

BUTTER TRADE REMAINS FIRM ALONG COAST

Portland, Ore., Aug. 21 (AP)—A firm tone in butter trade continued in Portland markets today. Prices were generally being maintained.

Trading in the egg market is generally of favorable character locally for top grade stuff but there is an absence of activity for off-grade. Receipts of current lay continued light.

Situation in the country killed lamb market continues to show gaining strength with prices firm at the latest advance along the whole way. Other meats are steady to firm.

Better grade Gravenstein apples are being offered from Mosier with wrapped and packed combination grade being offered to retailers here around $1.50.

Very firm prices are continued for cantaloupes here as a result of better primary prices than the basis here with resulting shortage of off-grade. Little improvement in Dillard offering as to volume.

Tomatoes are steady to a little lower again. Peaches are firm to higher again. Bell peppers are mostly around 40-50c.

Crabapples are plentiful and mostly around 2 1/2 to 4c lb. Lettuce market is very firm at late advances.

Cauliflower is again fully steady. Celery demand is active. Plum demand is keen. Oranges and lemons about steady.

WALLACE TO OPPOSE LOAN ON COTTON CROPS

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today cautioned AAA Administrator Chester C. Davis by telegraph against any "gift loan" on the 1935 cotton crop.

The telegram was taken to indicate that Wallace was opposed to announcement of a 12-cent loan on cotton while prices are around 11 cents, as at present.

Cotton interests, including a number of senators and representatives, have brought pressure to bear on the administration seeking continuation of the 12-cent loan basis which was established for the 1934 crop.

Wallace suggested that Davis consult with Rep. Marvin Jones, D., Tex., chairman of the house agriculture committee, in an effort to work out a loan which would not be on a "gift" basis.

If the government loaned growers 12 cents a pound on cotton and market quotations stayed below that figure, the government would be left with the cotton, since it would be more profitable for the growers to leave the cotton in the government's hands than to order it sold in the open market.

It was understood, meantime, that plans for the cotton loan were being whittled into final shape with legal experts drafting the form that it will take. The amount of the loan, however, was understood to be still under discussion.

Wallace suggested that Davis consult with Rep. Marvin Jones, D., Tex., chairman of the house agriculture committee, in an effort to work out a loan which would not be on a "gift" basis.

Fuggles Hop Picking Begins With Gloomy Outlook for Growers

As hop picking got under way today among the fuggles or earlhop of the hops, the industry was the center of the darkest picture painted for it in 25 years or more, or at least so say some old time hop men who have lived through the vicissitudes and fortunes of over a quarter of a century in the game.

Fuggle picking got under way today at the big Livelys Lakebrook farm, the Minto yard and numerous other yards over the valley. Some will start a little later, the 100 acre Misonel Bottom fuggle yard expected to get under way Friday and in the Lachum yard near Independence probably next Monday.

Under ordinary conditions 50,000 pickers would be needed to take down the crop clustering on the vines in the yards of Oregon, with probably 5,000 additional day laborers to take care of the work handled by the pickers.

If all the hops are picked this year—and there's a good likelihood they will not be, it is estimated 125,000 bales would be the state's harvest as compared to 117,000 bales last year. In Washington and California 55,000 bales are expected from each state or another 110,000 bales to add to the 125,000 from Oregon or 235,000 bales from the coast states.

Hop dealers estimate that a brew of 50,000,000 barrels of beer would consume 185,000 bales of hops, showing an excess of 50,000 bales from the 1935 crop on the fifty million barrel estimate.

But the picture presented grows darker as the curtain is raised farther. There is an estimated carryover of 40,000 bales from the 1934 crop, and 40,000 bales more of the old hops produced from 1929 to 1933, with which, taking over the estimated 50,000 bales excess of the 1935 crop there would be 135,000 bales to carry over into 1936.

These figures present part of the reasons why all of the 1935 crop might not be picked. But there are other reasons, principally financial, as many growers have expressed the belief that their hops are not worth picking based on the return from today's market.

Still another reason is a warning going out from all dealers to the growers to pick nothing but prime hops, to avoid red spider, mold and also dirty picking. It is reported that red spider is in the fuggles and clusters too, but the fuggles will be picked soon but red spider is said to be making progress in the clusters and is apt to have a serious effect on the quality of the hops, and require careful picking and handling to get out the quality hops that dealers say they must have if they are going to sell them this year.

RALLY IN STEEL RESTORES LOSS OF 2 SESSIONS

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—A 1 to 7 point rally in steel shares buoyed the stock market today, restoring nearly all the losses of the past two sessions.

Aviation issues, coppers, chemicals, nitrates, and other so-called "war baby" shares were in active demand at higher prices. Motors picked up on new investment buying attracted by lower prices. American Telephone jumped 2 points on declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share.

Utilities joined the forward movement as the deadline for the utility bill approached with prospects it would not pass. Budd Manufacturing was bid up on the prospects for orders for six new streamlined trains.

Harvester and mail order shares followed a substantial rise in wheat. Communication shares followed American Telephone at a smaller pace.

Best gains of the session were made by the steels. New highs for the year or longer were made by U. S. Steel and Bethlehem issues, A. M. Byers, Otis, Superior, Youngstown, and Ludlum. Preferred issues of the steel group were especially in demand.

Chrysler gained more than 3 points while Auburn made a new high for the year at 36 1/2 up 1 1/2. General Motors rose fractionally. Demand came back to the motor equipments.

Utilities had gains ranging to a point or more. In the chemicals, Du Pont made a new high for the year at 114 1/2 up 3 1/2. Electric Boat reached 8 1/2 up 1 for the first time in 1935. Schenley jumped more than a point in the liquor division. Mesta Machine, Johns Manville, U. S. Pipe and Foundry, Sears Roebuck, Phillips Petroleum, Allis Chalmers, American Metals, and Westinghouse Electric gained a point or more.

Volume approximated 1,750,000 shares compared with 1,900,000 shares yesterday. Curb sales were 318,000 shares compared with 499,000 shares yesterday.

ZIONISTS PLAN VAST INDUSTRY FOR PALESTINE

New York (AP)—The great world market of the future will be the Far East and New Palestine, rising from the dust of 2,000 years, is preparing to supply that demand, Zionists believe.

The World Zionist congress at Lucerne, Switzerland, from Aug. 20 to Sept. 4, will direct more rapid development of the Jewish National homeland in anticipation of that business, according to Morris Margules, secretary of the Zionist organization of America.

"India's 400,000,000 won't always wear the lion cloth and sheet like Gandhi," Margules said. "Some day they will wear shirts and trousers and ties, and the New Palestine will be in a strategic position to supply them."

China's millions and others of the Far East will be consumers, too, Margules argues, and New Palestine is the future to which the Jewish National homeland looks at the opening of its 19th biennial congress. In being a haven for oppressed Hebrews of the world it is looking for outlets for the industry that will support New Palestine's increasing populace.

Great Britain already has recognized the strategic position of the country, Margules said. Reconnoitering of Palestine has elapsed any colonization project in the world, he contends. Since 1921 more than 350,000 Jews have settled there with a present population of 400,000.

Tel Aviv, at first a suburb of old Jaffa, has become a city of 150,000 in the past 25 years, and Zionists expect it will surround the city of Jaffa in the next few years.

WORD ON FILBERTS COMES FROM PARIS

The foreign agricultural service division of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics recently gave the following cable information from Agricultural Attache Nielsen at Paris office, on foreign filberts:

The estimated filbert production in the following: Short cuts, unshelled: Italy 1935 estimate 16,000 tons, compared with 25,000 tons in 1934; Spain 1935 estimate 25,000 tons, compared with 38,000 tons last year; Turkey 35,000 tons compared with 37,000 last year.

Sicily production this year is expected to about equal that of last year but in the Naples district of Italy, which is the most important to the United States, production this year is expected to be 50 percent less than last year. Remaining stocks of filberts in Italy and Turkey are of little importance but Spain has a liberal supply. Total old crop stock in these three countries is probably about the same as last year at this date.
