

CHURCH SOCIAL AFFAIR BRINGS OUT BIG CROWD

Woodburn—About 100 people were present at the pot-luck supper which was given Friday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church for members of the church and their families and friends. Following the supper a splendid program was enjoyed which was arranged by J. D. Woodfin, musical numbers included selections by the choir, Mrs. Paul Denton, Misses Joyce and Helen Woodfin; a group of old-fashioned vocal solos by Mrs. J. Melvin Ringo; two piano solos by Donna Dean and several violin solos by Rev. Erwin Ranion of Willamette, who also performed a number of stunts with his violin which were amusing and entertaining.

A. E. Leary gave a talk on James Whitcomb Riley, his boyhood friend, relating many incidents of Riley's boyhood days. Mrs. P. Malcolm Hammond gave an enlightening talk on "Reflections of a Minister's Wife."

The early program of the church was presented. Mrs. S. E. Brune presented the work of the Women's Sunday school class; Mrs. F. W. Settemier presented the Women's Federation work; S. E. Brune presented the music of the church, J. D. Woodfin the weekly bulletin, Mrs. Hammond the work of the children's department and A. E. Leary the church finances. The pastor, Rev. P. Malcolm Hammond, gave a resume of the several subjects presented, and gave a general invitation to those who wished to participate in the different activities.

These social get-together meetings will be continued through the winter and will be held on the second Tuesday evening of every month.

BUSINESS BOOM HITS SILVERTON

Silverton—From the activity in the downtown section of Silverton, indications are that business is very much better.

John Merrifield is opening his cigar, confection and beer parlors in a few days. He is located in the Heemer block next door to Hascall's Melody Shoppe, another new sheet music store and all kinds of musical instruments and teaching piano, band and orchestra.

The Moffett and Shantz theatre promises to be open to the public not later than October 15 with the owners of the building, the Cooleys, making improvements in remodeling and painting the building that was formerly the Gem theatre, but has been out of use for a number of years.

The biggest undertaking and one that will require from five to six months, is the proposed plans of remodeling the Palace theatre building in the Adams block, with Alfred Adams deciding to replace the present building with a modern, reinforced concrete structure. He plans to remake the present location of the "Palace" into a lobby and entrance to the theatre and rebuild the interior theatre space. New sound equipment has already been added.

Martin Pledges Self To Maintain Law And Order As Governor

Dallas, Oct. 1.—(Special)—A declaration that law and order must be preserved and that, if elected, he will use the full force authority of the governor to see that it is maintained.

These are the words of Charles E. Martin, candidate for governor, before a group of several hundred people here Saturday night.

Recognizing the right of labor to organize for protection against unfair exploitation, recognizing its right to collective bargaining and to the right of peaceful picketing, Congressman Martin said that unbridled mob violence must be curbed and life and property protected. He pledged his earnest endeavor to secure the enactment of legislation to settle labor difficulties peacefully without the waste attendant upon extended strikes, walkouts and lockouts.

The text of his address was as follows:

Under a president and national administration planning human rights before selfish property rights and men above dollars, we have in the past 20 months traveled a long way along the road to economic recovery. Out of the depths of economic chaos in which we were engulfed two years ago, we have climbed to the brink of the abyss and are setting our feet forward upon the widening plateau of returning prosperity. It has been my privilege to have a part in the president's program looking toward national recovery. I have been favored with an opportunity to serve my people, my state, and my country in the formation and enactment and in the administration of a far-reaching program of economic and social rehabilitation. In this, I have enjoyed the confidence of the president and have given him a full measure of support. At the instance of hundreds of friends, I have relinquished by place in the national congress and in the work it is doing to set the nation at rights and am turning my attention and my efforts to the problem of my home state.

"The prosperity, happiness and well-being of the nation depends primarily upon the prosperity, happiness and the well-being of the individual states. The states must be the foundation of the structure. It is fitting that Oregon, which has pioneered in so many government reforms, should lead the way in this renovation of our economic, political and social structure. In its march toward business recovery, both agricultural and industrial, the nation has been hampered seriously by industrial controversies and disputes. These controversies have in many instances been attended by costly and wasteful walkouts, strikes and lockouts. The result of these enforced suspensions in the orderly progression of the nation's business have been a loss to both employers and employees of millions upon millions of dollars. Their efforts have been far reaching, touching in some way or another, every individual citizen.

"Movement of the products of factory, field, mill and orchard, to market, has been seriously hampered, and in some instances, completely paralyzed for extended periods of time. Millions of innocent workers have been forced out of employment in controversies in which they were not directly concerned and deprived of their means of livelihood. Property damage resulting from uncontrolled mob violence has added more millions to the consequent losses.

"Recognizing fully the right of labor to organize for protection against exploitation; recognizing its right to collective bargaining; recognizing its right to strike to enforce its just demands; and recognizing its right to peaceful picketing, it is inconceivable in this enlightened age, that some system cannot be devised for the settlement of disputes between employer and employee without the appalling waste in loss to both through enforced interruptions in the normal course of business.

"Economic disturbances of this kind when injected into any program of reconstruction, seriously impede the success prosecution of that program. As governor, I will make a determined and insistent effort to secure enactment of such legislation as is necessary to eliminate these wasteful practices thru equitable and peaceful arbitration and at the same time prepare to labor its right to prospective measures.

"By the same token I pledge to the people of Oregon an earnest endeavor to maintain the peace, and protect life and property. To that end I will enforce the full authority of the office of governor, demanding of all persons the same respect for the constitution and laws of the state and nation, and the preservation of law and order.

"Insidious propagandists seeking to overthrow our government and to wreck our social and economic structure, have long taken advantage of labor disturbances to further their own treacherous schemes. Their weapon is violence; their tactics

The upper floor contains three large bedrooms, sleeping porch, a large bath room with built-in linen closets and built-in dressing table and a large moth-proof cedar lined closet. Also large closets in each bedroom.

The buildings are the last word in modern equipment. In the kitchen a double porcelain sink occupies the center of the west wall and one each side of this built-in cupboards extend the length of the wall with a top of Hermosa tile at convenient height for working. The houses are 30x33 feet in size with full basement of cement equipped with furnace heat and there is also an attic over the entire upper story.

J. W. Kochler, contractor of Canby is in charge of the work. One of the houses will be completed and ready for occupancy in about two weeks and the other one about a month later.

SUNBEAM THIMBLE CLUB MAKES PLANS

Monmouth—The year's work and program were discussed and planned for at the meeting of the Sunbeam Thimble club Wednesday afternoon. The meeting, which opened the fall sessions was held at the home of Mrs. H. Sharrow, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Alfred T. Albert.

The bazzar sponsored by the club to be held about December 1 was the main topic of discussion and Mrs. C. W. Price was directed to take charge of the grab bag which will be one feature of the fair. Mrs. W. L. Mason, head of the finance committee was appointed to arrange for a place in which to hold the event and to work out other details. Additional plans are to be made at future meetings.

Present Wednesday were Mrs. John Scott, Mrs. Frank Murdoch, Mrs. C. C. Yeater, Mrs. Ray Derby, Mrs. Guy Deming, Mrs. E. Hamar, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Mason and the hostesses, Mrs. Sharrow and Mrs. Albert.
