today, passed by the senate after ex-tended arguments.

The bill, sponsored by Senator W.

E. Burke, Yamhill county, provides that the arresting officer may use his own judgment on evidence relating to the intoxication of the accused driver. A section also giving him the authority to call a physician was tak-en out by the senate committee on revision of laws.

The measure is an amendment to revision of laws.

The measure is an amendment to the statute relating to drunken driving and deprives the accused driver of the right to call a physician. The morning meeting of the senate also saw Senator Byron G. Carney's controversial unicameral resolution suffer a preliminary defeat. After the Clackamas county senator had moved that the resolution be withdrawn for revision, the senate voted to keep it in the resolutions committee. A measure giving the fish commi-

sion the right to set the seasons or commercial fishing on the Columbia river was passed after P. M. Francis-covich, president of the senate, left the platform for the first time to the platform for the first time to argue his bill.

Pour bills were introduced in the morning session, including one by Senator P. J. Stadelman providing exemption from taxation for equip-ment and fixtures used in supplying water on a cooperative, non-profit basis.
