FATHER AND SON STAGE BIG PARTY

Independence — Charles Homer Ramsdell and son, Guy Alvin Ramsdell, 21, went on a "bender" and landed in jail after being heard in local justice court. Each received a 30-day sentence and a $35 fine for having stolen chickens from a farmer north of town while they were in an intoxicated condition.

They were returning from a dance in Salem, having a woman in the car with them, and decided that they ought to finish up the day with a chicken feed. When nearing Independence the man at the wheel "passed out" and they landed full force against a telephone pole just outside the city limits, crashing their car and breaking the pole off several feet up from the ground.

Suffering from wounds and bruises, they were found in this condition by officers and taken to Independence, where medical aid was summoned. Upon further investigation several chickens were found in the car, with their necks wrung, but yet warm. One only was alive of the nine and this gave the officers a clue to the theft.

JEFFERSON TAX LEVY APPROVED FOR BUILDING

Jefferson—Voters of school district No. 14 passed the tax levy 63 to 9 at the special election held in the schoolhouse. The election was for the purpose of raising $5,400 in order to meet the PWA application for grant to build and equip a new combined grand and high school building. The increase in the tax levy was necessitated because of the rise in building costs since the vote last December.

A. W. Brown, board chairman, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Margaret Hutchings, school clerk, and Mrs. C. J. Thurston and Mrs. Guy Roland, judges, were in charge of the balloting.

The question of whether this new building would be fireproof was brought up at the meeting and C. N. Freeman, architect, said that because of higher building costs at the present time, fireproof construction was doubtful. Calls for bids on the three types of construction—cement, hollow tile and brick veneer—will be advertised and bids on the first two types will be given preference if they are within the $48,000 alloted for construction. If not, a one-story building with brick front will be built.

However, if it is found that the brick front type of building is all that the school district can build with the money voted, the one-story building with hot water heating plant will minimize the fire hazard as compared to that of the present two-story building, with oil-soaked floors and stairways and the present heating system.

Freeman felt that the PWA grant as now certain of being made, since the vote at this meeting met requirements of the grant, and as soon as notice is received from PWA headquarters, the preliminary work of advertising for bids on the work, etc., will be made and its construction will go forward as quickly as possible.

Water Regatta Queen Contest Nearing Close

West Salem—With but four more vote-securing days left, Gloria Cottew still leads the field of nine girls in the popularity poll for queen of the first annual West Salem water regatta, which will receive its maiden-launching next Tuesday.

Trailing Miss Cottew are Georgia Cook, Belle Coupe, Sylvia Coupe, Alice Goffrier, Alice Mae Wishard, Benneth Frederich, Jane Moltzner, and Joyce Bryant, in that order. These girls are selling popularity buttons which entitle the purchaser to five single admissions to the regatta, and the girl making the sale to 100 votes.

Six contestants have signified their intentions of competing in the boat racing events. They are Howard Smith, Clyle Grewell, W. J. Roth, Joe Young, Walt Lotis and Clifford Ement. Bus Byers, Salem Texaco distributor, will be on the water with his "Texaco Kid" to challenge all boats, and the "Maid of Salem" will contract pleasure rides.

"Timber," huge German shepherd from the Timber Del ranch, will perform daily during the carnival. His special act is a "rear handstand" on an aquaplane—a feat no other dog is known to have done. The Sons of Neptune, fancy divers and water stunters from Portland, are also billed.

The Community club, sponsor of the regatta, believes the program put together by it will prove to be a worthwhile show and it is the club's hope that an annual event can be made of it.
