larıan Gordon ludith by JEANNE BOWMAN fears which arose like a nost about her. "Tell you what Ian, you come in on the five forty-five and we'll have dinner together, then I'll take you it a theater and call for you." Marian heattated a moment. She foit that after his vigil of the night before he was going to someone, either for advice, or with his decl-sion.

Bynopals: Marian Casad's husband, on, is worried almost beyond endur-nes. His boss, the crocket contract ad which he asys Lon has also ad which he asys Lon has also ad which he asys Lon has also the first for use it to force his cm-ligh school McSwahl's firm is build-its a henool McSwahl's firm is build-the only man who can furniah the 't alse must find Max Hamilo, who 't she must find Max Hamilo, who 't she must find Max Hamilo, who 't can he strated a moment. She foit that after his vigil of the night 'dence necessary to control McSwahl

Chapter 41 MESSAGE FROM KING

The district attorney had said he believed McSwain would force Lon to bear the responsibility of the high to bear the responsibility of the high school. Perhaps Lon was realizing fins; perhaps this was what was worrying him. Marian wondered if he would have to choose between Mc-Swain'. orders and prosecution . . . persecution.

Choosing wouldn't be an easy matter for he would have her to consider.

She must hurry her counter at-tack. King should have an answer to her query before very long. Lon stirred, awakened and Marian thought she detected a new attitude as he arose and prepared for the day. It was as though he had made a decision that night and his mind was at rest. "Ian," he said at breakfast, "I'm going to be late again tonight, only, and he gave a wry smile, "I won't be out with the boys."

"Oh, Lon," she couldn't help the

MANY VISITORS By Mary Graham Bonner "Sania muant' be interrepited," shouted Willy Nilly. "He picked out Puddle Muddle because he thought li was far enough away from places so that he could work here, and yet near enough so he could go any-where he wanted in double-quick time."

Where he where in constructions, time," Santa Claus was putting on the roof of the building and couldn't hear Willy Nilly, but he could hear all the voices and he called down from his ladder: "Wore you expecting guests?" "No," Willy Nilly called back, and I'll tell anyone who comes here that we're busy with secrets--" But Willy Nilly did not have a chance to finish his sentence before the air was filled with birds, and mauve.

Jumping from tree to tree were any number of squirrels. "Oh," said Santa Claus, "I don't mind having the birds watch me at my work. I simply didn't want the children to know my secreta, and all I was doing, until Christmas day." "Twit, twit, chirp, chirp," sang the birds. "We followed your sleigh and we've come to sing to you while you work. You've always been too far north for us before. And, if we're very good, could we make little stockings out of some of our feathers and hang them on the twigs for you to fill, Santa. "And," chattered the squirrels,

"And," chattered the squirrels, their eyes as bright as could be, "if we ran errands for you and were very, very good and didn't seeld or gossip or anything do you suppose we could have a Christmas treat, too?" arose, Is McSwain in town again?" she asked. She remembered Lon having said he had returned to the northern part of the state where he was bid-and of the state white he was bid-ding on a building. "He comes in on Sundays." Lon said. "He scale word today that he wante me there for a conference." 'But that won't take long." Mar-Tomorrow: "A Terrible Moment." Wante me ACROSS with a purpose"

"You sould, you all could!" shouted Santa Claus. "There's going to be Christmas for everyone."

an interposed. "No, but he also left word that I was to come prepared to stay for "Oh." A monosyllable answer, It

"Oh." A monosyllable answer. It sounded stupid. She felt stupid, but after having promised to trust him. "Will you be too lonesome here?" he asked. "Why don't you telephone your folks and have them drive down, or you might take me over, then drive up and see them." "No," she answered, "I'd rather he here ... right here on the spot. I'll read and then there's the radio." But she didn't read and she didn't But she didn't read and she didn't even look towards the radio. The day was warm and clear and she worked in the part of the garden from which she might hear a tele-phone, and when she could find nothing else to do, followed Lon's newly formed habit of pacing up and down the path which led to the hill top. Inaction, she decided was more trying than actual suffering. To be forece to wait while unseen forces reemed to be gathering about her was the most nerve wracking ordeal she had ever faced. "Here I sit while he goes putting his head into a noose," she thought once. Not that she was sitting, or felt se would ever sit peacefully again. ven look towards the radio. The ston. "Lon," she said, "you don't want me to go with you, or know where you are going . . . no, don't misun-derstand, I don't need to know . . .

but, would you want anyone else to follow you?" "2 don't know what you mean." "4 mean this, and don't laugh or be bitter. This house is being watch-ed and I am being trailed. Wherever

I go, one of McSwain's Kanaka boys follows." "Ian!" He was shocked, she saw

"Inn!" He was shocked, she saw that, but she saw something deeper. "He belleved her. "Is he "That's why I didn't want nis gardener here. That is why I keep Waki here. He understands and will protect me." Hero a few momenis. Hero coming Marian saw the steeline of the series it bo

Hero gave a short bark. Someone

Frotext me." He was silent a few momenta. Marian saw the steeling of the grin lines about his mouth, then he come out and stay with you?" "No, this is the Steeles' Saturday night or. duty. Tm not afraid. Hero will give the alarm; I have my re-volve; and as I said, I know how to une th." "Maybe we'd better take an aparta-ment in town," he said in a worried yoice. "No, Td rather not leave here." Hero gave a short bark. Someone coming. She raced to the top of the coming. She raced to the top of the the ping to make the grade. Ya-ing to make the grade. Ya-his face was beaming when he ar-tor to call, he explained, May Marian conducted them inside and Marian conducted them inside and and the substruction of the the substruction is face was beaming when he ar-the inside of the house. Marian conducted them inside and and the substruction of the substruction of the substruction the inside of the house. Marian conducted them inside and voice. "No, I'd rather not leave here." She didn't say she considered it in-advisable to frighten McSwain into action before she had the evidence she needed. "There's really no dan-out aside from heritage or danger, aside from having someone know every step I take." know every step I take." "I won't be out late," he promised. He wan't, but until he was well within the gates of home Marian atood guard at the window. As he approached the bouse from the ga-rage she noticed that his arms were fillet with bundles. "Ran into Tony Gazetti, and he ren' these things out to you," he ex-plained, handing her a box whien she found contained Mrs. Gazetti's famous chicken ravioli, "and this," he handed her an armful of shaggy issters in rose and purple, pink and

Inc. maide of the nouse.
Marian conducted them inside and assured that he wasn't being ob-served, Waki brought a telegram from the innermost recess of the coat, sweater and yest he wore.
Marian tore it open cagerly. It was from King.
"Have located party stop he is writing at Oakmere for word from you stop suggest you telephone for appoint-ment stop advise immedi-ate contact. John."
Marian read the telegram, then looked at the mantel clock. It was 5:15. She could make the 5:45 with Wak's help, and the car would go downhill, of that she was sure. She would leave May to catch any chance call from Lon, and to guard the house.
Like a whirlwind she flew 'nto town clothes, pulled the new hat down over her hair at a rakisn nn-gle, grabbed gloves. purse, keys, talking a non-she of may asters in rose and purple, pink and "These, I brought," and Marian gle, grabbed gloves, purse, keys, talking meanwhile to May.

"These, I brought," and Marian accepting the two small cornucoplas fashed him a smile of understand-fashed him a smile of understand-ing, Violets and marigolds. It proved that by some alchemy of thought, I his understanding of her and belief in her had been restored. "Ian," he said, after she had ar-ranged the flowers in bowls and joined him at the fireside, "I'd like to have a serious talk with you. To begin with, do you trust me?" "Trust you? In what way?" "I mean, if in the future I were to do things that looked mighty strange to you, would you and could you or.

to you, would you and could you ov-erlook them, knowing I did them gle, grabbed gloves, purse, keys, talking meanwhile to May.

"If any strangers come, don't let them m," she admoniahed, "and don't let Hero out Better keep the lights on, and the blinds drawn. If Mr. Casad comes home, tell him I went to . . . let's see . to Mrs. Steele's. Remember that?"
"I remember sat." May assured her. "I say, Mix Casad, she go Miz Steeles." "You'd better say Anne Steele," "The Waki car charged down the hill, Marian huddled down in the front zeat trying to look as much like Mrs. Waki as her tall ferm would allow. Perhaps her stadow would decide the Waki's had merely come to call and were returning th chouse. They reached the dent tut as the stadow would stay on, suarding the house. with a purpose" "Now that you've forewarned me I could and would." "I am going to spend tomorrow with McSwain." "Oh, Lon." the words flashed out of their own volution, "he careful." "Don't worrs." he smiled at her. Dont worrs, he smiled at her. Dont worrs he had said, as if the could keep from worrying while he was with any member of that family. And then a new question arose.

th chouse

th chouse. They reached the depot just as the cleartic train pulled in and Marian was relieved to find no trace of a Kanaka boy or anyone clas who seemed interested in her, in the background. As they sped towards the city, she thought of the wire. The Oakmere, one of the mare obscure hotels. She would go directly to Annes theo would go directly to Anne's, then elephone from there and wait for him. (To be continued)

THE CAPITAL JOURNAL. SALEM, OREGON

Q. What group of professional nen has the greatest longevity? M.B.

A. Life insurance statistics indicate that ministers, as a group, may expect greater longevity than men in any other calling.

Q. What is the average age of a Spanish War veteran? V.F. A. The average age of Spanish War veterans is now 60.

Q. Which State ranks first in area, and which in populaton. A.M. A. Texus is first in area, but New York is first in population.

Q. Can gasoline be made from seat, H.T.W.

A. The process of making gaso-line from peat has been developed at the Leningrad Industrial Institute. The gasoline has been used in an automobile test run from Leningrad to Mescow and return and experts there report that the new fuel gives more power than ordinary gasoline, makes no smoke,

12-7-34

ONE HOUR

LUNCH! WHERE HAVE

OTHER & ANNIE

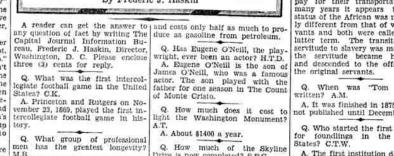

ALL RIGHT, BOYS- NOW, ALL TO-GETHER-

art. als read ERS

AND STREET

Ó

1

A. About status a year. Q. How much of the Skyline Drive is now completed? S.E.C. A. Thirty-two miles. When com-pleted, the Drive will be about une-ty miles in length, reaching from Pront Royal to Whynesberg, through the Shenandoah Valley, With its extensions south, it will eventually be 400 miles in length.

Q. What height was reached by the Picards on their stratosphere flight? E.R.

Hight? E.R., Mrs. Jean Piccard A. Dr. and Mrs. Jean Piccard reached an altitude of 57,979 feet or nearly eleven miles.
 Q. How many pounds of tobacco does it take to make one thousand clearettes? M.W.S. A. About 2.85 pounds.

Q. Were Negroes called slaves when they were first brought to America? F.M.

THAT'S TH' KIND OF A BOSS

THERE GOES

TIME-

2

til many years after the practice originated in America. It was a common custom for white persons to be brought to America either as to be brought to America either as prisoners or emigrants and their services sold for a varying term, ei-ther to fulfill their sentences or to pay for their transportation. For many years it appears that the status of the Arican was not great-ly different from that of white ser-vants and both were called by the latter term. The transition from servitude to slavery was made when the servitude became hereditary and descended to the offspring of the original servants.

A. The first institution designated for foundines seems to have been St. Vincent's Infant Asylum estab-lished by the Sisters of Charity (St. Vincent de Paul) in Baltimore, Md., in 1856.

Q. Is it considered that President Roosevelt's action prohibiting the use of gold as money and substi-tuting paper is Constitutional? W.N. A. The Supreme Court ultimately will pass upon the matter but, meantime, reference is made to Ar-ticle I. Section 10 of the Constitu-tion which says: "No State shall ... make anything but gold and silver coin tender in payment of debts" and some lawyers hold that what is forbidden to any of the States must be forbidden to all of them.

them.

YOU SAID IT-HE AINT SCARED TO GRAB AHOLT AND GIVE A HAND, NOW AND THEN-

E.

Such a welcome Xmas gift this! Who wouldn't love to receive these

Make These Pajamas for Xmas Gift

Who wouldn't love to receive these darling one-piece pajamas amongst her presents? You'll enjoy making them too, for they are as simple as A. B. C. The trousers, with comfortably wide legs, are joined to the long-waisted bedice in pointed outline. A narrow helt slipped through slashed opening at front, that ties at the back, marks the matural waistline. Note the becom-ing neckline and cure sleeves. So many, many materials are snit-sble to make it of as warm cash-mere, printed flamel, ballbriggan, wool jersey, etc.

Style No. 3457 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 years. Size 12 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch mate-rial with 1¼ yards of binding.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in stamps or coin (coin is preferred) for PATTERN. Write plainly NAME. ADDRESS AND STYLE NUMBER. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE YOU WISH.

SIZE YOU WISH. Let the latest FALL AND WIN-TER BOOK OF FASHIONS solve your clothea problems at a minimum of cost and effort. It tells you how to make a smart coat as easily as a simple dress. There are clothes for elaborate occasions as well as many smart trim designs for general wear. You'll enjoy reading about your favorite screen stars. You simply must not miss this issue. Address the—Fashion durcan, Sa-tem Capital Journal, 200 Fifth Ave-nue, New York City.

1.00

No. 3457. Size..... of BOOK TEN CENTS BOOK Name and PATTERN together TWENTY-EiVE CENTS.

Address .....

ANOTHER DAY GOOD-NIGHT, BOSS -GOOD NIGHT MEN- SEE YOU IN THE MORNING-WELL, ANOTHER DAY- IT'S WELL, ANOTHER DAY- IT'S SLOW, HARD WORK, THIS MAKING A COME-BACK-BUT I WILL GET BACK TO THE TOP OF THE HEAP AGAIN- I'LL PROVE I CAN SO LONG Boss-GOOD NIGHT-DO IT, TO THE WORLD -- AND TO MYSELF M

0

Q. When was "Tom Sawyer"

A. It was finished in 1875 but was not published until December, 1876.

Q. Who started the first hospitals for foundlings in the United States? C.T.W.

A. The first institution designated

