OREGON YOUTHS TURN GANGSTERS

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 21 (AP)—Two Bickers, Ore., youths were run down after a 30-mile chase and gun battle with motorcycle officers today and held in connection with the holdup and robbery of a lumber and hardware concern here.

The youths, who gave their names as Walter J. Turner and J. J. Powers, and their ages as 19, held up employes in the office of the Best Lumber and Hardware company and took approximately $225 from a safe and cash register.

"Burn 'em down if they bat an eye," one of them told the other as they took the money. They then backed out, hopped into a automobile and sped ouf the Nashville highway.

Two motorcycle patrolmen, cruising in the vicinity, were notified and overtook the car near the city limits. The occupants fired at the chasing officers and increased their speed to 80 miles an hour.

One bullet knocked a gun from the hand of Motorcycleman Raleigh Woolridge and pierced his shirt. Just then, the wild bandit car struck a youth on a bicycle, hurling him bodily into the air. He was not injured seriously, however.

The men finally were trapped when they ran up a "dead-end" road. One threatened to shoot at the officers, whereupon the police fired twice, but none of the shots took effect. The money allegedly taken from the company was found on the two men, police said.

SHOWDOWN IN SAN FRANCISCO MARINE CRISIS

but refused to work the vessel on the ground that by so doing they would be interfering with the current bargemen's strike.

Longshore officials said the "strike" was unauthorized, and the result of independent action of the men, adding they could do nothing about it if the men elected not to work.

Other tests were expected over the week-end, as longshoremen gangs were called to various piers to unload cargo previously handled by non-union labor.

A picket line was thrown around the Sutter. Refusal to unload the vessel tied up the American-Hawaiian freighter, Willhilo, scheduled to depart today with part of the Sutter's cargo.

Thomas G. Plant, president of the Waterfront Employers association, said that names of the longshoremen are being noted as they decline to unload vessels. When the entire roster of 4,000 is exhausted, non-union hands will be enlisted, he said.

A letter from Plant to the International Longshoremen's association stated the employers would consider that all men refusing to work the so-called "hot" freight had "suspended themselves from further employment." This was interpreted by waterfront observers to mean that the employers were planning a "black list" of union members who refused to work.

Effect of a general tie-up, spokesmen for employers said, will be to place the issue squarely up to constituted ILA officials. The current work agreements expire September 30.

ed, either. They all look alike to me."

Moody indicated that a representative of the Capital Journal, which has been conducting a private investigation into gambling and vice conditions in the county, would be the first witness called before the grand jury.

Moody's appointment was made by the attorney general in pursuance of an order of Governor Martin, made at the request of the Capital Journal and District Attorney W. H. Trindle, that a special prosecutor be named to conduct the gambling investigation.

While state authorities were preparing to get the grand jury investigation under way, city authorities were taking action against the State street dart game and were ready to move against such of the marble games as are operating.

City Attorney Chris J. Kowitz today filed two complaints against the dart game. One charged operation without a license and the other operation of a lottery.

The charge of operating without a license is based on the resolution adopted by the city council last Monday night revoking the licenses of operators of dart games and the other gaming devices.

Kowitz two days ago filed a motion in the circuit court for dissolution of the temporary restraining order granted Elwood Brown whereby the city is temporarily prevented from interfering with his marble boards. Argument of the motion was held up by the absence of Judge McMahan in Albany yesterday, and is again held up until Tuesday because the judge has been called to eastern Oregon.

Moody, who represented the state in the recent hearing before the governor at which time charges of bribery were made against Dan Kellaher resulting in information being filed against the former parole office for willingness to accept a bribe in working for the release of L. A. Banks, serving a life term for murder, was expected to be continued as special prosecutor in the Kellaher case.

The Marion county grand jury, following the gambling cases, was expected to investigate the Kellaher charges. The latter was accused by Moody of signing a contract with Banks whereby the then parole officer would receive $50,000 and other considerations should Banks be released from the state penitentiary. Kellaher was being held on bonds.

Forum

Contributions to this column must be confined to 300 words and signed by writer.

To the Editor:—In a recent article published in "The Open Forum" of the Journal contributed by Mr. Peter Waber, I note he is very much misinformed, else he would not say, "The Townsend plan is silly!" I have long since resolved not to enter into what might be a long drawn out controversy on this subject, in a newspaper, when there is plenty of proof in literature, now being circulated to convince anyone who has a fair mind, "that the Townsend plan is not silly."

You say in your letter, Mr. Waber, "no amount of argument will change your standpoint unless along lines of common sense."

Well the Townsend plan has been presented to, and accepted by, more than 50,000,000 people in the U. S. who have signed petitions and 30,000,000 of these are VOTERS.

Now if you want to understand The Plan there is enough proof in any single copy of the Townsend Weekly, or in the Townsend booklet No. 3, to convince anyone who will examine them with a fair and impartial mind, that The Plan is WORKABLE, JUST AND HUMANE, and will reduce taxes at least 50 per cent below what they now are, and will be as long as the big appropriations of billions are allowed for relief, which does not bring relief!

If you cannot see this when you have read the literature, it is just too bad for you, and only proves you have not enough of a certain element in your make-up to prove to you that it would be best for you financially, and morally, as well as for every citizen of the U. S.; so in that case you should not be blamed but rather pitied!

We Townsendites have been called "idiots, silly, cockeyed, etc., etc., but it is the rule that the majority of voters shall decide who is competent to mingle in society, or be confined in a state institution. Well the Townsendites are now away in the majority in the U. S. and instead of a few opponents of the plan, telling us we are idiots, and that the plan "is silly," it is from now on for use to decide who are idiots, and what we shall have for government.

We are not particularly anxious for more voters on our side, so are not trying to convince anyone against their will, for from now on we can carry any and all elections, and that will do the trick.

Better study the plan before you make such rash statements, unless you believe that, "where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise," for the majority of voters do not believe you.
