

SUPERVISION OF PAWLES SHOULD BE RECIPROCATE

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 4 (AP)—A proposal for reciprocal arrangements between states for supervision of persons on parole from prisons was presented at yesterday's session of the western states parole and probation association.

Ira H. Masters, Idaho's secretary of state, told the conference that if "we do not do a better job it may not be long before the federal government steps in."

Masters, secretary of the Idaho state prison commission, was named chairman of the organization's committee on reciprocal parole relations. He said 93 percent of Idaho's prison population represents non-residents. In many instances, he said, when a convict is to be released, other states where he could be returned to prison for parole violation show no interest because of the expense involved.

The Idaho official expressed the belief some system should be effected to delay release of prisoners unless they had a job or home awaiting them.

Masters discussed the situation at the association's luncheon, after which the delegates were scheduled to visit San Quentin prison and the San Francisco county jail.

A trip to Alcatraz federal island prison, listed on the program, will not be made. Warden James A. Johnston explained Alcatraz had no facilities for such a group visit, but added the officials would be welcomed individually.

Dr. David G. Schmidt, psychiatrist at California's San Quentin prison, presented statistics which he said showed the "impossibility" of the parole system with a certain group of prisoners, and the "improbability" of success with another group.

Schmidt said there was a two-thirds chance for success with the best group. He said experience at the prison showed narcotic-addicts were not worth risking on parole, because 99 percent would be convicted again.

He also said three out of four convicts with prior convictions if given paroles would be returned to the penitentiary.

The official suggested establishment of receiving depots for persons after their court conviction, to permit grouping and aid in the work of rehabilitation.

MINIMUM WAGE HELD LOW ENOUGH

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt said Tuesday in discussing the wage and hour bill that he favored the principles of retaining collective bargaining and doing nothing to fix wages lower than the prevailing rate in a locality.

He also favored, he said, independent operation of the Walsh-Healey act, under which standards for government contractors are fixed. One section of the bill as it now stands would put Walsh-Healey wage-hour provisions under administration of the proposed new labor standards board.

The president said he had not read amendments to the bill proposed by the American Federation of Labor.

METHODIST CARNIVAL SUCCEEDS AT CANBY

Aurora—The carnival sponsored by the Epworth League of the Canby Methodist church proved to be a financial success. The booths consisted of "Freaks of Nature," "Dart Throw," "Fortune Telling," "Fish Pond," "Trip to Mars," "Throw at the Kitty."

A program by a "phonharmonic" orchestra made up of combs, saxophone, trumpets, nose organ, harmonical, thimbles on washboard, jug, and piano, played eleven numbers. Rev. Malcolm Ballinger, Curtis Johnson, Keith and Kent Markee, supplemented by a trumpet fanfare. John Brewer, Hal Cattle, Doris Cattle, Clarence Eld, Jr., and Viola Lent were also included on the program.

Heavy Motor Convoys Transport Soldiers to Concentration Points

Fort Lewis, August 4—"War is declared!" Already heavy motor convoys are rumbling into concentration points in the middle west. Station platforms are crowded with troops in uniforms, waiting for the special troop trains that will carry them to their destinations.

George Wright and Missoula; 7th Infantry (less headquarters 2nd battalion and companies E and F) from Vancouver Barracks, Wash.; Hq. and Hq. Battery, 3rd field artillery brigade, 10th field artillery and 1st battalion of the 8th field artillery, and the 2nd battalion, 6th engineers, all of Fort Lewis; the 6th engineers (less 2nd Bn.) from Fort Lawton, Wash.

The 63rd coast artillery with 2nd platoon, Company E, 3rd quartermaster regiment attached, from Fort McArthur, San Pedro, Calif.; 91st observation squadron, air corps; detachment 3rd quartermaster regiment; detachment 3rd medical regiment, and 3rd balloon squadron, air corps, all of Fort Lewis, Wash.; 41st division, national guard, from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming; 11th observation squadron, air corps, and 116th photo section, air corps, Washington national guard; and state staffs and detachments of Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Washington and Oregon. In addition to the above the headquarters troops, 24th cavalry division, will also be present.

Two particular events have been planned for the special benefit of the general public. One of these events will take place on Saturday afternoon, August 21, when the entire force concentrated in this area, will pass in field review. This will be the most spectacular parade seen in the northwest since the days of the World War. Arrangements are being made to accommodate many thousands of visitors on that day, and the review will be so conducted that everyone will have a good view of it. The second interesting event will be an anti-aircraft artillery demonstration which will take place Sunday evening, August 22. Further details will be announced later but it is suggested that "Mr. and Mrs. Northwest America" check those two dates on their calendars, now, and plan to visit Fort Lewis on those dates.

The following named organizations will be at the Fort Lewis-Camp Murray concentration: Headquarters 3rd division, Fort Lewis; Special troops, 3rd division, Fort Lewis; headquarters and headquarters company, 5th brigade, Vancouver Barracks, Wash.; 4th Infantry (less 3rd battalion) from Forts

GRAND COULEE CIO PRESENTS APPEAL

Grand Coulee, Wash., Aug. 4 (AP)—The executive board of the CIO union local reported yesterday it had appealed to President Roosevelt and other high administration officials to "immediately close" the gigantic Grand Coulee dam construction project pending an investigation of a "shut out" of all non-AFL unions by the contractors.

The M-W-A-K company announced last week the signing of an exclusive "closed shop" agreement with the American federation of labor.

TWENTIETH BIRTHDAY DATE IS CELEBRATED

Lincoln—A group of 20 friends of Ida Mae McKinney surprised her with a party honoring her 20th birthday anniversary, Saturday night. Featured at lunch was a cake, topped by 20 candles, which was made by Miss McKinney's sister, Mrs. Victor Utterback. The young folk enjoyed various games played on the lawn.

Included in the guest list were the honor guest, Ida Mae McKinney, Ruth Shepard, Joe Shepard, Ila Ann and Julian Stratton, Robert and Arthur Yungen, Gladys Crawford, Doris Windsor, Vernon Merriek, Loren Swenwald, Mr. and Mrs. Marilyn Hadley, of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Utterback and son Raymond, Olive Jory, Betty and Mary Jo Worthington, Perl and Verle McKinney and Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKinney.

CONTROL OF CROPS HELD INEVITABLE

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt contended yesterday that crop control, such as that ended by supreme court invalidation of the agricultural adjustment act, was inevitable and that the country was going to demand it.

Commenting at a press conference on what a reported called agitation in the south to stabilize cotton prices, the President said he was not going to ask congress to lend money on cotton or any other surplus crop until surplus control legislation could go along with it.

He added that applied to wheat, corn and hogs and other major crops. When control is again on the statute books, Mr. Roosevelt said, efforts would be made then to improve prices and keep them stabilized.

He said crop control was absolutely inevitable lest the nation wreck its entire economic structure.

UNION THREATENS TRUCK INDUSTRY

Philadelphia, Aug. 4 (AP)—Union leaders, threatening paralysis of the city's trucking industry, refused Mayor S. Davis Wilson's "last chance" offer to set up a board of arbitration and demanded federal conciliation.

Meantime, 5000 striking fruit, produce and department store truck drivers halted delivery of food and caused fear of an acute food shortage if tons of produce are not released from strike-locked terminals and wharves.

Edward S. Crumback, secretary and treasurer of the international teamsters' union sponsoring the strike, said he had "lost faith" in Mayor Wilson and demanded that Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady be authorized to settle the strike.
