The annual June marital drive is on and down the aisles of Salem churches marches the usual vanguard of brides and their wedding corteges. The rocking-chair brigade is whispering of another engagement of interest to be announced in the very near future—with the wedding scheduled for mid-October.

The tree-shaded Willamette campus has been the scene of several gala commencement week affairs—and last night Dr. Bruce Baxter, president of Willamette, and Mrs. Baxter entertained with the annual-President's reception at Lausanne hall.

There is a hint of Victorian days in this bridal gown of crisp silk tulle, designed with a speeding airtail centered by a wide airtail panel. Its tint—pale mauve—marking a new trend for faint color in bridal costumes, is reflected in the filmy net veil worn over the face during the ceremony. Purple and white iris and lilies-of-the-valley make up the bridal bouquet.
