

DR. Fitzgerald, Pioneer, Dies At Woodburn

Woodburn—Dr. Peter Henry Fitzgerald, prominent in Oregon medical circles, passed away Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Mary Hirschberger, a sister, 335 Third street, with whom he had resided for the past ten years.

Dr. Fitzgerald was born March 14, 1858, on the Thomas Fitzgerald land claim at Belle Pass, the son of Thomas and Mary Fitzgerald, pioneers of 1847.

He attended Willamette university and Portland Medical college and practiced medicine in eastern Oregon, where he was a physician for the Umatilla Indian Reservation. He later operated a drug store and practiced medicine at Gervais for thirty years. He was superintendent of the state Tuberculosis hospital for three years.

He studied extensively in Berlin and Vienna, leaving Europe in 1914 and locating in Portland. He was active in the activities of the State Board of Health, especially during the influenza epidemic in 1918. He served as medical officer for the Alaska Steamship company, traveling north and also to the Orient. Dr. Fitzgerald was a linguist of some note, speaking English, French, Spanish and Italian fluently.

He is survived by Miss Mary Hirschberger, with whom he lived; a niece, Mary Scollard, and two nephews, Cecil and Edwin Scollard.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Luke's Catholic church, interment in St. Luke's cemetery. Beecher and O'Hair are in charge.

Popular Feature Picture Held Over

Music, music, music everywhere with Leopold Stokowski, Deanna Durbin, and a glorious symphony of 100 men pouring forth their souls in the great entertainment treat, "100 Men and a Girl." Salem audiences have been thrilled by this unbeatable combination at the Edmore for the past three days. In fact the response has been so tremendous that Manager Carl Porter has arranged with the producers to hold the pictures two additional days, closing Thursday night.

The glorious voice of diminutive Deanna Durbin was never more charmingly presented than with this DEATH'S LEFT-OVERS, ORPHANS OF WAR, these children of soldiers and non-combatants were herded together in huge refugee camps near Peiping, China, to await whatever fate may bring them. After the fighting some were returned to relatives, but most of the lots will find their homes in ruins, their families missing or dead. In the meantime they present a pathetic sight, left to shift pretty much for themselves while others are engaged in bitter conflict. Note the girl in the center, carrying a smaller child in her arms.

Enrollment at Schools Increased

Registration of pupils at the Sacred Heart academy and the St. Vincent de Paul school, both under the direction of the Sisters of the academy, indicates a decided increase over the last school year. It was announced by Sister Mary Basilla, superior, Wednesday.

At the academy, enrollment shows 170 in the grade branches and 100 in the high school, a noticeable increase in the latter department.

The St. Vincent school in the Hollywood district has a registration of 102. With the close of the harvesting season many additional registrations are expected at both schools, according to announcement of Sister Mary Basilla.

Way Cleared for Cazadero Fishway

The way was clear today for construction of fishways around the Portland Electric Power company's Cazadero dam on the Clackamas river when the state fish and game commission withdrew opposition to the proposal, Governor Martin said today.

The company will spend $15,000 for the fishways and screening for the turbines to prevent fingerlings from being destroyed in the turbines.

The governor said good fishing would be restored in "one of the finest fishing streams in the world."

Moline Lifted His Voice in Song

Albany—John Moline, Corvallis, lifted his voice in what he thought was song, but chose the wrong place to do it Monday—as he was impelled to sing loudly in front of the city hall. This was a grave mistake, for Chief of Police Perry Sielmacher was not soothed by the renditions outside his window. The chief took Moline into custody.

Soon the Corvallis man's son reported to police headquarters that his father was missing. Moline, after the son had paid a $10 recovery fine, was liberated to the care of his heir.

Change in Weather Cuts Fire Hazard

Mist, southerly winds and fog along the coast today cut down the high fire hazard that existed in Oregon Monday and Tuesday, the state forestry department reported.

There were no bad fires in the state today. A few small blazes were well under control.

The humidity was much higher, due mainly to the change of wind from the hot, dry blast that came down from the north earlier in the week.

Forests will probably remain closed longer than usual this fall.

Martin to Speak To Logging Men

Governor Martin will leave here early tomorrow for Seaside to address the Pacific Loggers congress, and will join other members of the board of control Friday in Pendleton, where they will attend the roundup.

Secretary of State Earl Snell and State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman will hold a board meeting tomorrow at Eastern Oregon Tuberculosis hospital at The Dalles to draw up final plans for the $175,000 PWA construction project at the hospital.

The three members will meet at the Eastern Oregon hospital at Pendleton on Friday.

Funeral Held at Chapel in Salem

Lyons — Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Clough-Barrick funeral home for L. C. Brotherton, who passed away at the Deaconess hospital in Salem Saturday morning following a lingering illness. He had lived near this community for years. He is survived by one son, Donald, of Lyons, sister, Mrs. Roda Trask, of Albany, and a brother, Will Brotherton, of Medford.

Seek to Rent Portion of Old School Building

The unemployment compensation commission, represented by D. A. Bulmore, director; Ralph H. Campbell, assistant attorney general; J. D. Berwick, comptroller, and C. K. Bell, equipment manager, approached the Salem school board last night in connection with the renting of several rooms on the second floor of the old high school building for a period of one or two years. The commission has outgrown its quarters in the state office building and is seeking more space. Chairman Cupper and the building and grounds committee were named to dicker with the commission.

In placing his tentative proposal before the board, Bulmore said that the commission expected to take on 100 additional employes by the first of next year. Due to the fact that considerable alteration work would be necessary to place the high school in condition for the commission, cost in the neighborhood of $3800 which would be borne by the board. The commission would pay approximately $7000 a year for the space required. However, the board would provide janitor service, heat, light and water.

The board agreed to a proposed space change near the new high school sought by Mrs. Ellis C. Williams who owns property at Garnet and 14th street, providing the latter would fulfill her promise of erecting two apartment houses. In a letter to the zoning committee she stated she will use brick in the proposed apartments.

The request of Mrs. Christine Buttick who wishes to establish a popcorn wagon across 14th street from the main entrance of the high school was rejected. The board did not feel it could make exceptions in her case.

New Elevator For Oddfellows

A dream of 30 years is coming true when tonight Chemeketa chapter, No. 1, I. O. O. F., will dedicate the new elevator in their building at High and Court streets. Thirty years ago a member of the lodge, whose name has been lost in the mists of time, donated a small amount of money to the lodge to establish an elevator fund. During the period the fund was slowly enhanced and last week the elevator was completed and ready for operation.

Tonight following a banquet which starts at 6:15 o'clock, Grand Master Howard K. Zimmerman and the two oldest Odd Fellow members of the lodge at the banquet, will descend in the elevator and declare it officially dedicated, after which Grand Master Zimmerman will make his official visit to the lodge.

The banquet tonight will honor all of the living trustees of the lodge of which there are eleven. The present trustees are Carl Engstrom, chairman; William Gardner, secretary; and Lawrence Scheelar. Carl Engstrom is in the east attending the national convention of the organization but a telegram has been sent to him expressing the best wishes of the lodge.

Other features than those enumerated will be on the program, including musical numbers, the whole affair having been arranged by a committee consisting of Walter Lamkin, chairman; Thomas McLeod and Dwight Lear.
