs. S. P. Moborg this term. Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan, intermediate and high school teachers, are rooming at the A. J. Etlin home.

"Over Fish Ranch Grade in HIGH and I was convinced!"

(From letter in Shell Oil Company files at San Francisco)

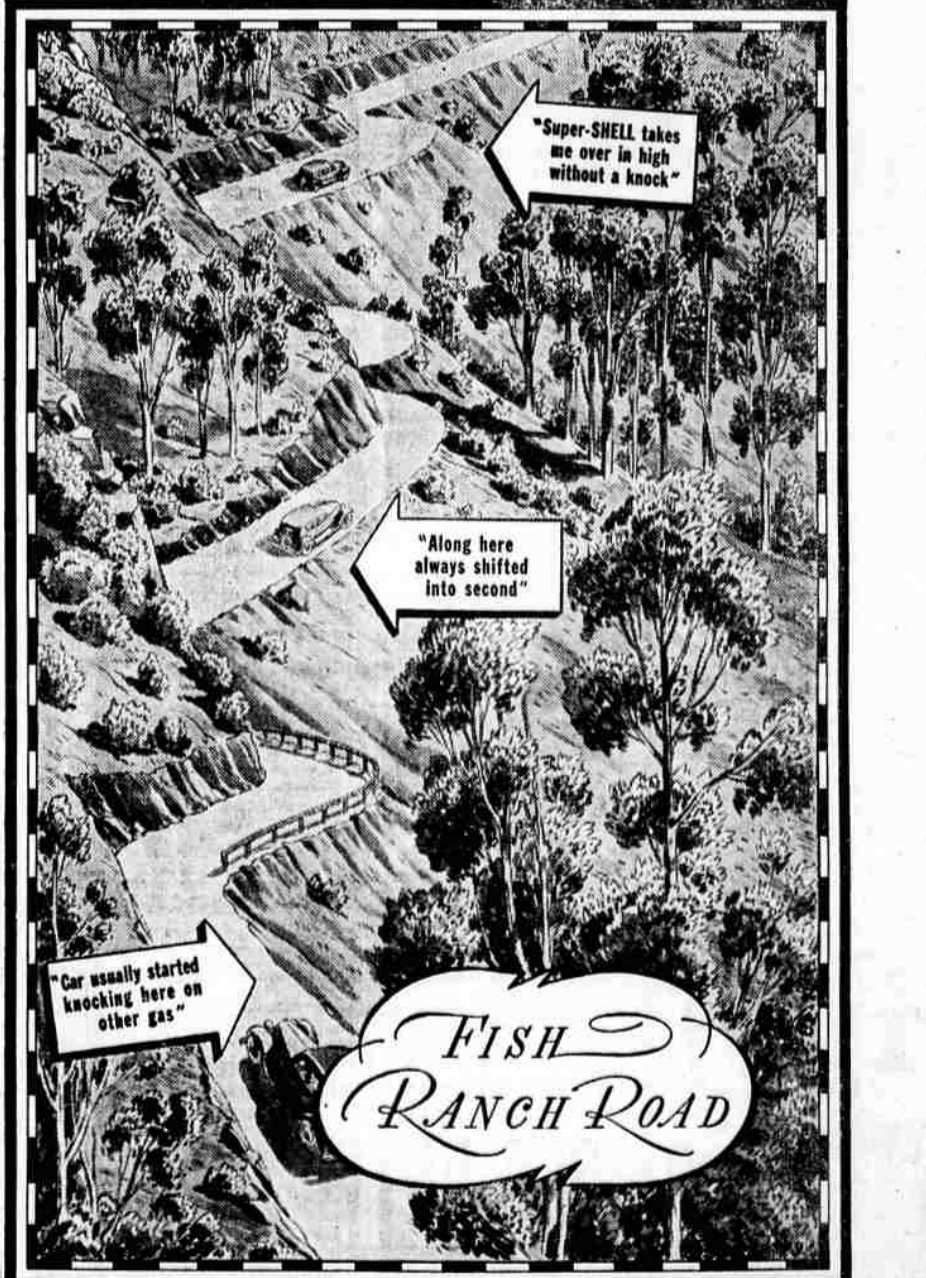

"My car used to get to that first steep part, then...ping...ping...ping. No matter what gas I used (other than premium Ethyl) I'd have to shift. I don't know why your gasoline should be so different, but using it yesterday there wasn't a sign of a knock. And I went the full 2 1/2 miles to the top in high."

Now can one gasoline be so different from another? Here's why:

Any petroleum engineer will tell you that no two gasolines are exactly alike. Power, anti-knock, quick-starting, and other fractions can be blended in all sorts of proportions. And crudes vary. As do refining methods.

Super-SHELL differs from other fuels largely because of the way it is concentrated. Low-powered gassy "tops" and sluggish "bottoms" are removed. Only the heart cut of petroleum comes to you. No waste parts. The result is—Super-SHELL positively reduces at least ten little wastes that ordinary gasolines cause.

Fill up with Super-SHELL today. You may not notice so much difference in average driving—but when you need an extra ounce of power—you'll feel it. And by all means check your Super-SHELL mileage!

"Super-SHELL takes me over in high without a knock"

"Along here always shifted into second"

"Car usually started knocking here on other gas"
