

NUISANCE ON STATE STREET WILL BE CURBED

Motorists who for years have tolerated the nuisance of an exceedingly high curb on the south side of State street between Commercial and Liberty, which had put many a front bumper out of joint, are to be relieved. The city council last night, on motion of Alderman Cuyler Van Patten, authorized the construction of a step along the curb line which will make the parking of cars more convenient.

In the same operation the council authorized the street commissioner to fill in any driveways across sidewalks that are no longer in use, and to remove the old hitching ring that is anchored in the sidewalk on South Commercial street near the former Journal building.

Alderman Paul Hendricks believed the ring dated back to the days when the chief of police rode a horse, and that the chief tied his mount to the ring. Another Alderman, however, believed the ring was used by Frank Shafer, saddler and harness man, to tie a wooden horse to. Anyway, the relic is to be removed.

The Hollywood Community club sent a communication to the council approving the deal arranged with the Oregon-Washington Water Service company for purchase of the water works.

The council voted to reimburse Chief of Police Frank Minto for an expense of $100 on account of the recent course of instruction given police officers.

Frank Davey, property owner on Leslie street, questioned the wisdom of the council in approving a change in set-back lines on that street, between High and Liberty, to accommodate a garage being built by Chandler Brown. The reason for asking the change is that the garage is necessarily located on a hill side and cannot, without difficulty, be set back the regulation 10 feet from the property line abutting the street. The change is provided for in an ordinance introduced last night.

Two ordinance bills were put in for refunding Baneroff bonds. One calls for $175,000 and the other $20,000. The former was put through three readings and passed. A communication from Dan J. Fry requested deepening of sewer lines at the location of the new $80,000 warehouse in the Trade and Front street district. The present depth is not enough to accommodate the building. The change was authorized.

An ordinance bill that would eliminate the printing of voters' pamphlets prior to city elections was killed by indefinite postponement.

The council made provision for vacations for the radio operators of the police department. During the rest of the year they are to have two days off a month and a week's vacation in addition.

MEETING CALLED ON BONDING BILL

A telephone call from John W. Cunningham yesterday indicated that data wanted by the utilities committee of the city council in order to prepare a water bond ordinance are in the shape to give the committee the needed information.

Accordingly Alderman Walter Fuhrer, chairman of the committee, announced to the council last night that a meeting will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the office of City Attorney Chris J. Kowitz to prepare the ordinance. The ways and means committee, the mayor and the city attorney will meet with the utilities committee.

The ordinance will be introduced at an adjourned meeting of the council to be held next Monday night. It will authorize the sale of over $1,000,000 in bonds for purchase of the water works from the Oregon-Washington Water Service company.

The council authorized the adjourned meeting.

The council also authorized the utilities committee, the mayor and the city attorney to employ technical assistance in the water matter.

Trainer Killed When Huge Elephant Goes Mad at Circus Camp

Covina, Calif., May 21 (U.P.)—Joe Reed, 40 year old veteran animal trainer was killed today, victim of an enraged bull elephant which gored and horribly mutilated him at the Al G. Barnes winter quarters near here.

Reed was rehearsing eight elephants for an appearance in a jungle motion picture when they suddenly stampeded.

The eight beasts—six females and two bulls—trumpeting and flailing their trunks wildly, plunged through the circus grounds. Five were headed into their barns by keepers. Two others charged madly into an open field.

But Prince, a huge bull, known to circus people as a "rogue" or killer, was handicapped by huge chains with which he was hobbled. Bellowing ferociously and trying to free himself from the chains, the maddened beast attacked Reed when the trainer went forward to calm him.

The trainer ran to a pole in the center of the grounds, and attempted to climb out of reach of the enraged bull. He reached the pole too late, however, for the beast struck at him with a tusk and pierced him through the shoulder.

The elephant then grabbed the helpless victim in his trunk, threw him to the ground and gored him. Before attendants subdued him, the lumbering animal had battered Reed with his trunk and trampled on the trainer's unconscious form.

Reed died at a Covina hospital a short time later. Physicians said his scalp had been torn off and that one of the thrusts of the elephant had nearly disemboweled him.

Circus officials were unable to explain the action of the elephants. Prince, they said, had been known as a "rogue" for a long time, but never before had charged at a trainer. He was kept heavily chained at all times.

Reed was engaged by the circus a short time ago to train the animals for a motion picture. He was an experienced "elephant man" according to his fellow trainers and had worked with the beasts for years.

HOT WORDS AS TRAFFIC CODE IS DISCUSSED

Hot words were exchanged at the city council meeting last night over Alderman Cuyler Van Patten's traffic code bill. Van Patten accused Alderman Fred A. Williams, chairman of the ordinance committee, of holding back the bill deliberately, and termed as disgraceful a hearing given the bill a week ago Monday night.

The bill has been pending many weeks. When Williams last night asked for two more weeks in which to consider the bill Van Patten made his attack and questioned Williams' motives.

"This is the third time he has asked for delay," Van Patten said, "and there is no excuse for it. I think Alderman Williams is holding it up for no good reason. Only two days two truck men hinted that they had been asked to protest the bill. The attempted hearing given the bill two weeks ago was an absolute farce."

Van Patten moved that the bill be withdrawn from the ordinance committee and placed on final passage, any necessary amendments to be taken care of at another time.

"I don't like Alderman Van Patten's insinuations," Williams said. "I don't like to call a man a liar, but I am capable of doing that." Williams gave as one reason for the delay the recent automobile accident in which he received eye injuries.

Van Patten's motion carried, but after discussion, and on account of the late hour and the length of the bill, Alderman Walter Fuhrer moved that it be made a special order, together with proposed amendments, at 8 o'clock next Monday night when the council is to meet in adjourned session. This prevailed.

As a parting shot Van Patten said: "I want to say further about the public hearing last Monday night that both the hearing and the conduct of Alderman Williams were absolutely disgraceful. He tried in every way to make a joke of the bill."

FEDERAL PLANES WILL TRAIN HERE

Government airplanes will be in training at the Salem airport this summer, according to Alderman E. B. Perrine in a report to the city council last night. In preparation for the event it is necessary, Perrine said, to have some improvements made at the landing field.

On his motion the airport commission was authorized to employ a crew of SERA workers to smooth down some of the rough spots on the field. L. U. Eyerly will take care of the workmen's compensation act costs.

EGYPTIAN FIGHTS TO WED COED

Romance between Farid Simalka, Egyptian diving champion, and Betty Wilson, coed at the University of California at Los Angeles, became a matter for ethnologists to settle in Los Angeles with the tentative refusal of the marriage bureau to issue a license. As required by California law, the county counsel must rule whether Simalka is a caucasian. (Associated Press Photo)

ANNUAL CLASS NIGHT SLATED

Silverton—Miss Ethel Hardie, class advisor, is assisting with preparations for class night to be held at the Eugene Field auditorium Friday evening. Serving as chairman of arrangements is Jane Ballantyne; chairman of scrip, Charlotte Goplerud, and of stage, Lester Rue. Assisting on the scrip preparation are Pauline Batcheller and Evelyn Rankin.

The scheme will be the mid-century mark of progress of 1950, with Silverton the metropolis of the northwest. Sanford Davis, class president, will introduce the first woman president of the United States, Janet Ballantyne, who will give the class salutatory. Walter Goplerud, valedictorian, will be represented as the returned ambassador from Italy.

Michael Hamman will sketch, off-hand, the personalities of the class. Charlotte Goplerud will sing and a boys' quartet composed of Harold Houck, Marvin Jensen, Harold Moffett and Oliver Carpenter, will sing a group of selections. A military band will give patriotic airs.

Class night is always popular with school patrons as it is the last informal gathering of the senior class.

Jefferson—Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Pease accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Freeman and small son of Talbot to Eugene Sunday for a day's visit with relatives.

Sublimity—Joseph Welter, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Welter, has been very ill with rheumatism but at last report is improving.

COUNCIL VOTES NOT TO ASK FOR DISPOSAL LOAN

The city council last night definitely killed for the present the proposal to apply for a public works administration loan for a sewage disposal plant in Salem.

A letter from C. C. Hockley, state engineer for the PWA, was read, stating that the city must immediately sign a previously submitted agreement with the PWA or the offered loan of $366,000 would be rescinded. He asked to be informed as to the cause of delay.

On motion of Alderman Walter Fuhrer a resolution embodying the agreement and authorizing the city authorities to sign it was taken from the table for action one way or the other. The resolution was tabled two weeks ago. Under the terms of the agreement $277,000 of the amount would have been a loan and $89,000 a grant.

Alderman Fred A. Williams spoke against it, declaring it unjust to expect Salem to incur the indebtedness when other cities along the Willamette river were not doing likewise. Alderman Van Patten was against it at present, and Alderman E. B. Perrine said he found most people with whom he had spoken opposed to it. One of the objections to the move was that maintenance of the plant would be by assessment on the people.

Alderman Fuhrer was for adoption of the resolution, but only Alderman Minto stood with him. All the others voted to kill it.

In informing the PWA of the council's decision the mayor was instructed, on motion of Van Patten, to explain that Salem is the only city using the river for sewage disposal that has a disposal plant under consideration, and that in the future when other cities have similar projects Salem will be willing to cooperate.
