AVIATOR HELD FOR HOMICIDE

Los Angeles, July 13 (AP)—Howard Hughes, refreshed by a night's sleep, today awaited questioning by district attorney's investigators on the accident in which an elderly millionaire was killed.

The millionaire aviator-olimpian was taken into custody on a technical charge of suspicion of negligent homicide and remained in jail for 12 hours while detectives attempted to learn the identity of a woman who was with him at the time of the accident.

Hughes refused to reveal who his companion had been. Witnesses to the accident said she slipped from the flyer's automobile after the crash in which Gabe S. Meyer, 59, was killed and died.

The flyer's attorney, polo-playing Neil S. McCarthy, obtained Hughes' release on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Fletcher Bowen after emergency hospital surgeons reported Hughes was not drunk at the time of the accident, although he had been drinking.

LIBRARY TITLE TAKEN BY POPE

Vatican City (UP)—Pope Pius XIth has brooded once more that notwithstanding his 79 years he is one of the most active pontiffs that has ever occupied the golden throne of St. Peter's.

With the death of Cardinal Ehrle in 1934, the post of librarian of the Holy Roman Church was vacant. Vatican officials who asked his holiness who the Cardinal's successor was to be were surprised to hear the answer.

"There will be no need for a new librarian. From now on I will occupy that post!"

The Pope thus broke a tradition which for ages saw a cardinal occupy the post of Vatican librarian.

"The Pope is a bookworm and has had plenty of training in the difficult task of keeping a library in good shape, be it even as vast as that of the Vatican. He was librarian of the famous Ambrosiana Library of Milan in 1907 when he was only Father Achille Ratti."

During those days the present pontiff used to invite all the members of the Milanese library to a picnic which was held in the suburbs of the city once a year.

The Pope's first step as librarian of the Catholic Church was to donate the books of his private collection to the Vatican library. The pontiff's collection consisted principally of important old volumes treating with theology, philosophy and history of the Catholic Church.

TRIAL OF KARPIS OPENS, ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., July 13 (AP)—One hundred witnesses were on call today for the trial of Alvin Karpis, once known as "Public Enemy No. 1," and two others for the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., more than three years ago.

The trial will begin tomorrow in United States district court. Accused with Karpis, alleged leader of the gang, are John P. (Jack) Pfeiffer, St. Paul night club operator and alleged "trigger man" in the kidnaping and Edmund Bartholmey, former postmaster at Bensenville, Ill., whose home was named by federal agents as the place where Hamm was held prisoner after his abduction June 15, 1933.

The 100 witnesses subpoenaed were divided about equally between prosecution and defense.

Because of the illness of two government witnesses—Byron Bolton, confessed participant in the abduction, and Edna "Rabbit" Murray, sweetheart of a gang member—a special term of court has been called by Federal Judge M. M. Joyce. The trial was originally scheduled for November.

George H. Sullivan, United States district attorney, will be aided in the prosecution by George A. Heisey.

Karpis has indicated he might plead guilty to the abduction. He pleaded innocent on his arraignment.

TRIPLE SLAYER MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH BY NOOSE

San Carlos, Ariz., July 13 (AP)—Bosafull Earl Gardner, pint-sized Apache Indian, three times a killer, hanged from a government gallows for 33 minutes at dawn today while armed men stood guard as a warning to tribesmen not to interfere.

Gardner, 31 years old, who insisted that the government hang him for killing his wife and infant son, and boasted that he would take it "like an Apache," met a horrible death.

His body struck the side of the trap as the trigger was sprung. It dangled there while the helpless victim groaned and kicked. Those directing the execution talked once of dropping him again, but decided against it.

Every minute for fully 20 minutes the attending physician made an examination and shook his head.

The trap was sprung at 5:06 a.m. It was 5:39 when Gardner was pronounced dead.

The government's improvised instrument of death was an old rock crusher used in the construction of Coolidge dam. The rope was swung from a cross beam. A hole was cut in the floor for a trap.

The noose slipped as Gardner fell, the knot moving around in front and snapping his head backward and over his side.

Meanwhile, armed men, sworn in by Ben J. McKinney, U. S. marshal, as deputies, patrolled the Coolidge dam and the road leading into the deep gorge where the hanging occurred. But not an Indian was sighted.

The guards were withdrawn as Gardner's body was removed to a mortuary at Globe.

Eugene, July 13 (AP)—Oregon postmasters, from Coquille to Pendleton, assembled in Eugene today this morning to open their state convention, and then promptly adjourned to the upper McKenzie river for a noon picnic.

Business sessions were not to get underway till this evening. Registration figures showed that approximately 75 postmasters were on hand with the indications pointing to the largest assemblage of its kind here this year.

The delegation of high postal officials from Washington, D. C., had not shown up here late today, but they were expected to be on hand for the sessions tomorrow. Clinton D. HAWAII ARGUES FLOGGING ISSUE

Honolulu (UP)—Flogging has been reintroduced at Oahu prison recently, reopening a public controversy concerning corporal punishment.

With the prison board's approval, Acting Warden Joseph Ordstein ordered 30 lashes each be laid across the backs of Charles Cooper and Julian Eugster, incorrigible inmates who had defied all attempts to bring them into line of institutional routine.

The punishment is being spread over an extended period. The convicts first received six lashes each with a cat-o-nine tails made of knotted rope. If their behavior does not improve they will be flogged periodically until the 30 lashes are administered.

The flogging recalled the celebrated Lucas Candido case of 1929. After twice escaping from prison, Candido was ordered flogged. The case went into the territorial circuit court on habeas corpus proceedings to enjoin prison authorities from flogging Candido.

The court forbade the use of the lash, but the territorial supreme court overruled the action, holding flogging a legal means of inflicting corporal punishment.

While the little court room was crowded during most of the morning a large part of those outside the rail were prospective jurors.

Chief Minto, on account of whose illness the trial was postponed two weeks ago, sat quietly behind his three attorneys, John Carson, Custer Ross and Walter Winslow, all of Salem.

It is expected that the presentation of evidence and the arguments will consume at least two days.

TINY SPITZ DOG DRIVES OFF COUGAR

Sweet Home, Ore., July 13 (AP)—A tiny Spitz dog with the protective spirit of a mastiff won a battle with a huge cougar near here, worrying the beast until it took to the woods instead of attacking the dog's mistress, Mrs. Bert Simmons.

Later, the cougar paid with its life at the hands of a hunter.

Mrs. Simmons went out on her ranch to seek three sheep which had not come in with the flock. She found them dead, with a cougar hiding nearby. As the cougar advanced the dog snapped back and forth just out of reach of the claws until the beast gave up the attack.

The failed record of 119.40 m.p.h. was set at Monticlerie, France, by three Frenchmen, Perrot, Dionne and Gicod, in 1934. Numerous American speed records also have fallen since Eyston began the second phase of his run, officials said, but no marks had been computed.

LAST OF CASES OF GAMBLING PROBE OPENS

eration of gambling games and devices in the city of Salem, got underway in the Marion county circuit court this morning.

Out of 39 indictments returned by the Marion county grand jury's investigation of gambling conditions in the county—instigated at the request of the Capital Journal with Ralph E. Moody, of the attorney general's office, as special prosecutor—the case against Minto is the last to come to trial.

All of those accused of operating gambling games and devices pleaded guilty, and Orey G. Coffey, Salem police sergeant, was convicted by a jury of accepting a bribe. Coffey's case is on appeal.

There was little indication of what the line of defense or prosecution will be in the Minto case in the preliminary statements of examination of jurors this morning.

Up to the noon recess 16 prospective jurors had been drawn and put through preliminary examinations; one had been excused by the court as being an unqualified juror; the defense had exercised two of its six pre-emptory challenges and the state one.

Mrs. Florence A. Buckles, housewife, was excused by the court because she had not been a resident of Marion county for the period of one year as required by law.

The state challenged Otto B. Berring of Gervais.

The two excused by the defense were M. J. Lindahl of Woodburn, and Virginia Byrd of Salem.

Jurors tentatively seated up to noon included Lester R. Reed of Aurora; Lydia A. Yoder, Woodburn; Edward Havel, Liberty; Wm. G. Krueger, Salem; E. S. Budiona, Salem; Amos C. Branch, Salem; H. H. Ansen, Monitor; John H. Davenport, Silverton; Byron McElhaney, Salem; Myrtle A. Holden, Silverton; Henry D. Miller and Wm. F. Haverland, Salem.

Attorneys for both the state and prosecution agreed at noon that they expected to complete the jury and have it finally sworn in by 3 o'clock and be ready for presentation of their arguments.

The questioning of witnesses during the morning was along routine lines and offered no indication of the trend the case may take.

Over the objection of the defense to the introduction as evidence of the pleas of guilty made by gambling operators, Prosecutor Moody announced that he would subpoena them as witnesses and place them on the stand.
