

FEAR EFFECT OF INVENTIONS IN THE FUTURE

Washington, July 21 (AP)—A picture of the American scene 20 years hence, in which strange new devices dwarf recent inventions, has led President Roosevelt to recommend "continuing surveying agencies" to keep national policies abreast of machine advances.

The national resources committee, aided by scientists and research experts, spread out the result of its scrutiny of far reaching developments, hailed the electric eye as "the greatest invention of the twentieth century," and recommended long time study.

"This report holds out the hope that we can anticipate some of the effects of major inventions," the president said, "and make plans to meet new situations that will arise as these inventions come into widespread use."

Commenting on the effect on labor of industrial changes caused by electrical and mechanical developments, he observed:

"While it is certain that much of the unemployment caused by the march of technical advance is absorbed by new occupations born of new industries, it is equally true that in the meantime labor may pay a very heavy price through the readjustment and adaptation necessary on the part of workers whose jobs are affected by change."

Study of these changes and advances, he said, is "one of our most important American planning problems."

John W. O'Leary, Chicago official of the United States chamber of commerce, declared "the premise of the report is all wrong."

"Facts show that employment has increased rapidly during the last 100 years," he said, "as new machines have been developed more persons have been given jobs."

ELSINORE SHOWS ADVENTURE FILM FOR THREE DAYS

William Powell and Luise Rainer are co-stars in another dramatic adventure story of international intrigue, in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of Baroness Orczy's novel, "The Emperor's Candlesticks," which comes to the Elsinore Theatre for 3 days, starting Thursday. George Fitzmaurice directed. John Considine, Jr., produced.

This romantic novel starts in Vienna after the kidnapping by socialists of Nicholas, last of the Czars, when he was a man of twenty. Powell, as socialist who hates Russia, is commissioned to carry a message offering release of the Czar.

which in exchange for the release of socialist prisoners.

He hides his papers in one of a pair of candlesticks once used for this purpose by Marie Antoinette. Miss Rainer as a secret agent for the Russian police conceals papers in the other candlestick. The story then revolves into an exciting race between these two for the candlesticks which are stolen by thieves who do not know of the papers within them.

The second feature on the program is "Rhythm in the Clouds."

Freddie Steele in Non-Title Battle

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele of Tacoma, Wash., makes his 14th start since winning the championship tonight in a 10-round non-title match with Charlie (Hobo) Williams of Alexandria, Va.

The contest, scheduled for last night, was postponed because of rain. Steele weighed 161½, and Williams a quarter of a pound more.

JOSE ITURBI ON CONCERT SLATE

Here is a "scoop" Northwest music lovers are to have the joy of hearing the great Jose Iturbi conduct the Stadium Philharmonic next Monday evening when he will be beautiful Nancy Thielen, whose glorious soprano voice will add much to the keen enjoyment of this outstanding concert.

Miss Thielen will sing two groups of songs with the orchestra: "Ritorna Vincitor" from "Aida" and "When I have Sung My Song" by Ernest Charles, and "Ouvre Ton Coeur" from "Carmen" and "O, Lovely Night" by Ronald. The rich timbre of Miss Thielen's voice is well adapted to these numbers, all of which will be sung with orchestral accompaniment.

Because Miss Thielen is a former Salem girl, the concert Monday night will salute Salem and sister Willamette valley cities who like to claim the artist. Besides the capital city, these will include Albany, Silverton and Woodburn. Special sections of the grandstand have been arranged for the large groups who will attend from each.
