County Judge Siegmund, at a meeting of the county court this morning, raised the question of getting the debris hauled away from the property of the old Dremland rink. The building which housed the rink fell under the weight of the snow last winter and the land has been littered with the ruin of the rink ever since. Judge Siegmund said he had referred the matter to the district attorney and County Engineer Hubbs, who is a member of the city zoning commission, said he would call it to the attention of that committee tonight. Aside from the appearance of the debris on the lot it is stated a fire hazard is also raised by its being allowed to remain in its present condition. However, question was raised as to authority to require its removal, which question may be decided by the district attorney.

as governor, and today's appointment was Governor Martin's first supreme court appointment. Justice Campbell died here Friday night of a heart ailment, and was buried Monday in Oregon City. More than 30 applications for the post were received, but Governor Martin accepted none of them until after Justice Campbell's funeral. Justice Campbell was elected for a six-year term in 1930 and was re-elected last year. He was chief justice in 1935 and 1936. Justice Lusk, born in Washington, D. C., in 1883, received his bachelor of laws degree from Georgetown university in 1907. He has lived in Oregon since 1909 and was assistant U. S. attorney in 1919 and 1922. He now is serving his second term as judge of the fourth judicial district of the circuit court. He has a wife and five daughters.

The supreme court adjourned a week ago today to reconvene next September when Justice Lusk assumes his new post.

LABOR BOARD USED TO COERCE INDUSTRIALISTS

Detroit, July 21 (AP)—William J. Cameron of the Ford Motor Co. told members of the National Editorial association today that publicity in the "lash on the whip" being used by political agencies on industrialists that maintain their independence.

"The national labor relations board," he said, "is the agency for this news."

"The federal law," Cameron told the editors, "keels up traveling courts of inquisition. One is sitting in Detroit now, as judge, prosecutor and jury on its own charge. Any findings by the court favorable to industry are given only scant mention by the press, but the ends of the political agencies already have been served."

"This misuse of the press never occurs to an industry that signs up (with Lewis) and many have signed up to avoid legal lynching."

"Newspapers, not achievements, made John L. Lewis," he declared. "Labor has originated nothing in the way of better conditions for workers. All of its ideas have been borrowed from progressive industrialists."

He asserted "there never was a Ford riot; there never was a labor disturbance in the Ford shops, and Ford employees never rioted."

"No firms that are owned by anyone have signed with the union," Cameron said, explaining that he distinguished between stock corporations and firms directed by the owners.

Government reports said Mijsa's men had taken up positions from which they could better defend Villavieja De La Canada.

BRUNEMAN HAS CHANCE TO LIVE

Los Angeles, July 21 (AP)—George (Lea) Bruneman, veteran of the gambling wars, fought for his life against a gunman's bullet today with a gambler's odds to win.

Doctors gave him a "fifty-fifty" chance to survive the bullet fired through his lung by one of two apparently hired assassins who waylaid Bruneman as he strolled on the Redondo beach strand with a pretty blonde Monday night. Bruneman, true to the code he lived by, refused to help police track his assailants. Through clenched teeth he muttered:

"I don't know who did it. I can't give any clues. I don't know nothing."

Four hard-faced, shiftless stalwarts stood guard outside his hospital door, apparently fearing a return visit from the gunman.

Pretty Patricia Estene, 21-year-old model and club hostess, who was with Bruneman when he was shot, lunched with two of the gambler's friends.

"They told me to keep my mouth shut," she said, "or I might get into trouble if I didn't. They said the 'other side' might try to kill me because I was with Lea."

Free Flowers For Shut-Ins

With such a profusion of summer flowers in his garden at 336 North High street that he will have to cut and throw them away, J. Henderson wants to share the blooms with less fortunate persons, particularly patients in hospitals who have no flowers of their own and who cannot afford to buy them.

"Please tell the people who want flowers for hospital patients but who cannot afford to buy them that if they will call at my place I'll cut them the flowers and give them to them," Henderson told the Capital Journal today.

PORTLAND TO ASSIST BANDON

Portland, Ore., July 21 (AP)—Fuller cooperation of the city of Portland in aiding the fire-ravaged town of Bandon to obtain relief funds contingent on gaining a loan from the reconstruction finance corporation was promised in a statement by Mayor Joseph K. Carson disclosed today by E. F. Slade, head of the R.F.C. in Oregon.

Bandon has been promised a $200,000 R. F. C. loan, providing the community acquire a supplementary grant of $117,000 from the works progress administration or from some other source.

Tuesday word was received Bandon might not be able to obtain the necessary relief money, due to employment of all available bona fide relief labor on other projects.

Mayor Carson, however, has offered to try putting relief workers from the Portland area at the service of the coastal town, Slade said. The Portland mayor found precedent for the action in the case of the Wolf creek highway, for which Portland was made an employment center, the R. F. C. director said.

SPOKANE PLANE SERVICE OPENS

Portland, July 21 (AP)—A United Air Lines plane, completing the first round trip of a new service between Portland and Spokane, left at 7:45 a. m. today carrying David L. Simpson of the Portland chamber of commerce and Queen Catherine Collins of the Pendleton roundtrip.

The plane made its first south-bound trip last night, bringing Commissioner A. B. Colburn of Spokane, who presented a wreath to Mayor Joseph K. Carson, Jr., of Portland, from the Spokane city council.

Also in the party were Mayor C. L. Llewellyn of Pendleton, L. Drake, Pendleton editor, and H. T. Anthony and H. Clevinger of Spokane.

The new service includes stops at Pendleton and Walla Walla.

REPORT ON LOSS OF HINDENBURG

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The bureau of air commerce said today that fire, caused by an electrostatic spark which ignited a mixture of free hydrogen and air, "probably" caused the destruction of the dirigible Hindenburg at Lakehurst last May 6. Thirty-six persons were killed in the disaster.

"The cause of the accident was the ignition of a mixture of free hydrogen and air," the bureau's report said. "Based upon the evidence, a leak at, or in the vicinity of cells four and five caused a combustible mixture of hydrogen and air to form in the upper stern part of the ship in considerable quantity, the first appearance of an open flame was on top of the ship and a relatively short distance forward of the upper vertical fin. The theory that a brush discharge ignited such mixture appears most probable."

The report declared that suspicions of sabotage were unsupported by any evidence.

Caroline Patterson, guardian for Clayton Sherman Patterson, minor, has filed her annual account showing receipts of $402.70, disbursements of $326.20 and balance of $76.50.

congratulated the victor and that "we are all going to work for harmony in the democratic party."

Barkley gave out a brief statement saying:

"My policy is to be representative of the administration as well as the senate in working out to the best of my ability the problems that face the party, the administration and the country."

The last ballot counted decided the contest, senators said. Up to the last vote, the two candidates were tied at 37 to 37. When the deciding ballot was announced, there was a burst of applause.

President Roosevelt publicly kept his hands off the contest. Both candidates participated in a legislative conference with him last night.

Both senators have supported the Roosevelt administration on nearly every issue, including court reorganization.

SEEKS PROBE OF INDIAN BUREAU BOARD TO MEET COOS BAY NEXT

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D. Mont.) today proposed an investigation of the office of Indian affairs in the interior department.

Wheeler, author of the Indian reorganization act he now wishes to repeal, commented on the animosity between Senator Dennis Chavez (D. N.M.), and Indian Commissioner John Collier with one brief statement:

"I think there should be an investigation."

The Chavez-Collier cross-fire flared after the high council of the Navajo tribe, claiming to represent 50,000 Indians, wired President Roosevelt asking the removal of Chavez from the senate Indian affairs committee.

Collier then charged the Navajos are "victims of Senator Chavez and a dozen white stockmen who are so unfaithful to their citizenship that they do not pay taxes."

In reply, Chavez declared that Collier "is seeing red" because the appropriation for the bureau of Indian affairs was reduced and that the tribal council did not represent the purported 50,000 Indians. Chavez also said he did not "own or lease one foot of land in the Navajo area."

Wheeler, in a statement before the senate Indian affairs committee recently, charged Collier with "playing in with the lumber companies" and "approving fraudulent contracts."

COUNTY ASKED TO PAY $5808 IN FIRE TAXES

At a prolonged conference this morning between J. W. Ferguson, state forester, District Attorney Page and members of the county court, a bill for $5808.08 filed by the state board of forestry against the county for delinquent fire patrol assessments went unpaid and apparently with nothing to be done about it until the county budget meeting in November. The bill was submitted some time ago. It covering tax delinquencies running back to and including 1925 on lands taken over by the county under foreclosure. These are largely marginal lands along timber belts which are subject to fire patrol tax, although timbered tracts are included. The list covered 87 such tracts on which fire patrol tax has not been paid for about 11 years.

A letter from the state forester states that it is well established by law that this fire patrol tax is a lien which is not invalidated by tax foreclosure and that the county owes it. This was not disputed by District Attorney Page nor county court members. The situation seems to be that the county hasn't the money to pay the bill and there is no provision in the budget to pay it.

A letter submitted also from the Association of Oregon Counties set up a preliminary proposal for all of the counties affected, there being many carrying such delinquencies over a long period. The compromise proposed was that the delinquencies be paid from the sales of land and where sales are less the delinquencies be paid from a pro rata loss. That each county make up a list of its delinquencies and offer the board of forestry 10 per cent of the assessments up to and including 1935 in full satisfaction. That contracts be entered into on a basis of 2 1/2 per cent acre cost to the county for 1936 and 1937 patrol work. The cost to private individuals is 4 1/2 cents per acre. A third compromise was suggested today that for 1937 and 1938 a cost of 4 cents an acre be assessed against county lands.

However, it developed that under the law no one is authorized to make a compromise. On the other hand the district attorney pointed out, there is no way under the law the forestry board can enforce the claim against the county so the situation seemed at a deadlock until the budget committee meets to effect some settlement.
