Reed Teacher Attack Victim

Portland, Ore., Oct. 21 (AP)—Police started an intensive search today for the mad pajama-clad attacker of Winifred Ayres, 23 year old assistant instructor in Reed college health department.

Miss Ayres was struck over the head several times with a milk bottle early today while she slept in her room at Anna Mann cottage, one of the women's campus dormitories. She was taken to Good Samaritan hospital suffering from severe face and head lacerations.

According to Mrs. Meredith Bailey, college dean of women, several of the girl students at the college saw the attacker, but were unable to tell whether the person was a man or woman.

They described the assailant as being 5 feet 10 inches tall, with a smooth face, straight blond hair combed straight back in a manish type haircut. The person was about 20 years old, wore red plaid pajamas and a polo coat. Police indicated they sought a Reed college graduate for questioning.

The intruder entered the dormitory through an open window, and pummeled Miss Ayres until the milk bottle broke, police said.

'Walking Bank' Under Arrest

Burlington, Ia., Oct. 21 (AP)—William C. Kurrie, banker-sportsman held for alleged embezzlement of $400,000 from the First National bank of Burlington, today was turned over to Deputy U. S. Marshal Charles Antles who had a federal warrant for his arrest.

Kurrie, assistant cashier who police described as a "walking bank," was taken to Kookuk for arraignment.

Under a writ of attachment, Kurrie's safety deposit box was opened and officers said several hundred certificates of deposit were found. They said the certificates were in various amounts, ranging from $75 to $15,000.

Police said Kurrie has declined to make any statement other than admitting a letter which admitted the embezzlement of $400,000 was authentic—that is that it was written by him. Homer Banta, bank director and Charles I. Danforth, director and vice-president, quoted Kurrie as saying about the letter—"Oh, I wrote that when I was peevish. There's nothing to it."

The secretary, whose department controls the PWA and housing projects which the duke and his duchess expect to inspect next month, said that he told Bedaux that the duke's representatives will "have to work out the itinerary and publicity."

The duke has emphasized that his American tour will be made as an "individual," and in no official capacity.

Well Rounded Diet Health Guarantee

Matters pertaining to the diet received an impetus during the World war and, as a result, many and weird are the questions asked of the American Medical association. Dr. W. W. Bauer, director of the bureau of health and public instruction and editor of "Hygiene," told a combined meeting of the service clubs of the city today noon. Dr. Bauer's talk was based upon the thousands of problems placed before the journal of the medical association. Diet comes first in the number of queries, followed by advice pertaining to weight, beauty and sex, he said.

Between 10,000 and 12,000 letters are received every year with many based upon popular and, as the speaker said, groundless superstitions. One of these, he said, was that aluminum utensils tend to produce cancer and that canned foods are "dead" foods. Dr. Bauer, touching upon vitamins and minerals, said that many asserted remedies are rackets, declaring that the assertion that personally depends upon minerals is the height of nonsense. Healthy people do not need worry about deficiencies if they follow a well-rounded diet and that there is no need to supply fancied deficiencies through the purchase of capsules. The nation has become jittery about vitamins, he added.

Many requests are received concerning cosmetics, hair dyes and soaps. Under no circumstance should dye be applied to the eyebrows or lashes, Dr. Bauer said, and the only safe way is to consult a professional person following a "patch" test, which reveals if the skin is susceptible to any poison.

In conclusion, the speaker declared that socialization of medicine violates the fundamentals of professional confidence, prevents free and untrammeled selection of a physician and creates bureaucratic red tape, relegating the medical man to a "keeper of records and a dispenser of pills."

State College Buildings Smeared

Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 21 (AP)—The words "U. of O." and "University of Oregon" smeared campus structures at Oregon State college this morning.

Painted in green, red, black and white, the words stood out on more than half a dozen buildings, several walks, fountains, the flagpole and band stand.

College authorities expressed no opinions as to who the vandals were. T. P. Jackson, superintendent of buildings, reported it cost the college about $250 to remove paint slapped on the campus buildings and walks prior to the Oregon-Oregon State football game last year.

Attempts to Bomb British Policemen

Jerusalem, Oct. 21 (AP)—Authorities searched today for a man who attempted to bomb a bus carrying British policemen.

The policemen were en route to their camp at Mt. Scopus, near Jerusalem when the attempted bombing occurred. The bomb exploded prematurely, blowing off the thrower's arm. He escaped nevertheless and police dogs were put on his trail.

The authorities, meanwhile, imposed a collective fine of $10,000 on a tribe of desert Bedouins living in the vicinity of Dahrien for an attack on a police station there two days ago.

Bruria Gomboss, and alleged woman Jewish communist agent, was deported to Roumania.

The family came to San Diego two weeks ago because of Stebinger's ill health. It was said.

Labor Blamed for Slack Shipping

Portland, Oct. 21 (AP)—Governor Charles Martin, alarmed by declines of Pacific coast shipping, blamed the troubles of the steamship industry to labor difficulties.

He spoke before the Portland Propeller club last night.

The governor said approximately 60,000 persons will be on the state relief rolls this winter. Commenting on demands for more assistance, the governor added that a boost of $5 per person each month would increase the relief cost $3,500,000 a year, a sum equal to the state government's expenses annually.

Two Burglars Captured by Witnesses

While two men with a rifle stood guard over a burglar who was cornered in a house shortly before noon today, a third man drove to police headquarters and reported. A few minutes later two men were in custody, Edward Drowsowsky, who was in the house, and his pal, William Reay, taken at the nearby railroad yards, but who had previously broken into the house with Drowsowsky.

William Lehman, 1740 Oxford, and William Keeney, 1445 Trade, told officers they had seen two men enter a house at 1400 Oxford. Lehman armed himself with a rifle and he and Keeney stood guard. Hailing a passing automobile they requested the driver to inform police. The driver, whose name was not learned, drove to headquarters and jowl cars were immediately informed by police radio.

Officer George Edwards drove to the Oxford street address, a house in which a man lives alone, and who was away at the time. His name was not found out. In some way Reay had got out of the house and eluded Lehman and Keeney. The two latter told Officer Edwards that one of the men was under a bed in the house. Edwards went in and found Drowsowsky sitting in a chair.

"Here I am," he said to the officer.

He added that his pal had entered the house with him and was now over at the railroad. Edwards drove to the tracks with Drowsowsky who pointed out Reay, and both were brought in. They said they wanted to be put in jail because they could get no work.

Drowsowsky said he had done time in Washington state reform story at Monroe and that Reay had done time in Oregon state penitentiary. A check of state prison records shows that one William Reay—the name being spelled slightly different from the way it was given the police—was sent up from Klamath county for livestock theft, being released in 1935.

Teamsters Union After Salesmen

Los Angeles, Oct. 21 (AP)—Even the salesman who drives a company-owned automobile was included today in the teamsters' union drive to unionize "everything on wheels" in 11 western states.

The drive, led by Dave Beck of Seattle, teamsters and A. F. of L. chieftain, was widened greatly by a series of resolutions adopted last night by the western conference of teamsters.

Resolutions called for unionization of the cleaning and dying truckers, filling station employes, newspaper circulation workers, parcel post employes, and all salesmen who use "company cars" in soliciting business.

The German Luft-Hansa airline carried 140,000 passengers in the first six months of this year, an increase of 28,000 over 1936.
