CATHOLICS WILL GIVE LAYWOMEN STATE RETREAT

St. Angel—With the departure of the students from Mt. Angel Normal, preparations for the Laywomen's Retreat to be held June 21-23, have been begun in earnest.

Although the retreat movement for women is fairly new in Oregon, Catholic mothers and professional women, aware of the spiritual aids and consolation of such a retreat, are welcoming the opportunity to spend a few days in the quiet and peace of the beautiful countryside in which Mt. Angel is located. There, in the shadow of the Benedictine convent, where Perpetual Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament has been kept for more than 50 years, 70 women gathered last summer and spent, what many admitted to be, three of the happiest days of their life.

STREET PAVING PROBLEM AGAIN BEFORE COUNCIL

Woodburn—Problems up for discussion before the city council at the regular meeting Tuesday night were the erection of speed limit signs in the city and the oft discussed problem of paving East Lincoln street.

It was decided to interview the property owners on the matter of paving to ascertain whether or not they would be willing to finance 55 per cent of the cost if government aid could be obtained for the financing of the other 45 per cent. Efforts have been made for years to get this street paved which is one of the main thoroughfares leading from the Pacific highway into the city, but reluctance of the property owners to pay for the improvement has proven an obstacle not easily overcome.

A contract to clean and repaint the inside of the water tower at a cost of $175 was awarded to a party whose name was not learned.

It was voted to send Fire Chief C. E. Whitman to Corvallis to attend the annual convention of fire chiefs June 13, 14 and 15 and $4 per day was allowed him for expenses.

A resolution was adopted memorializing congress to pass the Townsend Old Age Pension bill.

Bills for the month, totaling about $4000, were approved and ordered paid. These included a bill for a large order of water pipe and the labor of laying.
