

New Highway Link Dedicated

Ashland, Ore., Oct. 21 (AP)—A new link in the Pacific highway from here to just below the summit of the Siskiyou mountains, opened to travel a few weeks ago, was formally dedicated late yesterday.

Henry F. Cabell, chairman of the state highway commission who officiated at the dedication ceremonies, assured a crowd of approximately 300 that the 11 miles of wide new concrete would be supplemented with another 7.63 miles (to the California line) as soon as funds were available.

The new route cuts 3.4 miles from the old twisting route up the Siskiyou, and eliminates all short curves. The old Siskiyou route had long been considered one of the worst
