BOOKS ON CRIME AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Prequent calls for recent and authoritative material on criminology have been met by the Salem Public library, according to James T. Ru-bey, librarian, who has announced the accession of Hatcher's "Textbook of Firearms Investigation," So-derman's "Modern Criminal Inves-tigation," and Henry's "Textbook of Fingerprint Classification," all of which appear on this week's new which appear on this week's new book list.

New fiction acquired for the week includes Gellhorn, "The Trouble I've Seen;" Deepling, "Blind Man's Year;" Zane Grey, "West of the Pecos;" Brand, "Outward Room," and D. H. Lawrence's "Sons and Lovers." Biography is well represented by Thirkel, "Tribute for Harriette;" McAdoo, "The Woodrow Wilsons; Lesile, "Rodin, Inmortal Peasant;" DuMaurier, "The DuMauriers," and Shepard, "The Life of Bronson Alcott."

Advanced art students will be in-terested in Schaeffer's "Pose Piease, fishermen in Roy Schren-kelsen's "Fishing for Salmon and Trout," and students of American social and political trends in Du-mond's "Roosevelt to Roosevelt," and Asch's "The Road In Search of America," all of which con be found on the library's shelves this
