

WPA WRITERS SURVEY STARTS IN THIS AREA

Field work for the historical records survey, the new project of the federal writers' program of the WPA was started in Marion county this week by Alphonsus O'Reilly of Salem and Thad H. Wentworth of Portland, under the supervision of Dr. Beatrice Aitchison of Portland, field supervisor of the survey in Oregon. Dr. Aitchison will work with Mr. O'Reilly and Mr. Wentworth during the first week or two of research, which is beginning in the archives of the state offices and court house.

The purpose of this nation-wide undertaking is to collect information for a comprehensive index of the basic materials for research in the history of the United States. The results of the survey in Marion county are to be included in a separate Oregon index, which will be printed by the University of Oregon Press.

After making an inventory of the public records, Mr. O'Reilly and Mr. Wentworth will undertake an extensive survey of privately owned historical materials.

Alfred Powers, dean of the general extension division of the Oregon state system of higher education and state director of federal writing, urges that all persons who own or know of historically interesting letters, diaries, ledgers, photographs, articles of early furniture, etc., report such relics either direct to Alphonsus O'Reilly, 1232 Center street, Salem, or the Historical Records Survey, Bedell building, Portland, so that the research in Marion county may be as exhaustive as possible.

The survey does not contemplate the removal of any relic from its present owner, since its object is merely to record what the item is and in whose possession.

Continuation of—

Third Party

"It was suggested," Downey said, "that a large sum of money would be available for the Townsend movement, but Dr. Townsend says that there was no discussion of a third party campaign during the negotiations."

While a possible third party movement was reported being discussed, the United Press was informed, discord developed which later led to the resignation of Robert E. Clements as secretary-treasurer of the old-age pension organization.

Clements, who has testified before the house pension plan investigating committee, is to be recalled when hearings are resumed after investigators sent to California to study Townsend records reports their findings.

He told reporters he had no knowledge of any offer of money for a third party campaign.

Washington, April 4 (AP)—The congressional inquiry into the Townsend old age pension organization was directed today toward the Pacific coast, stronghold and birthplace of the movement.

Representative Gavagan (D., N. Y.), of the house investigating committee planned to leave Washington either today or tomorrow for Los Angeles and other west coast cities to secure information of the nature of which Chairman Bell declined to disclose.

Gavagan, designated as a sub-committee of one, was authorized to take certain depositions. Other investigators went to Townsend regional offices at Chicago and to eastern headquarters at New York.

Several committee members privately expressed disappointment that the audit being made of the Townsend books in the combined national and southern headquarters here will not provide information expected because of their "muddled and confused" condition.

John Bloodworth, accountant, has testified some of the books were not "readily susceptible to audit."

JOHNSON UNDER CROSS QUESTION

Yreka, Calif., April 4 (AP)—French E. Johnson, who asserted his automobile killed Elmer Rock, Tule Lake rancher, under "purely accidental" circumstances, returned to the stand for cross examination today.

Johnson, of Klamath Falls, Ore., and Tule Lake, related yesterday he became confused when his dog dropped from a seat to the floor of his car. Over a several-hundred-foot stretch the car sped forward, unguided, he said, and fatally injured Rock.

He had a companion remain with the injured man while he hastened to Tule Lake for help, he testified.

The state has accused him of murder in deliberately running down Rock.

Frequent clashes between attorneys marked yesterday's session. Superior Judge C. J. Luttrell refused counsel to complete presentation of evidence by noon today.

A defense motion that charges be dismissed because the state motor vehicle act, as amended, makes no provision for a murder accusation, was denied.

MOST USERS OF WATER GOOD PAY

Bad debts owed by water users to the City of Salem water department have been so small during the eight months the city has owned the plant as to be negligible, amounting to only $622 per cent, Manager Cuyler Patten told the water commission last night.

Salem has totaled $125,021.29 since August 1 last, the date on which the city took over the plant, with bad debts of only $274.39. Records show that from 1928 to 1931 inclusive average sales of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company were $178,356 annually with bad debts of $895, or .005 per cent.

Van Patten said the plant's operating profit for March was $8901.57 not counting deductions for interest payments and principal on the water bonds. The month's expenses were $470.18.

Van Patten was authorized by the commission to attend a northwest sectional meeting of the American Waterworks association to be held at Aberdeen, Wash., in May.

OLD GALS DECLARED MOST BEAUTIFUL

New York, April 4 (AP)—Secretary Frances Perkins, minister Ruth Bryan Owen, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Katherine Cornell and Helen Hayes were called America's most beautiful women today by Countess Mira Skarbeck de Korzybska, internationally known portrait painter.

"These women do not have skin-deep beauty, which is the usual conception," she said. "Their is intellectual beauty which does not fade."

She based her choices, she said, on her experience in painting notable.

PETERS TO PRESIDE AS RIOT CASE JUDGE

Astoria, Ore., April 4 (AP)—The defense counsel for 35 loggers charged with riot filed an affidavit of prejudice Friday against Circuit Judge Howard K. Zimmerman.

Justice J. E. Campbell of the state supreme court assigned Judge T. R. Peters of Hillsboro to sit on the cases, first of which was tentatively set for April 27.

Two were hot to death when a band of loggers attacked the Crown Willamette logging camp March 7.

Portland, Ore., April 4 (AP)—The net registered tonnage of 182 ships arriving here in March was 573,253 tons, an increase of 56,000 tons over February and 16 vessels, the Merchants Exchange said today.

Despite the increase, the tonnage for the first quarter of the year is 27,000 tons below the 1935 figure of 1,422,834. Tonnage taken from the port in March was 493,156, an increase of 53,000.

Waconda Resident Is Honored Guest

Waconda—The birthday anniversary of R. G. McKay was observed when a group of friends gathered at the McKay home to honor and surprise him on that occasion. Cards were the chief diversion of the evening and a midnight supper was served.

The group included the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sturgis, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Manning, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Van Zuylen, Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis E. Cutsforth, Harley Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Morris of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jensen, Mrs. Lydia Keen, Miss Nellie Smith, Miss Roseberry, Miss Kittle Smith, William Brown, J. C. Tedder and Mrs. John Bonner of Woodburn.

Twenty-four Royal Air Force men, a record number, were saved from death last year by the use of parachutes, which never once failed.

OFFICERS HEAR ADDRESSES AT DINNER MEET

Justice J. O. Bailey of the state supreme court, Rev. Guy Drill of the First Christian church, Mayor V. E. Kuhn, Sheriff Martin Pratt of Multnomah county, United States Attorney Carl C. Demasch, Roy R. Hewitt of Salem and J. W. Murray of the penitentiary, were among the speakers last night at a meeting of the Northwest Association of Police Officers, meeting at the Quella restaurant. George Alexander, assistant superintendent of the Oregon state police, was toastmaster.

In commending the police officers for their work in enforcing the law Justice Bailey said the public also should do its part. "The public has as important a duty as the officers in seeing that the laws are enforced," Bailey said. "We all know that we have too many laws but the public is duty-bound in seeing to their enforcement."

We say we have a free country, and then we proceed to do as we please," Justice Bailey stressed the importance of keeping punishment adjusted to the crime committed and deplored discrepancies in sentences as imposed in different counties.

Rev. Mr. Drill said he had great respect for police officers who do their duty, and none for the man who gets pay from both sides of the desk.

"It is for the officers to enforce the laws as they are made," he said. "If they are not good laws they must be changed by the people, not by the police officers."

The visiting officers were welcomed by Mayor V. E. Kuhn who introduced Chief of Police Frank A. Minio. "The city is proud of him," said the mayor.

Response to the mayor was made by Sheriff Martin Pratt of Multnomah county.

An interesting talk on fingerprinting was made by Joe Murray, head of the identification bureau of the state at the penitentiary. He said that 110,000 fingerprint records have been collected in Oregon since 1924.

Speaking on behalf of Chief Harry Niles of Portland, United States Attorney Donaghue invited the officers to the northwest convention of police officers in Portland this spring. Royal mounted police from Canada will be special guests. The invitation was also extended by Ex-Chief Leo V. Jenkins of Portland.

Roy R. Hewitt, probation officer for Marion county, said he believed a concise statement of laws would help in their enforcement.

Entertainment numbers were a vocal solo by Lieutenant Max Alfred of the state police, accompanied by Miss Helen Burgh, and a tap dance by Helen Smith.

PEPCO ELIMINATES CIRCUIT CHARGES

The Portland General Electric company today eliminated motor circuit charges on poles between the state tuberculosis hospital and the penitentiary annex, because "it is an extension of our service and not that of the state."

The 10 cents a line per pole charge assessment brought protest from State Treasurer Holman in a board of control meeting recently. He said "if the power company charges the state for contracts, why not charge them for placing poles on state property?"

The assessment, the company explained, was made erroneously.

Says Dictatorship Born at Versailles

Portland, Ore., April 4 (AP)—Ver-non McKenzie, director of the University of Washington School of Journalism, told a group of business men that "dictatorships in Europe were born at Versailles and are being maintained by propaganda."

"I am inclined to agree that Europe is lost unless by some method or other French stubbornness can be overcome; that hunger and desperation may force Europe to have economic unity and political common sense, and that the masses and classes can be made to realize how horrible the next war is going to be," he said.

McKenzie has visited Europe frequently in recent years.

Jonathan Bourne Slips Peacefully Away After Stroke of Paralysis

One of Salem's most familiar figures passed out of existence yesterday afternoon. After lying in a state of coma at Deaconess hospital since 2 o'clock in the morning, Jonathan Bourne slipped peacefully away at 4:55 o'clock in the afternoon.

For 35 years connected with the Southern Pacific railroad, 28 years of which were spent as a ticket agent at the depot in Salem, Jonathan Bourne had a wide range of friends in the city and over the valley. For the past four years he had lived the life of a retired railroad man. Four months of the period were spent in the Southern Pacific hospital at San Francisco where he went for treatment, leaving here a year ago New Year's day. After his return he spent much of his time at the Elks' temple, the rest visiting his friends or appearing on the streets interchanging repartee with the friends of over a quarter of a century.

He was born at Atlantic, Illinois, on November 8, 66 years ago. In 1899 he came to Oregon. His father was engaged in the mercantile business at Eugene and Jonathan became associated with the Southern Pacific company at Roseburg. He became ticket agent in Salem a few years later and remained in that capacity until his retirement. For around 30 years he resided in the Westcott home on Court street where he was almost as much of a fixture as the home itself.

He was stricken with a paralytic stroke at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the Westcott home. At 7 o'clock that evening his close friend John Hughes of the Blue Bird confectionery, took him to the Deaconess hospital.

He is survived by Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mrs. Byron Crowley, sisters of Portland; Mrs. Presley Lancaster, sister of Hollywood, Calif.; Mrs. Charles Graham, sister of Colorado Springs, Colo., and a brother, George B. Bourne of Kansas City.

He was a member of Salem lodge No. 336, B. P. O. E., and also belonged to all the Masonic orders here.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the chapel of Clough-Baick company, with interment in City View cemetery.

JONATHAN BOURNE

Nelson Declines

That his filing as a candidate, made Monday by petition, might be invalidated by reason of the fact that it contained insufficient names.

It was confident that the secretary of state would permit him, in the event of a tie, to be found in his petition to file by declaration and pay the required $100 fee—a privilege generally accorded candidates who file in this manner. At the office of the secretary of state it was indicated that Nelson will be permitted to complete his filing by paying the fee if a check of his petition discloses them to be insufficient.

Referring to Senator Brown's attack upon his record and qualifications, contained in a proposed radio speech scheduled to be given by Brown but cancelled by station KOIN and published in part subsequently by certain newspapers, Nelson said:

"I lived in North Dakota 35 years. During my whole life from boyhood to this day, I have taken an active interest in social and economic questions. When I was 37 years old I addressed the 1907 session of the North Dakota legislature on the subject of cooperative marketing of grain. In 1908, while president of the American Society of Equity Department of the Grain Growers, I took a very active part in Washington, D. C., in the work of getting our present federal grain inspection laws enacted. That fact can be ascertained by looking up the report of the U. S. senate committee on agriculture on that subject."

"My record as a man and citizen of North Dakota is an open book. Ask any reputable, responsible citizen whether it was good or bad."

"I have not been a candidate for public office since I was 26 years old. Before that time I got every office I went after. I was assistant county superintendent of schools, clerk of the school board, school director and township assessor."

Attacking Nelson as "political carpetbagger" unfamiliar with Oregon and its problems, Brown is quoted in published copies of his alleged address as saying:

"Visualize if you will the picture of this man, an Oregon resident for about three years. He changed his registration from independent to republican about the day he filed. Does he have a political reputation the people of Oregon can look to with confidence? He is unknown in the state. What brings Two Bit Nelson all this? What brings Two Bit Nelson into the ring, bearing a questionable indorsement given in part by his own hand? What prompted the area board to attempt the thrusting of Two Bit Nelson, carpet bagger politician, down the throats of unsuspecting Townsend people?"

"Note if you will two other decisions of this same area board, one indorsement given to a congressional incumbent who voted in favor of the holding companies, and to another congressional incumbent who voted against the holding companies, their indorsement was denied. Both of these congressmen had embraced the Townsend plan."

"There is striking similarity in this discrimination between congressmen who voted for and against the holding companies, and an action which voted against me a carpet bagger politician."

"Is it possible that this little group within the area board hopes to win out with Two Bit Nelson over both the incumbent in office and myself in this senatorial race? People versed in Oregon political affairs laugh at such a possibility. Then why this promotion of Two Bit Nelson?"

"What unseen power was behind that little group within the area board—who now attempt to guide your votes in channels that best suit their own purposes? Can we assume the candidacy of this man as truthfully being in behalf of the people's interests, or are we to see in

JYM JAMBOREE MOST COLORFUL SHOW OF SEASON

Well drilled performers, appropriate and colorful costumes, and excellent music combined last night to make the annual Jym Jamboree, Salem high school Girls' Letter club event, one of the best of the series directed by Grace Wolgamott and Vivian Bartholomew of the physical education staff. Every inch of available seating space in the high school gymnasium was filled with spectators some time before the program got under way.

From the time the high school band led by Director Gordon Finlay rendered the first notes of Von Suppe's Light Cavalry Overture until the stirring notes of "Stars and Stripes Forever," of Sousa brought a fitting climax to the evening, the program was packed full of interest for the appreciative spectators.

Alto Swift as "Chief White Eagle" clad in Indian costume, welcomed the visitors of "foreign lands" to the big pow wow, the motif for this year's athletic show. Then, in turn came dancers from Scotland, Italy, Ireland, Japan, Holland, England, Ethiopia and the United States. Clad in native costumes the dancers put on a show that would be considered first class in professional circles. Interspersed with the dances were tumblers from Germany, pyramid builders from Egypt, and a large group from Sweden, which put on a spectacular and rhythmic bar drill.

Perhaps the most colorful and entirely different feature of the evening was the cherry blossom dance staged by nine Japanese young women attired in appropriate oriental costumes. Typical Japanese music, made available through an amplified recording, added greatly to the interest of the performance.

The Indian campfire scene, with nearly a hundred young women clad in blankets and many-colored feathers participating brought the formal part of the program to a close. In this scene Betty Read gave the difficult and picturesque eagle dance.

The music of the high school band was a revelation to hundreds who had not been privileged to hear the group in recent months. The musicians rendered a number of semi-classical pieces with the ease and confidence of professionals.

The junior group will cooperate with the members of the business men's committee in all matters pertaining to the celebration. They will maintain reception headquarters for the younger festival visitors and will have a prominent part in the entertaining of the bridge dedication queen and her princesses during the three days of their reign. The boys will also act as aides and have charge of patrolling the course in the marathon swim across Alsea bay, one of the major sports events of the celebration program.

More than 60,000 tons of olive oil have been exported from Spain this year, as compared with 25,000 tons in the same period last year.

It perhaps another light as taking the part of a sacrificial goat, playing into the hands of the political fixers whose business it is to retain in office a man satisfactory to the invisible government they serve?"

Money is still coming in, according to Mr. Meyers, and several districts have not been heard from as yet. Silverton gave a large benefit late in the week and funds raised there are yet to be turned in.

The Junior Red Cross has also done its part in contributing to the relief fund. Students in 13 Salem public schools had contributed $164.88, it was announced from the school superintendent's office late Friday.

NEW CITY WATER SYSTEM FOR MOSIER

Hood River, Ore., April 4 (AP)—A new municipal water system built as a PWA project now serves the town of Mosier, seven miles east of here.

An old grant giving the estate of the late J. N. Mosier exclusive rights for use of the streets for a water system nearly proved a stumbling block to the project.

However, Circuit Judge Fred W. Wilson ruled that such exclusive grant, even to the founder of the townsite, was against public policy.

SPECIAL PROSECUTOR SEASIDE RIOT CASES

Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle said today he has been ordered by Governor Martin to name a special prosecutor to handle the cases against 37 named defendants resulting from the recent timber union riot in Clatsop county.

He stated he would announce the name of his assistant next week, but said he would be an attorney not now connected with the attorney general's office. Other business was occupying all assistants now employed preventing selection of a member of his staff, Van Winkle added.

The special prosecutor was requested by Clatsop county officials. In addition to the 37 named indictments the grand jury returned 10 "John Doe" indictments. Two men were killed and a score injured in the pitched battle several weeks ago.

NEGRO SMILES AS DEATH TRAP DROPS

Walla Walla, Wash., April 4 (AP)—Smiling faintly and mumbling thanks to the minister who soiced him, Barney Flemming, 31-year-old negro, mounted the gallows at Washington state prison last night, and was hanged for the slaying of Labella Butler, his common-law wife.

The trap was sprung at 9:59 p. m. At 10:14 p. m. prison physicians pronounced him dead.

There were approximately 75 witnesses in the execution chamber, the largest audience to an execution in the prison's history.

Flemming confessed killing Miss Butler because of jealousy. He put poison in a glass of beer she drank, then hit her over the head with a poker and slashed her throat with a butcher knife.

COUNTY HEALTH PROGRAM DRAFTED

Portland, April 4 (AP)—Mrs. Saide Orr Dunbar, secretary of the Oregon tuberculosis association, proposed a five-point primary health program for county subdivisions at the 20th annual convention here.

The program, she said, should consist of health education, case finding, providing institutional care, rehabilitation and public health nursing.

Mrs. Dunbar said there was need for more emphasis on child health education through distribution of health literature, consultations with parents and public speaking.
