ANNUAL DAKOTAN PICNIC TO BRING CROWD SUNDAY

BOTH STATES JOIN FORCES AT SILVERTON

Silverton— Sunday will be a gala day at the Silverton park when the former residents of North and South Dakota gather for their annual state and northwest picnic. Last year when the affair was at Champoeg more than 2000 were in attendance and this year promises to bring even a greater number.

Alf O. Nelson, local attorney, state president of the organization will extend greetings to the visitors as the first selection of the program that will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Nelson was formerly prosecuting attorney for Dunn county, N. Dakota. Dr. A. J. McCannel, formerly of Minot, N. Dakota, will response to the welcome for his state fellows. A. H. Nolgren from Brookings, S. Dakota, will represent the South Dakotans in responding to the welcome.

The principal speaker of the day will be Attorney Bardi Skulvson, prominent Portland attorney, formerly state senator and prosecuting attorney for Grand Forks county, N. Dakota. Wilbur Moffett formerly of North Dakota, will have the honor of introducing the guest speaker. Mrs. G. B. Bentzon (Josephine McCall) and Moffett have arranged musical numbers to include an hour's program by the 4-L boys band under leadership of J. C. Hassenstab to be from 12 to one o'clock.

With about equal numbers from each of the Dakotas the contest features of sports has been planned largely as North vs. South. A tug of war across the Silver creek in a nice deep place will dunk the losers in the water. The winners will receive a gallon of ice cream and the losers, hot toddies for the group. Handling this feature will be Walter Fry, Joe Goyette and Martin Waarvick, all business men of Silverton.

Another contest will be a horseshoe game between members of the two states with George Thompson, Ernest Mott and Arthur Gottenberg heading this committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed G. Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thorkildson have promised to have coffee ready at 12 o'clock sharp.

George Smith, park life guard and expert swimmer, is directing a water carnival which will be staged following the tug of war.

All who attend the picnic will be asked to register, Mrs. Ed Holden, Silverton is secretary-treasurer and will be in charge of the registration.

Julius Alm, E. Jay McCall and Dr. A. J. McCannel will serve as outer guards and reception committee.

COUNCIL LACKS QUORUM; EXTRA MEET SCHEDULED

West Salem—Routine business occupied the city council this week with no definite action taken upon several matters owing to lack of a quorum.

An application for a lunch counter and beer place to be operated in the C. A. Robertson building on Edgewater between Gerth and Kingwood avenues received favorable consideration but left to a special meeting later in the week for final action. No action was taken on the licensing and fines for operating so-called games of skill and this also will come up at the special meeting, as was action upon a bus franchise for the Kingwood Transportation company.

Sewer matters were discussed with a complaint received regarding properties not connected and this was referred to the street and sewer committee for investigation with a report to be made on the cost of laying more sewer pipe lines. It was reported that the main sewer, emptying into the river at the Burk place had been put in satisfactory condition and that the one on Rosemont avenue would be completed this week. A hydrant has also been installed on Cascade drive with a large footage of 4-inch water main laid on Kingwood heights.

FRINK FACTORY CHIEF

Albany, Or.—J. B. Frink, formerly associated with the National Association of Furniture manufacturers with headquarters in Chicago, was named as manager of the Veal Chair factory, yesterday, at, which time Mrs. Ida Veal, Frink and A. A. Schramm were named directors. The directors named Mrs. Veal president and appointed C. Chester Veal secretary of the company. Frink will take over entire management of the plant, of which Schramm, as liquidator for the Albany State bank, came into control last week, through an order by probate Judge J. J. Barrett, authorizing Mrs. Veal as administrator of the estate of Fred Veal to transfer to Schramm certain assets of the estate. It was stated by members of the board that the Veal Chair factory, employing 60 and 70 men, will continue in operation without expected interruption.

LOSES DRIVER'S LICENSE

Albany—Winnie I. Winkler, Sweet Home, was fined $25 and suffered revocation of his driver's license for a year when he pleaded guilty in justice court Monday to a reckless driving charge following his arrest last Saturday at Sweet Home. Winkler was involved in a wreck two weeks ago on the Santiam highway and it was his car that struck and killed 3-year-old George D. Fritz, Jr. Winkler's father, Sam Winkler, was also arrested and fined recently on a reckless driving charge.

COOTIES ARE GASSED

Albany—Armed with bombs which play upon the lachrymose glands of vermin as well as human beings, city officials had charge of a gas attack on the city bastile Monday night. Victims of the onslaught were cooties, fleas, lice, cochroaches and divers and sundry vermin that had exchanged their somewhat precarious abodes on transients for the more stable habitat of the jail.

TRAIN HITS DITTMER

Albany—Henry Dittmer, 26, who lives three miles east of Tangent, escaped with what was termed minor injuries when his automoodle was struck by northbound Southern Pacific passenger train No. 6 at a Tangent crossing. Dittmer, it was believed, owes his life to the fact that the train was slowing down for a station stop. It was learned that the accident victim suffered cuts and bruises about his body and a severe cut on his elbow. According to trainmen Dittmer drove his car upon the track when the train was less than 50 feet from the crossing.

HAS SLOT MACHINES

Albany—Peter Schmitz of Sweet Home paid a fine of $10 and cost in justice court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally operating slot machines. Schmitz assumed responsibility for four slot machines that were confiscated Saturday in a raid by Linn county officers.

Baptist Missionary Society Has Study

Monmouth — For their August meeting members of the Missionary society of the Baptist church was entertained by Mrs. S. Williamson, assisted by Mrs. F. Ayres. The devotional taken from Isaiah 61-11 was presented by Mrs. A. Duncan.
