

Scout Camporee Set For May; Stayton is Host

Lebanon—Boy Scouts of Troop 51 and 30 of Lebanon are making preparations to join others of the Cascade Area council for a three-day camporee at Stayton May 13, 14 and 15, under the direction of their advisors, Carl Merryman, Albert Simmons, and Dr. G. K. Crain. Practically the entire membership of the local troops plan to be in attendance at this event.

Troop 51 under Mr. Simons, is busy constructing tents of unbleached muslin which after treatment with a chemical waterproofing medium, will furnish adequate shelter for three boys. This same troop is also busy constructing reflecting ovens which will bake any kind of hot bread or pastries when used over an open fire.

Each troop will receive an A or B rating on its ability in camporee, care of equipment and general ability at Scout work. For several years the local troops have received top honors in this inspection and they are very busy preparing to maintain the same high standard.

Scouts Get Advancement

Lebanon—A large crowd turned out in the K. of P. hall Friday evening to see several members of Lebanon's two troops of Boy Scouts win advancement in rank and merit badges.
