Auxiliary Does Welfare Work

Increased efforts to give disabled World War veterans in government hospitals peace of mind through care of their families at home are being made this year by the American Legion auxiliary, states Mrs. Onas Olson, rehabilitation chairman of Capital unit of the auxiliary. In addition to visiting and providing comforts for the men in the hospitals, the auxiliary is carrying out extensive welfare work in the homes of these veterans.

While the government provides nearly everything necessary for the veterans in the hospitals, it can do nothing for the wives and children left destitute at home in a large number of cases, Mrs. Olson explained. Worry over the condition of their families is detrimental to the recovery of the veterans and the auxiliary's work aids in removing this worry. Aid to veterans after their discharge from the hospitals is another part of the auxiliary's rehabilitation activities receiving increased attention this year.

Dyer-Porter Vows Said Saturday

Sunnyside—A quiet and impressive wedding ceremony was that of Miss Geraldine Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter of Beaver, and Wynfred Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyn Dyer of Sunnyside, which was solemnized at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Guy Drill Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The bride was lovely in a gown of tip-toe length Alice blue crepe with ruffled collar to which was sewed a garland of tiny white flowery roses and a bouquet of Tallis-man rosebuds and sweetpeas.

Attending the wedding were Miss Dorothy Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Wyn Dyer, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Drill. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dyer are popular Salem high school alumni.

After a short wedding trip the young couple will be at home at the Wyn Dyer residence.

Sunday they were honored with a wedding dinner at the Dyer home. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Wynfred Dyer, Mrs. Altha Smith, Miss Dorothy Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Dyer and children, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Dyer and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Wyn Dyer.

Zena—A large percentage of the members of the Happy Hour dance club were present at Yew Park Saturday night to assist in celebrating the birthdays of Jews Sohn, Pat Burns, Raymond Stephens and James Sohn of Salem. As a special treat cakes baked by members of the celebrants' families were passed to all dancers present.

War Mothers Entertained

With Mrs. Judith Boock as hostess, the Salem chapter American War Mothers held a social meeting Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in games and special numbers by Mrs. Laura Clutter and Mrs. Mattilda Nadon.

Mrs. Minnie B. Peetz was a special guest. Mrs. Ida Mackechnie, a new member, is leaving this week for her home at Port Angelus, Wn. The St. Patrick's idea was in evidence both in the flowers and refreshments.

Those assisting Mrs. Boock were Mrs. Mary Rauch, Mrs. Nettie Myers, Mrs. Lillian Christofferson, Mrs. Mary Sims and Mrs. Bertha Smart.

The next meeting will be held in the American Lutheran church on April 2.

NO WHOLESALE OFFICE OUSTERS MARTIN AVERS

Patronage plums were moved farther from the reach of job-hungry democrats today in a statement from the executive office over Governor Charles H. Martin's signature. The governor made it clear he had no intention of "building up a personal political machine" and added that "it is not anticipated that there will be any wholesale discharge of the present personnel" in the state government.

The statement came from the governor's office several hours after Martin had left on a vacation. "I shall personally appoint only the department heads and the various commissions, leaving to them the selection of their own subordinate officers and their other personnel," the statement read.

"I shall hold each commissioner and each department head directly responsible to me for the efficient and economical administration of his respective office. This cannot be recommended to the members of the staff by whom the work of the department or commission is to be performed."

The governor said the most difficult problem facing him was that of certain required changes in personnel.

Martin has more than 10,000 applications on file from job-hunters, and only about a dozen full-time major paid positions directly under his appointive power. Heads of state institutions are appointed by the board of control, on which the governor has only one vote in three.

"In my selection of department heads and commissioners, fitness, experience and adaptability will be the first considerations. I shall take my time. I have no intention of building up a personal political machine. I regard my office as a public trust and my appointments shall be based on merit rather than considerations of political or personal reward."

LONG-BELL PLAN NOW COMPLETED

Kansas City, Mo., March 21 (AP)—The reorganization plan of the Long-Bell Lumber company has been completed and the personnel of the board of control selected. In a few days the plan will be printed, distributed to bond and stock holders, and presented to Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis.

The bondholders committee, allotted three places on the board of control, has selected the following: J. Z. Miller Jr., of Kansas City, Mo., who organized the Kansas City federal reserve bank and headed it for nine years; E. C. Westlake of St. Louis, a contractor.

A committee representing creditor banks met in New York City yesterday and selected James M. Kemper, president of the Commerce Trust company of Kansas City, as their representative on the board. The fifth place will be filled by Jesse Andrews, general counsel of the common stockholders.

The reorganization plan, it is understood, provides that creditor banks will take serial, unsecured income notes payable in from two to 10 years, and that the sales corporation, which has provided security for a bank debt of four and a half million dollars, be dissolved.

Holders of bonds will receive $100 in preferred par value stock and $15 in common stock for each $100 bond. The plan also provides for a limit on future debt and the establishment of a sinking fund for the retirement of term notes and an equal amount of preferred stock.
