BUS LINE SUES TO EVADE ORDER

The National Bus Lines, Los Angeles, today filed in Marion county circuit court a bill of complaint against Public Utilities Commissioner Charles M. Thomas asking annulment of his order revoking their permit to operate an inter-state passenger service through Oregon.

Court hearing was set for 3 o'clock this afternoon, at which time the bus company was to seek a temporary injunction against the public utilities commissioner, which, if granted, would restrain him against enforcement of his edict.

The case grew out of an order by Thomas Thursday setting aside a permit granted in August to the National Bus Lines allowing them to operate through this state. His order followed a hearing in which several competing bus lines protested the National Bus Lines were operating in violation of the motor bus code authority.

NORMAL SCHOOL LOAN APPROVED

Final approval and signatures were obtained today for the construction of the federal government school for the Eastern Oregon Normal at La Grande, at a cost of $130,000.

Members of the board of control approved the changes in the original agreements, which provides that the funds would be deposited with the state treasurer instead of private institutions during construction of the building. Only approval by the federal government of the Union county bonds to be issued in payment of its share of the financing remains before bids for construction will be called.

Attorney Estes Sneadecor of Portland, brought the corrected contract agreements here for final disposition today. Under the contract the federal government has agreed to pay $80,000, less one-third grant, and the state of Oregon $50,000, less the one-third grant.

The state appropriated its share in 1931, and will pay the two-thirds outright and will be relieved of $14,500 as grant, which money will be returned to the general fund.

The federal government has also agreed to take Union county's share in bonds.

Fred E. Kiddle of Union county was given the honor today of signing his name as governor for the La Grande project.

BOY SCOUTS TO PICK UP TOYS

As has been the custom for several years, Salem firemen will renovate toys for needy children in the next few weeks before Christmas and starting early next Saturday morning the Salem Boy Scouts will start on a drive to gather up all broken toys in the city.

All Salem housewives are asked to gather up old toys and dolls during the week so that they will be in readiness when the scouts call Saturday. After the toys are repaired by the firemen they are given to the Elks, who in turn present them to the needy children of the city as Christmas gifts.

Minuses have been wrought in the past years by old toys by local firemen. New doll heads are added to good bodies . . . wheels put on broken wagons . . . indeed, the fire department is almost Santa Claus' headquarters in Salem, so all citizens are asked to do their part and assist in the work.

THREE INJURED IN BACKHILLS FEUD

Newport, Ore., Nov. 26 (P)—Four persons, three of them wounded, were held for questioning here today by state and county police in an outbreak of a hill country feud in the Big Elk country.

Sibert Boyd, 35, and his wife were treated for bullet wounds. George Hodges, 42, was suffering from head injuries. His wife, the fourth person in the quarrel, was unhurt in the Sunday morning altercation.

Harry Price, state policeman, said the Hodges, apparently, resented the intrusion of newcomers to the hills of the Big Elk country in which they had lived for many years. The Boyds came to this part of the country recently.

Police said that when the two couples met in front of the Boyd cabin yesterday the Boyds were ordered to get out. Mrs. Hodges is said to have fired six shots. Boyd was struck in the arm by a bullet and Mrs. Boyd was shot in both legs. Officers said Boyd then tore the rifle from Mrs. Hodges' hands and struck Hodges in the face.

LOAN INSURANCE CERTIFICATE HERE

Certificate 228 bearing the date of November 29 was received Monday by A. A. Lee, secretary, for the National Federal Savings and Loan association. Contract of insurance has also been received from the federal housing administration.

Savings invested in shares of the association are now insured by the government and each investor is now fully protected against loss up to $5000, according to Lee. The federal savings and loan insurance corporation was created by congress last June to afford protection and investors and home-financing institutions under a different method than that followed by the federal deposit insurance corporation, organized in 1933, in insuring depositors in commercial banks. The former operates in the long-term field to insure safety of capital invested.

The purpose of congress in providing for federally chartered institutions was to make credit available at lower cost for home construction, refinancing and modernization in parts of the country where such funds were inadequate.

Tax Valuation

The loss in the valuation of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company was due chiefly to the recent reduction in its value for rate-making purposes by the public utilities commissioner. This was assessed by the tax commission at about $300,000, an increase of 50 per cent over the new rate fixed by the utilities commissioner from which the company has appealed to the courts. Future tax valuations of this firm are to a certain extent tied up in the outcome of the appeal.

Slight losses were registered by the water and gas companies, but assessments of the power companies were held at the same level as the local roads, although showing decreased earnings, the tax experts stated. Full value assessment of all utilities for the year was set at $298,629,912.

Utility property, the commission stated, constituted 10.92 per cent of the property roll in 1929, now constitutes 17.77 per cent, due to increases in utility valuations. Real property assessments increased one and one-half per cent while personal property assessments declined about 30 per cent during the same period.

Increases in local assessments were made in but seven of the 39 counties, the largest being Malheur with 1.85 per cent, Harney second with 1.61 and Coos third with 1.41 per cent. Slight increases were made in Douglas, Jefferson, Lincoln and Wasco.

The largest decreases in the other 29 were in Willamette county which was 7.8 per cent lower, with others ranging down to .91 per cent in Curry county. Tillamook was decreased 4.31, and Columbia 4.72 for second and third positions.

Other decreases in counties included Marion 4.29, Lane 3.05, Baker 2.48, Klamath 1.90, Union 1.44, Josephine 1.38, Benton 1.30, Umatilla .25 and Multnomah .24 per cent.

The assessment of taxable land decreased $3,500,000 or 39 cents per acre. Non-taxable lands decreased $300,000 or 5 cents an acre.

City taxes decreased $1,500,000 while improvements on lots decreased $2,300,000. Merchandise and farm implements showed small gains, as did horses, mules, and sheep, while cattle and swine showed small decreases. The number of dogs dropped one-half.

The request for issuance of the $67,000, with possibility of a total of $200,000 for care of all counties, over the already approved action of providing $250,000 of the funds to match federal relief money for employables now out of work, was the move specifically requested by the Multnomah officials. The additional issuance, it was emphasized, would not affect the present relief program setup.

Gandy explained that other counties likewise may make similar requests for aid as their county budgets for indigents are nearing exhaustion. He stated Douglas county was the only other one which has made such a request to date.

The legal authority was questioned by State Treasurer Rufus G. Holman. George Pipes, deputy district attorney of Multnomah, stated the law provides for such action. The board however will obtain an opinion from the attorney general. There was some question reported that funds for county indigent and old age pensions could not be provided from the liquor profits until after the appropriated $3,000,000 of this money has been spent for regular relief to employables who are destitute.

In making his request, Chairman Shull stated Multnomah county had appropriated $136,000 for the indigents for 1934, but that this fund was exhausted before the end of October. The welfare board in Portland now is issuing certificates on merchants so the relief could continue, but that no funds are as yet back of these certificates.

"The relief work for indigents cannot stop," Shull declared, "and Multnomah county cannot raise any more money. The city of Portland is already taking care of the unemployable single men to the extent of $40,000 a year."

The county has about 1600 to 2000 families on the indigent relief, C. A. Bigelow stated. In addition, the county has about 1900 on the old age pension list. It is paying on each eligible under the old age pensions and about $16 a month per family under the indigent fund. The lists however do not overlap. The county appropriated $300,000 for pensions next year.

The county has budgeted $140,000 for indigents for 1935, but will have to seek additional relief next year from the state legislature. Shull pointed out, "It is a real problem," Shull said, "but these people must be taken care of, and county lines should not be drawn."

Holman declared he would favor some immediate relief for the county if a legal method could be devised. Kiddle and Secretary of State P. J. Stadelman, however, stated they wished to study the matter further and asked a delay of several days before taking action. Considering the request, it was pointed out that the conditions in Multnomah county this winter were slightly worse than last year. Some legislative action to take care of relief in Multnomah as well as other counties would be imperative, the commissioners declared.

It was emphasized that federal relief funds are for employable persons now destitute and does not cover the indigents or unemployables. State relief funds to match federal funds come under the same classifications. Gandy declared the present relief program would not be altered by this demand. The entire board of county commissioners were present to make the request.

New Oil Drill May Revolutionize All

Beaumont, Tex. (P)—A new collapsible drill bit, an invention calculated to revolutionize the drilling industry, was to be manufactured here soon.

The bit, invented by L. P. Kinneer and C. W. Kinneer, both practical drillers, and two of the pioneer drillers of the vast South American oil fields, would be used in rotary drilling. The tool was the result of eight years' work.

The outstanding feature of the new tool, according to the inventors, is in the ability of drillers to maintain rotation of the drill pipe and circulation of drilling fluid while changing the bit. Any desired pressure may be held on the walls of the well during this operation, the men said.
