NORBLAD LOSES FISH GEAR BILL

Despite a ringing appeal by Rep. Norblad, R. Clatsop, that fish gear be barred from the Columbia river "to save the fishing industry," the house late yesterday turned down the anti-trap and seine bill, 31 to 27.

The bill, which originated with the Clatsop and Columbia county delegations, had been passed by the senate.

The same arguments which were advanced in the upper house were heard across the hall as the "fish fight" raged. Norblad tangled with Rep. Homer Angell, R., Multnomah, and one of the house leaders, on the bill. As was attempted in the senate, a move to send the fish question to Governor Martin's planning board was advanced.

"Shall we set ourselves up as authorites on a subject about which the great majority of us know absolutely nothing about?" asked Rep. William Graham, D., Multnomah.

"We have all voted on bills about which we knew nothing," challenged Rep. Grace Kent Magruder, D., Clatsop, Columbia.

The vote showed: Aye—Boivin, Bull, Carter, Gault, Duert, Frazer, Hamilton, Harrison, Honeyman, Hosch, Hyde, Hughes, Johnson, Josephine, Johnson, (Multnomah), Louch, Magruder, Merriam, Munvan, Nelson, Norblad, Olsen, Rankin, Ross, Scott, Smurthwaite, Thomas, Speaker Coater.

Nay—Albert, Angell, Barnes, Dickson, Ekersley, Engdahl, Erwin, Fatland, Fuhrer, Gouley, Graham, Haight, Hill (Lane), Hill (Hood River), Hockett, Jones, Kirkpatrick, Knight, Krier, Latourette, Lynch, Martin, McCloskey, Osborne, Rennie, Riddle, Rodman, Semon, Snider, Staples, Wallace.

Absent—Norton, Taylor.

J. J. BARRETT NOW NEW LINN JUDGE

Lifelong democrat, farmer, merchant, precinct committeeman, John James Barrett today was Linn county's new judge.

Barrett was appointed by Governor Martin to succeed the late D. O. Woodworth.

The new judge has been a resident of Linn county 50 of his 59 years. Until he was 30 he was a farmer, but then he entered the Barrett Bros. Implement company business in Albany. Active in civic affairs, he is an ex-president of the Linn county fair board and is now head of the Linn County Co-operative association.

Judge Barrett is married and has three children. His son, John Raymond, is a professor of language in the University of Portland. His daughters, Marybell and Zella May, are students at Oregon State college and Albany high school, respectively.

Dr. Burdette will represent the Graduate Clinic Foundation for the advancement of optometry. He will return to Salem the first of the week.

DRY TELLS OF TALKING BOOK USED BY BLIND

An explanation and demonstration of the "talking book," an improvement of the phonograph which plays records of 20 minutes in duration and which is of especial benefit to elderly blind persons unable to learn the Braille system, was made before members of the Salem Lions club Wednesday noon by Walter R. Dry, superintendent of the state school for the blind. The machines are manufactured and sold without profit at a price of $45 each. "Records" which include many books are provided by the federal government without cost to the blind.

Libraries throughout the country have become interested in the newest method of bringing literature to the blind and it is possible a "talking book" room may be fitted up in the local library. The Lions and Woman's clubs are interested in the project.

Musical numbers were provided Wednesday noon by Margaret Carney, soprano, and Robert Sherman, pianist, both of Portland.

Captain L. D. Farnsworth, making a brief talk in connection with national defense week, pointed toward the recent executions of women in Germany, the invasion of China by Japan, and the sending by Italy of troops into Africa in bearing out his statement that "We are not civilized yet" and that national defense should be given serious consideration. He declared modern tools of war need trained hands and urged the instruction of the younger generation in the methods of warfare.

Continuation of—Coast Bridge Tolls would be effected through the issuance of 3 1/2 percent general obligation bonds to amortize the bridge loan, in the place of the 4 percent bonds which have been hypothecated with PWA.

The savings in interest on the bonds alone would be more than equal to the difference between the annual interest and principal charge on the PWA bridge loan and the cost of maintaining present ferry service along the coast highway.

On the cost of the coast bridge PWA is already contributing $1,400,000 as an outright grant, which would be increased to a total of $5,600,000 if the compromise proposal is accepted.

Governor Martin announced following the conference that he would join with the highway commission in presenting the new proposal to the Washington authorities, and would seek to have the additional money needed for reconstruction of the Columbia river highway added to the allocation for Bonneville.

LIQUIDATIONS BEFORE COURT

Insolvency of a number of casualty and surety companies which are under process of litigation has greatly enhanced the work of the county clerk's office here. While the matter of liquidation is handled mainly through the insurance commissioner's office in the end it also reaches the circuit court, or many phases of it and the clerk's office has been literally swamped the past few weeks with documents relating down on it in connection with such liquidations.

There are now nine of these liquidations before the court and March 9 has been set as date for the first hearing on any of them, this being in connection with the National Surety company, one of the smaller companies.

A number of the clerk's force stated that indicative of how these liquidation proceedings have added to the work of the clerk's office, one of the alone being equivalent to 15 ordinary law suits, this one including 15 defendants. Others are smaller but in each case a great amount of correspondence is entailed and while fees received are heavy, as well as welcome, these liquidations provide probably one of the largest pieces of additional work shoved onto the clerk's office for some time.

STYLE REVUE TO BE STAGED, ARMORY

The Alpha Phi Alpha Mothers' club will sponsor a style revue to be put on at the armory Wednesday evening, March 6. A dinner is to accompany the show. The balcony will also be open to persons desiring to see the revue.

Stores participating will be Johnson's, the Smart Shop, Midway's shop, Montgomery Ward, the Oriental shop, Worth's, and perhaps one or two others to come in later. The affair will be a benefit for

SENATE RAISES RELIEF WAGES

Washington, Feb. 21 (P)—By one vote the senate today sided with organized labor and against the administration in the relief bill controversy by adopting the McCarran amendment requiring payment of prevailing wages on emergency public works. The vote for the McCarran amendment was 44 to 43.

Washington, Feb. 21 (P)—Senator Carter Glass (D., Va.), told the senate today he had "substantive reason to believe" that if the McCarran prevailing wage amendment is put on the administration's $4,869,000,000 work-relief bill "the president will veto the measure."

The forceful-speaking Virginian took the floor before a crowded senate chamber to argue the administration's position against the McCarran amendment to require payment of prevailing local wages in attempting to give work to 3,500,000 employables.

Glass solemnly warned the senate of the danger of federal credit from expanding the sum in the bill, which he contended would be inevitable if the prevailing wage was paid.

The Virginian said the nation's banks hold $15,300,000,000 of federal securities and a 10 percent drop in their value would make 90 percent of the banks insolvent.

"The president expressed himself as utterly opposed to the inevitable increase this amendment would require," Glass told the senate, sitting in a semi-circle about his chair.

Police Judge Jones Wednesday suspended for 60 days the automobile driver's license held by Max Coons when Coops appeared for the second time on a speeding charge. When he appeared on his first offense Jones continued the case to give him time to raise money to pay a fine.

A similar event last fall brought much favorable comment.

BILL PLANS AID TO TILLAMOOK

Another of the bills requested by the emergency procedure act of congress was received by the house Thursday morning from the judiciary committee. It relates to the financing of public works projects by municipalities.

Aid to Tillamook county is proposed in a bill from the taxation and revenue committee which would stand as a credit and apply upon taxes now due. The amount involved upon timber lands devastated by forest fires is $24,707.42.

Other new bills would prohibit commercial fishing in the Columbia river within five miles of the Bonneville dam and its tributaries east of the junction with the Deschutes river; regulating the purchase and sale of cream, milk and butterfat for butter manufacture; providing relief for people blind persons, not to exceed $300 per year for an individual or $540 for husband and wife; relating to corporations authorized to transact business as hospital associations, providing for the examination of jurors by a jury commissioner in counties having 100,000 population or more with the commissioner to receive a salary of $600 a year.
