

HEAVY RAINS SEND RIVERS ON RAMPAGE

Ohio, Maryland, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, Missouri and Arkansas. Yellow waters crept up city streets and flooded basements in scores of communities.

Riding high on an accumulation of heavy rains, the Ohio river descended on Portsmouth, Ohio, and caused City Manager Frank Sheehan to warn all residents, except those in hilltop districts, to prepare to leave homes and business houses. The city has a population of more than 40,000.

The river rose two-tenths of a foot an hour at Cincinnati toward a crest the weather bureau said might equal that of the 1913 inundation, which cost southwestern Ohio millions of dollars.

The village of New Richmond, 30 miles east of Cincinnati, sent a call for aid, and boat crews were dispatched to evacuate families surrounded by water. Fifteen hundred families already had left their homes in northern Kentucky cities.

Indicative of the sweep of the flood was a report that 1,500 of the 2,000 houses in New Richmond were flooded. Water was five feet deep in the streets.

Almost the entire population of Aurora, Ind., worked to remove stocks from stores. Fire sirens brought them from their beds at midnight.

Bursting through a levee, White river waters took over the village of Hazleton, Ind. Its 500 residents stood on hills and surveyed the wreckage.

Flood waters swept over the Kentucky lowlands in some places reaching a 1933 mark, driving hundreds from their homes and decimating a Louisville and Nashville train at Slaughter. The National guard was mustered in Frankfort to assist evacuation of areas flooded by the Kentucky river.

Rising levels of the Mississippi and its tributaries forced lowland dwellers to flee in west Tennessee and northeastern Arkansas. Tents, box cars and public buildings housed the homeless.

Winter rain and mountain snow sent the rivers in western Pennsylvania toward flood stage today. The south branch of the Potomac river washed out a temporary bridge near Springfield, W. Va.

The Red Cross reported 2,000 refugees in the flood area of Kentucky. Mo. Rescuers searched for many families believed marooned by the St. Francis river flood waters. Seventy-five families were rescued by motorboat crews yesterday. High waters made 250 persons homeless at Dexter, Mo., and 200 at Corning, Ark.

The Cumberland river, far above flood stage, threatened water-front buildings at Nashville, Tenn., and routed many householders. Backwater from the Mississippi inundated western Tennessee lowlands. Illinois and North Carolina were other states plagued with flood waters. Authorities moved to prevent looting of abandoned property in the flood areas.

STATE TO REPAIR ROAD CROSSINGS

The state highway commission has advised the county court it will repair and make passable all county road intersections along the new alignment of the Pacific highway south of the city and get to work immediately. Commissioner Melson advised the county court this morning. Numerous complaints have come from citizens in that area during the past few days since the thaw has softened up roadways that cars are being stuck at the intersections and traffic very materially retarded by conditions existing. The new grade for the highway crosses quite a string of county road intersections in the hills south of town in the Sunnyside district and on each side of it and quite a portion of the new roadway is made up of fills which are new and not yet settled.

"COLLEGE HOLIDAY"

Martha Rae and Jack Benny have the title roles in "College Holiday," which starts Thursday at the Elsinore theater.

ELSINORE GETS NOTED ROMANCE AS "ROADSHOW"

"Romeo and Juliet," the most beloved romance of all time, is an inspired motion picture according to Manager Carl Porter who has just booked this magnificent production for a "road show" attraction at the Elsinore for one day only, Thursday, February 11.

For those who have read Shakespeare casually it will be a revelation. For the romance of the Juliet and her Romeo is as modern as the love story of any boy or girl of today. Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard make the lovers of Verona real and human and understandable as they defy family hatred for a love that admits no barriers.

But "Romeo and Juliet" is more than a great love story. It is a thrilling romance, true, but it is also a moving, action-filled spectacle. Filmed against the colorful and fascinating background of 15th century Italy, it is packed with comedy and tense, dramatic situations. The duel fought between John Barrymore, who returned to the screen to play the bawdy, lusty Mercutio, and Basil Rathbone as Tybalt, and that which follows between Howard and Rathbone, are certainly the most exciting ever screened. Fought with rapier and dagger they are tremendously realistic.

Special mention must be made of Edna May Oliver's characterization of the nurse, which she plays to the hilt for all of its uproarious comedy.

Others in the outstanding cast whose work bears mention are C. Aubrey Smith, Andy Devine, Ralph Forbes, Reginald Denny, Maurice Murphy, Conway Tearle, Henry Kolker, Robert Warwick, Virginia Hammond and Violet Kemmer Cooper.

REVEALS HOW TO ACQUIRE CHARM

How to achieve personal charm is the subject of talks and demonstrations to be given by Miss Marjory Dearing, national authority on style and beauty, in Miller's store auditorium Friday and Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

Miss Dearing will analyze various types of figures showing just how defects may be subdued and natural charms may be flattered and enhanced. She will use living models to demonstrate proper styling to individualize the personality, how a more magnetic personality may be achieved through a keener clothes, color and style consciousness. During her talks Miss Dearing will illustrate the importance of exercise in developing beauty and relaxing tension.

Miss Dearing is a New York representative of Simplicity League of Amateur Designers, an informal organization of women in all parts of the country interested in making more flattering clothes for themselves.

The public is invited to attend her demonstrations at Miller's.

BRILLE COURSE TO START FRIDAY

Anyone interested in Braille transcribing or in working with the blind in any capacity is invited to attend the meeting Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Red Cross offices, 147 North Commercial street, the Braille committee of the Marion county Red Cross announces.

Persons who do not know Braille but who would like to assist in this project will be given a course of instruction in Braille. Men as well as women are invited to participate in this project, and for those who do not want to assist in transcribing books, articles, stories or music for benefit of the blind, there will be book binding, visitation of the blind in the county and other activities for benefit of those who do not see.

Attendance at the meeting Friday entails no financial obligation to engage in the project, the committee states.

PUBLISHERS AT EUGENE TODAY

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 21 (U.P.)—Newspaper publishers from all parts of the state arrived here today for the opening banquet, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. of the annual Oregon press conference. Toastmaster will be Alton F. Baker, publisher of the Eugene Register-Guard.

Delegates for Friday and Saturday programs, sponsored by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers' association and the University of Oregon School of Journalism, will register at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow following group breakfasts.

Camera work, photo engraving, offset printing and country weeklies will be discussed at the first general session at 9:45. Dean Eric W. Allen of the University School of Journalism will talk on "Where Editors are Gagged and Guided," drawing on his travels in Germany for material.

Press freedom, news handling, interpretation and backgrounds, and advertising will be taken up at the afternoon session tomorrow.

Awards for the best weeklies will be made at the annual no-host banquet in the evening.

Saturday morning's discussion of advertising problems and weekly newspaper publication will be climaxed by a talk by L. D. Felsheim, Bandon publisher, on "When Fire Demands My Town."

The semi-annual business meeting of the publishers will precede the final no-host luncheon Saturday noon.

SAYS AIMEE SUFFERS GLANDULAR TROUBLE

Los Angeles, Jan. 21, (U.P.)—All the woes which have befallen Angelus temple in recent months caused by Aimee Semple McPherson's "glandular trouble," Rhea Crawford Spilva, her erstwhile associate, charged today.

Mrs. Spilva was testifying at a deposition hearing in behalf of the $1,000,000 alander suit she has filed against the evangelist. For the most part, however, she gave what she contended was an accurate character analysis of Mrs. McPherson, who recently dismissed her as "associate pastor."

"Aimee is erratic and has not got the ordinary conception of the ethical code," Mrs. Spilva asserted. "She is totally unfitted to handle money and gets mixed up on 'thine and mine.'"

"Aimee has glandular trouble. I advised her time and again to submit to an operation. I understand her and excused a lot of things she did because I knew these glandular disturbances."

"Everyone knows what glandular trouble does. It makes genuses and morons and causes all sorts of abnormal behavior."

PROGRAM OF TRADE PACTS ASKED BY FD

In international trade relations and excessive barriers continue to operate against American trade.

"Their reduction," he wrote, "continues to be an essential requirement of a full and balanced economic recovery for our country."

"In the period which lies ahead, our ability to act swiftly and effectively in the field of commercial policy will be indispensable, if the present favorable and promising trend toward a normalization and expansion of international trade, upon a friendly and constructive basis of fair-dealing and equal treatment, is to go forward."

Of even greater importance, Mr. Roosevelt said, was the effect of liberalizing trade practices on international peace.

"Economic strife, resulting from inordinate or discriminatory trade barriers," the president said, "is one of the most fruitful sources of political animosity and military conflict."

"A policy designed to reduce excessive trade barriers and to establish equality of trade rights is a powerful instrument of economic appeasement and stability. It serves to strengthen the foundations of world peace."

"In the present unfortunate state of world affairs, we dare not in justice to ourselves, relax our effort, or abate the vigor of our leadership, in a world-wide movement for durable peace through economic prosperity."

After reviewing conditions which he said existed when the administration originally sought power to enter into reciprocal agreements nearly three years ago, the president said that in trade treaties concluded with 15 nations, discriminations have been removed and guarantees obtained of equal treatment in the future.

MOTORISTS FINED IN WOODBURN COURT

Woodburn—William Abraham Korsun, arrested for driving his truck at a speed of 50 miles per hour, appeared in Judge Overton's court Tuesday and after pleading guilty paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Ned D. Helton, arrested for driving a truck for the transportation of property without P.U.C. plates on the vehicle, was tried without a jury and the case dismissed when a telephone call to the P.U.C. office verified his statement that he had a permit.

Joseph Neil Wildford paid a fine of $5 and costs for driving his car without 1937 license plates.

Daniel Lee McNeil, arrested for violating the basic rule, entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Monmouth—Lloyd D. Black, who is substituting in the geography department of the Oregon Normal school for Miss Katherine Arbutnot during her absence abroad, had an experience on his trip west from his home at Seaside, New York. He came by automobile, following the southern route and was taken ill at Stafford, Arizona. He was detained ten days in Arizona and for a time was not sure he could proceed as he was threatened with pneumonia. However, he recovered in time to complete the journey with the required time.

REBEKAH ASSEMBLY LODGE HEAD GUEST

Woodburn—Mrs. Estelle Weck of Portland, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Oregon, paid her official visit to Home Rebekah lodge No. 58 Tuesday evening. The work was put on for the pleasure of the visiting official and the officers were complimented on their excellent performance. There were guests present from Hubbard and Monitor and also the state inside guardian.

A gift was presented Mrs. Georgia Cole Frenz, a recent bride, and Mrs. Weed.

Refreshments were served by Laura Woodward, Opal Hasenyager, Edith Frenz, Mrs. Peiky, Wilma Doss, Eva Strike and Myrtle Hall. Decorations were in charge of Freda Hall, Margaret Jackson and Nona Otjen.

CALL UPON PATIENTS
Scotts Mills—Mrs. Edith Hogg and Mrs. Lorane Hill called at the Silvertown hospital Tuesday evening to see Mrs. Geo. Haynes, a patient since before Christmas. Mrs. Haynes has been very ill, but it much improved and gaining slowly. They also visited Guy Syran, who underwent an operation last week there and is getting along nicely.

Sues Upon Note

Dallas—Stating that only one payment has been made on a note given by Monte Harris and Anna Bayer for the sum of $250, the plaintiff, W. M. Cline, has filed a complaint in circuit court seeking judgment in the amount involved with interest at 8 per cent from November 1, 1930, until paid. The note was due and payable on January 1, 1931. Attorney's fees of $100 plus costs and disbursements are also asked by the plaintiff.

OUT THAT COLD

-Roots and All-Give It No Chance to Sprout Anew!

Take no cold lightly! The so-called "common cold" is often the start of more serious trouble—flu and pneumonia, for example. Treat a cold to root it, not merely to subdue it! Depend on no half-way measures. A cold, being an internal infection, must be got at from the inside. Treat a cold with a cold preparation, not with a medicine good for all kinds of ailments. The wise treatment is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Expressly For Colds! Bromo Quinine is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds. It is also internal treatment and of four important effects. First, Bromo Quinine opens the bowels, a desirable step in the treatment of colds. Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step. Third, it relieves the headache and fever. Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack. The Action Called For These are the four effects a cold calls for and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet. Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability. Be wise—play safe! The moment you feel a cold coming on, go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Begin taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. That procedure will often break up a cold in 24 hours. Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Ask for, and insist upon, Grove's Bromo Quinine. The cost is small, but the strike is large.
