

2 Aged Persons Found Dead In Their Homes

Silverton, Ore., March 21 (AP)—Two aged persons, Mrs. Alvina Rich Loshner of Scotts Mills, and Charles William Alexander of Silverton Hills, were found dead at their homes during the week-end.

Mrs. Loshner was found Sunday night by relatives. She is believed to have died Saturday night. She is survived by a son, Fred Loshner of South Dakota; two brothers, Albert Rich of Webster, S. Dak.; and one sister, Hattie Planders of Webster, S. Dak.

Funeral arrangements are to be made by Larson & Son.

Mr. Alexander died Sunday night at his home in Silverton Hills. His son, Bruce Alexander, found him asleep in a chair and did not disturb him. Returning about an hour and a half later he found his father dead.

He was a Spanish war veteran and active in grant and civic affairs. He was born June 28, 1869, at Bellevue, Ohio. For about 30 years he had lived in Silverton Hills.

He is survived by four daughters, Grace Reinhardt, Lois Taranoff, Fern King and Ruth Hadley, all of Silverton Hills; one son, Bruce, with whom he lived; two brothers, John and Frank, both of Bellevue, Ohio. His wife died seven years ago. Funeral announcements will be made by Larson & Son.

can democracy. The Americanism program is educational in character and is divided into three phases—work with the youth, the adult and the community.

A thorough knowledge of the Constitution of the United States is held to be necessary to every citizen. Believing that many loyal and earnest citizens may be misled through lack of proper knowledge of the fundamentals of our government and that for which the Constitution stands, the American Legion auxiliary is emphasizing the study of the Constitution. This year, since we are celebrating its 150th anniversary, the Constitution is being studied at each meeting. On Constitution day, Judge Rossman delivered a commemorative address to the auxiliary members.

The auxiliary observes all patriotic holidays in their Unit meetings, cooperates with the American Legion and other groups in the observance of National Education week, and donates patriotic literature to schools and libraries. In conjunction with the American Legion, speakers are furnished for public patriotic occasions. The committee is keeping in close contact with the naturalization classes so that assistance may be given when needed.

A flag code contest, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, has just been completed in the Salem grade schools. 375 flag codes were submitted and corrected by the committee. Washington school won the award, an American flag, for the third consecutive year. Through the Junior auxiliary, composed of 34 girls ranging from six and eighteen years, the auxiliary is carrying forward many Americanism projects and instilling the principles of true Americanism, by combatting all the subversive elements active at work today in the United States, such as communism, fascism and nazism.

Americanism Themes Of Many Activities

Americanism is one of the major factors in the program of the American Legion auxiliary and the Americanism committee of Capital Unit No. 9 is ever alert to its many activities.

"What is Americanism?" Mrs. Ernest Barey, national Americanism chairman of the American Legion auxiliary, defines it in this way: "Americanism is that mode of life dedicated to service to our country and the adherence to the standards and institutions belonging to that which is American."

The Americanism committee of Capital Unit consists of Mrs. E. W. Richey, chairman, Mrs. E. M. Bradford, Mrs. Waldard Rippea, Mrs. Irl McSherry and Mrs. A. S. Johnson. The work of this committee includes all activities pertaining to the perpetuation of American ideals and upholding the principles of Americanism.

Dan W. Tarpley Dies in Portland

Dan W. Tarpley, who for many years was employed in the secretary's office, died in the veterans' hospital in Portland on Sunday morning. For a number of years he had not been active, because of ill health.

Mr. Tarpley was born at Silverton, but lived in Salem most of his life. He was with an engineering division during the war and his ill health dated to war days. He was a member of the American Legion.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Belle Fleming and Mrs. Henry Lee of Salem; a brother, L. H. Tarpley of Salem; two nephews, Donald Tarpley of Salem, and a niece, Patricia Lee of Salem.

Christian Science services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Rigdon chapel.

Mrs. Lawrence Smith Bridge Club Hostess

Dallas—Mrs. Lawrence Smith was hostess to a club group at her home Friday afternoon. The afternoon was spent at bridge and at the conclusion of the play prizes for high scores were presented to Mrs. Jack Eakin, first, and Mrs. E. Bossatti, second.

A tea hour followed. Guests of the club were Mrs. J. C. Tracy, Mrs. Ivan E. Warner and Mrs. Bossatti.

Members present were Mrs. Ray Scott, Mrs. J. A. Inglis, Mrs. Eakin, Mrs. Cecil Dunn, Mrs. V. O. Williams, Mrs. Carl Gerlinger, Jr., Mrs. John Kitzmiller, Mrs. Bruce Spaulding, Mrs. H. E. Pinkerton, Mrs. William Swindells and the hostess.

Mrs. Spaulding will be at home to the group in April.

Sarah Hunt Steeves Club Speaker

Liberty — The Liberty Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. Victor Ballantyne Thursday afternoon, with vice-president, Lola Seeger, presiding. Roll call was answered with information about some Oregon birds.

During a short business meeting club members voted to give a 4-H club scholarship to the 4-H Summer school at Corvallis.

Mrs. Roland Seeger and Mrs. John Dauch, who attended the meeting in Salem last week, for those interested in hot lunches, reported a very interesting meeting and a number of good ideas learned for next year. One idea they thought especially helpful was a pound party, or having everyone donate a pound of something that isn't usually donated for hot lunches and has to be bought, such as sugar and cocoa.

Mrs. Sarah Hunt Steeves was a guest of the club and read "Old Aunt Lou," one of her own real life short stories.

Those present were Mrs. Sarah Hunt Steeves, Mrs. W. R. Dallas, Catherine Dallas, Mrs. John Dauch, Mrs. Lola Seeger, Mrs. C. W. Stacey, Mrs. W. W. Westenhouser, Mrs. Lon Shuttleworth, Mrs. Dorothy Seeger, Mrs. Weir, Julietta Dykes, Mrs. Vernon Decatur, Mrs. Charles Kroyer, Mrs. Mary Seeger, Mrs. R. C. Jager, Mrs. J. Fair, Mrs. G. Hisey, Mrs. E. C. Free, Mrs. Mason Bishop, Mrs. B. Ballantyne.

Decorations were in St. Patrick's day motif and Mrs. Ballantyne was assisted in serving by Mrs. Mason Bishop.

Funeral for Mrs. Patterson 3 p. m. Tuesday

Funeral services will be held at the W. T. Rigdon chapel for Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson, 76, widow of the former Oregon governor, at 3 p. m. Tuesday, March 22. Interment will follow at the Mt. Crest Abbey mausoleum.

Mrs. Patterson died Sunday at the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland. She had been ill about a week with pneumonia.

Mary Woodworth was born in Salem, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Woodworth, who emigrated to the Oregon country from Vermont and settled in the Willamette valley in 1822. She received her early education at the Sacred Heart academy. In 1882 she was married to Isaac Lee Patterson.

During her years in Salem Mrs. Patterson was exceptionally active in the affairs of Chemeketa chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. She was an honorary member of the chapter. She was also closely identified with the Oregon chapter of the Colonial Dames and the Oregon Historical society.

Mrs. Patterson played an active part in the affairs of Republican women in Oregon. She was also very much interested in the 4-H groups and each year presented the Isaac Lee Patterson memorial trophy to the most outstanding work done by a 4-H member at the Oregon state fair.

Mrs. Patterson was deeply interested in the history of Oregon and for a time served as custodian of the Champeo Memorial cabin. She knew much about antiques and studied and collected typical Oregon flowers.

Survivors include two sons, Phillips and Isaac Lee Patterson, Jr.; two brothers, C. B. Woodworth of Portland and W. G. Woodworth of New York. Two grandchildren in Portland also survive.

Palbearers will include Frank Derby, Earl Snell, Henry W. Meyers, Major General George A. White, Brigadier General Thomas Riley, Lieut. Colonel Clifton Irwin, Frank Moore, Phillip Jackson, John L. Day, Lieut. Commander Nelson Hibbs, Phil Metcahan and Judge James A. Fee.

Portland General Electric Company

ELECTRIC BUILDING
PORTLAND, OREGON
March 16, 1938

To the Voters of the Proposed Northwest Oregon Bonneville People's Utility District:

ALL SAVINGS DERIVED FROM PURCHASE OF BONNEVILLE ENERGY WILL BE PASSED ON TO OUR CUSTOMERS.

The citizens of Oregon and especially those within reasonable transmission distance from Bonneville desire to secure for themselves any savings that may reasonably be expected from utilization of the output of Bonneville. It should be of interest to you what such savings may represent and how they may be best secured without loss of any advantages the consumers now enjoy.

The two principal elements of cost in producing hydro electric energy are interest and taxes. Comparatively few men are required to operate and the plant will consume no expensive materials. Ordinarily, interest must be earned upon the entire investment in a hydro electric plant if such a plant were built by private capital. In the case of Bonneville, the interest rate proposed is only 3 1/2% and such interest will be computed upon only $11,682,400 of the total present investment of $53,188,800. Not one dollar of the Federal investment at Bonneville will be subject to taxation.

The Government by allocating $42,000,000 of the present investment to navigation and by exempting its property from taxation will have an annual fixed charge of $2,905,380 less than would be paid if the plant were built by private capital. It is due to figuring interest on less than one-fourth the present investment, and entire freedom from taxation that makes possible the low cost of generating Bonneville power of which you have heard so much.

Mr. Ross, Administrator of the Bonneville project, has repeatedly declared that the cost of generation of electric energy is a very small fraction of the total cost of delivering the energy to the meter of the average consumer and he has said, as might be expected from any competent electrical engineer, that if the cost of generation were nothing it would mean only a few mills per kilowatt hour in the charge made to the average consumer; he correctly states that by far the greater cost is in transmission and distribution, which, in the case of the domestic customers of the Seattle municipal plant, Mr. Ross declares to be about seven times the cost of generation.

This company and its subsidiaries, Yamhill Electric Company and Molella Electric Company, will pass on to its and their customers any and all savings that may result from the purchase of Bonneville energy. We are interested in the progressive Federal development of the navigation and power possibilities of the Columbia River to the end that our customers and other potential users of Columbia River energy may be assured of a bountiful supply of permanently low cost electric energy made possible only by the prosecution of the Government's plans for improving the navigability of the Columbia River and the development of power as incident thereto.

No competent authority has given you any assurance that the formation of a public utility district will result in electric rates lower than those you now have. In the setting up of Rural Electrification Projects throughout the country, the Federal agency in charge thereof has prescribed rates substantially higher than are now in force throughout the territory served by our company. There is no provision in the public utility law whereby any taxes can be imposed upon public utility districts formed thereunder and this means the taxes no longer paid by the private utilities must necessarily fall as an additional burden upon the individual taxpayers. Bear in mind that the taxable property of the private utilities is continually increasing as service is expanded and the increasing tax contribution of the utilities steadily grows in importance.

We urge you to vote NO on April 8th to preserve the advantages you now have and such additional advantages as may result from the building of Bonneville, rather than to embark upon a turbulent sea in which the only certain thing is that your taxes will be increased.

Very truly yours,
Franklin T. Griffith
President.

6 Lose Lives In Raft Used In Movie Scene

Williamsport, Pa., March 21 (AP)—Old rafting tradition was cast into the discard today as police and volunteer searchers dragged the murky waters of the Susquehanna river for the bodies of six men believed drowned in the crash of the "last raft" against a bridge pier.

One man was dead. He was W. C. Van Scoyoc, 66, of Philadelphia.

Missing were Thomas Proffitt, Chester, a news reel cameraman; Dr. C. F. Taylor, Burgess of Montgomery Borough; H. C. Conner, chief pilot of the raft, of Burnside; Harry Berringer, of Tyrone; Malcolm MacFarland, of New York, and W. W. Holly, of Bradford.

Proffitt was recording the reenactment of old rafting practices when the 112-foot craft, made up of 51 huge white pine "sticks" hurled all but one of its 48 passengers into the river.

In the "old days," which a small group of elderly former rivermen and descendants of lumbermen and raftsmen were trying to recreate by a 200-mile voyage to Harrisburg, the death of a member of the crew never halted the voyage.

Levy (Bud) Conner of Glen Campbell, builder of the raft and brother of the missing chief pilot, said the trip would be resumed after repairs were made today.

But Coroner Dr. Thomas C. Brandon declared the craft could not leave its mooring place until after he completed an investigation.

The raft struck the pier head on. The rear of the raft lifted out of water and the front dug under. Then it settled, swung broadside to, banging sideways against the sixth pier.

The program committee for the next club meeting is Mrs. Earl Feller and Mrs. Davis. Refreshment committee will be Mrs. Harold Long, Mrs. E. E. Miller, Mrs. W. W. Cone, and Mrs. Frisbe. Next meeting date is March 24.

The collapsible "shanty" amidships, built to house the crew, fell apart. The jolt and loose flying logs knocked the crew and passengers into the river.
