

Van Mungo Given Little Sympathy by Opposing Batters

Skits and Scratches

If Dizzy Dean was turned over to the Chicago Cubs by the St. Louis Cardinals on an "as is" basis, then the windy city purchasers must be reaching for the aspirin bottle with great regularity. It begins to look like the Cubs paid $185,000 to stick their arm into a grab bag and came up with the booby prize. However, Dean's ailing arm may respond to treatment and in such an instance he would probably be worth all he cost. Usually, when such a huge sum of money is involved in a baseball deal, the seller gives some sort of a guarantee regarding the soundness of the player involved. That the Cards were not entirely acting for harmony within its own ranks when they decided to put a price tag on Dean is indicated by the records and no doubt such records were well known to Sam Breadon. Dean reached the high point in his career in 1934 when he won 30 games. He continued his good work by pitching the Cards into the world series championship. He was consistent the following season when he succeeded in winning 28. In 1936 his wins dropped to 24 and last season he checked in 13 victories.

The physicians say there is nothing seriously wrong with Dean's arm and time will effect a cure. This tends to give credence to reports which indicate Dean is older than general belief. Army discharge papers show Dean is 30 years of age. Scarcely an old man in any line of endeavor, but aged enough to prevent many years of mound effectiveness. While the Cardinal management is figuring on cutting a nice dividend melon next fall, the Cubs can only stand around and hope for the best, but probably fearing the worst. Evidently Breadon and Rickey do not need any instruction in the art of slicing up all angles of a trade.

There won't be a parade with a band at the head and with players in uniform marching down the street. Nevertheless Salem will have a baseball opening day Sunday and at old Oxford park at that. It isn't the Oxford park of a decade ago where opposing teams played before capacity crowds which often poured several hundred dollars into the pockets of the participants. The fence has been removed while the wooden grandstand and bleachers have long since disappeared. All there is left is a level plot of ground and a wire backstop. Perhaps many citizens do not even know where Oxford park is located. For their benefit—South 12th and Oxford streets.

But to get back to the ball game. It is scheduled to start at 2:30 with the Salem team, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus on one side, and Aumsville on the other. The occasion is the first contest in the recently organized Cascade league. The Casey's have a number of former America Legion Junior players in their ranks and expect to strengthen as the season progresses.

Hubbard Beats Turner
Hubbard—Hubbard high school won its sixth straight Marion county "B" league baseball game yesterday by defeating Turner 8 to 3 at Turner. Gant hit a home run and a triple for Hubbard.

Cincinnati Finds Hurler For 8 Runs

(By the Associated Press)
The boys had a deal all smoked up. Van Mungo's arm was going to St. Louis and Ducky Medwick's big bat would move to Brooklyn. Then something flopped—it was Van's arm.

If there was ever anything to the deal—and it's known now it did get as far as the talking stage—the whole thing was colder today than last night's mashed potatoes, all because Van's fireballing salary wing has found more "cousins" among National league batters so far this spring than there are in the Smith family.

And Branch Rickey, who might have been cooked in his own stew (remember Dizzy Dean) was breathing a huge sigh of relief that he still has Mauler Medwick and doesn't have to worry about the ifs and whens of Mungo's flinging.

Yesterday Van dropped his third straight decision, losing a 10-3 affair to the clobbering Cincinnati Reds. He gave up eight runs in his four-inning trick on the mound.

From what he has shown this season, Mungo, like Dean, can no longer be ranked with Carl Hubbell on the pitching "big three." In four starts Van has gone the route only once. He has yet to win his first game. He has been clubbed for 30 hits and 16 runs runs in 24 innings. True, he has had little fielding support behind him, but that hasn't made the temperamental tartar look any better.

Since his lumbago let up, Medwick has been moving right along with the big stick, although he had a comparatively poor day yesterday. However, his rookie teammate, Enos Slaughter, made up for it by whacking a triple that drove home the run that gave the Cardinals a 4-3 decision over the Phillies.

Friday's results:
American: Philadelphia 1, Cleveland 4, Boston 7, St. Louis 3; Washington 4, Chicago 3 (13 innings); New York-Detroit postponed.
National: Pittsburgh 7, New York 11; Cincinnati 10, Brooklyn 3; Chicago 13, Boston 9; St. Louis 4, Philadelphia 3.

Hubbard 1st In Class 'A' Division
Leslie junior high school swarmed with several hundred boys and girls yesterday when the annual county grade school track and field meet was held. Twenty schools were in competition, resulting in Hubbard winning the class "A" championship with 67 points. Keiser was a close second with 62 while Woodburn placed third with 44.

Gates took first place in class "B" competition with 59, followed by Aurora with 46 and Swole with 40.

White school, always a strong contender in class "B," had little difficulty in piling up 96 points to annex first place honors. Central Howell tallied 31 and North Howell 26.

Brooks won the kitball championship in the "A" and "B" division, defeating Hill City. Central Howell defeated Beuna Crest to take class "C" honors, while the Mt. Angel girls' team beat Brooks for the county title.

Leeds Hits Four Straight Homers
Buffalo, May 7 (AP)—Bob Seeds, 30-year old outfielder of the Newark Bears, had the figger filberts of the International league deep in the storm cellars today after his big explosion on a load of batting marks in Buffalo.

A pitching duel was in progress between the Bears and the Blooms yesterday until Seeds went to bat in the fourth inning. He clouted a homer with a man on base.

Before the scorer could catch his breath, Seeds had belted four successive homers in four consecutive innings. All told, he drove in 12 runs, 10 with his boundary beller and two with two singles, which gave him a perfect day.

Seeds set the tempo for the Bears who responded with 13 more hits off five Buffalo pitchers to earn a 22-9 victory.

The major leagues can't boast of any performance like that of Seeds. The big-time mark is held by Lou Gehrig of the Yankees with four homers in consecutive times at bat. But not in successive innings, and Jimmy Poxx, with four in successive times at bat, but spread over two games.

The Indians tallied a run in the second, fourth and sixth and then checked in three in the eighth.

Padre's Win Seventh At Portland Expense

San Francisco, May 7 (AP)—San Diego's winning streak, now stretched to seven straight games, put the Padres up with Hollywood and Portland in a three-way tie for the Coast league leadership today. The Padres made it seven in a row as they defeated Portland 7 to 5 yesterday, with Joe Morrisey, Beaver second baseman, performing juggling acts that made him the goat of the game.

Morrisey's two errors in the second inning helped the Padres to their four runs in that frame.

San Francisco's Seals nosed out Hollywood 12 to 11 in a wild affair that produced 34 hits, including a homer by Bill Norman of the Stars. The Seals gained out 22 of the hits and won the game with a three run rally in the ninth inning, on singles by DiMaggio, Boss, Hawkins and Norbert and a walk to Holder.

In the tightest of last night's games, husky young Fred Hutchinson of Seattle again proved his worth by engaging victorious 1 to 0 in a great pitching duel with Bill Schmidt of Sacramento. Hutchinson allowed but 4 hits to Schmidt's five. The single run came in the fifth inning when Spindel, who got on base because of Bob Sturgeon's bad throw to first, came home on two infield outs.

The league's bottom place Oaks managed to defeat Los Angeles 7 to 6 by checking a ninth inning Angel rally after it had produced three runs.

Salem Hi Playing Silverton Squad
Salem high school's diamond squad went over to Silverton today for a mix with the Silver Foxes after absorbing a 9 to 5 defeat for Corvallis high on the Spartans' field Friday afternoon.

The Vikings lost during the late innings after Wilkinson had held Corvallis batters without a single hit through six frames. Then the deluge came. Wilkinson was touched for five hits and six runs in the seventh, while Bright, who took the hill in the eighth yielded three hits and as many runs. Gosser pitched the last frame.

Salem scored twice in the first inning while Gosser's home run in the second scored Panther ahead of him. The fifth run was scored in the seventh.

Bend Hi Swamps 3 Track Opponents
Bend, May 7 (AP)—Piling up the greatest number of points ever made in an inter-sectional track and field meet here, Bend high school defeated Klamath Falls, Redmond and Lapine last night.

Bend tallied 98 points, to 46 1/2 for Klamath Falls, 5 1/2 for Redmond and 3 for Lapine.

Yaney, Klamath Falls, won the javelin throw, only first place lost by Bend, whose state champion, Paul Rukaveno, was benched with a knee injury.

Bend, last year's state champion, was pressed in only one other event, the 40 yard dash. Sawyer broke the tape only a foot ahead of Hootin, Klamath Falls.

The night meet was the first of its kind held here.

Bend sprinters and hurdlers set four new meet records. Lapine and Redmond participated because of cancellation of the annual central Oregon meet, set for today.

Bearcats and Badgers Play Double Header

Willamette and Pacific, rivals of many years standing in all departments of athletics, were renewing the baseball warfare on Sweetland this afternoon. The two clubs were slated to take the field at 2:30 for a doubleheader, a feature of the annual May day activities.

The Bearcats made it three in a row over the Oregon Normal Wolves at Monmouth yesterday when they took advantage of 11 teacher errors to win 12 to 6. ONS outbait the visitors 14 to 12 but couldn't overcome their misplays affled.

Gatchell for Willamette and Mohler for Oregon Normal went the full nine innings on the mound. Mohler had the better of the argument in strike outs, 10 to 5. Shinn, Raszdale and Pierce each got two hits, while ody, Eystone, Lewis and McLain for ONS hit safely twice. Parks, teacher shortstop got three for five, but was charged with four errors. The huskies had trouble hitting Bob Creighton, Oregon right-hander, but found the range in the last four innings for a total of nine hits. Washington made five errors to three for Oregon.

A near-record crowd watched the game.

Sports Parade
By Henry McLenore
Louisville, Ky., May 7 (AP)—His first mount was a scraggly shetland pony, and he threw a chubby leg over it 18 years ago in Hoskins, Neb. On Saturday, with 85,000 persons screaming at him, he'll come out on the track at Churchill Downs in the Kentucky Derby parade, and his mount will be Bull Lea, the dark bay son of Bulldog and the most feared horse in the field.

Sitting in his silks in the jockeys' room at Churchill Downs, Irving Anderson, 21 now, and a top ranking contract rider, told me how he felt about the derby, and what he thought would happen out on the loam of the racing strip.

"We'll take it all," Irving said, screwing his face into a smile. "I've seen most of the horses we've got to lick, and ridden one or two of them, and at the finish they'll be getting out of our way to keep from being run over. That Bull can run."

"But how far?" I asked, remembering Bull Lea's sire was Bulldog, a fellow who never liked to go much farther than a mile. "Some experts say your horse will need an ambulance after a mile and a sixteenth."

"Did any of those experts ever ride Bull Lea?" Irving asked. "I have and I know. When he set a track record for a mile and an eighth at Keeneland a couple of weeks ago he had plenty left."

Irving also took a crack at the horsemen who have said Bull Lea's lack of early speed would be a big handicap to him.

"We've got plenty of early foot. In that Keeneland race he stayed right with Menow all the way. From the break until we caught him at the sixteenth pole he never was more than a length ahead, and you know what that means. He's the fastest thing out of a gate you ever saw. So we can't be so slow."

Irving doesn't fear any of the eight derby horses who raced in the derby trials Tuesday, and that field included the famed Stagehand, the Chief, Hooto, Lawrin and Co-Sport. He should have a pretty fair line on them, too, because he was up on Lawrin in that race, which saw the Chief equal the track record for a mile and lick Lawrin by half a head.

I asked the little genome of a fellow if he was getting nervous as derby day neared.

"Plenty. It's just about all I think about these days. And nights, too. I have dreamed that race fifty times. And you know why I'd like to win the derby more than anything else? Not the money, I want to win it just to get a look at Mr. Wright (Warren Wright, owner of Bull Lea), when he knows he's got a derby winner. He'll be more pleased than a kid with his first bicycle."

Whitman and Lee led the hitting attack, the former with a home run, his fifth in five games, two triples and a single in five trips to the plate, and Lee with three doubles and a single in a like number of attempts. Besides being the batting star of the game, Whitman went seven innings on the mound, allowing but three hits and striking out 10 while walking but 2.

Trosky Holds No. 1 Position With Hitters
New York, May 7 (AP)—Hal Trosky, Cleveland's clouting first sacker, survived the early season shakeup in the batting standings on both sides and remained the No. 1 hitter in the big-time with a batting average of .434.

While Chuck Klein was taking over the National league lead from the Cardinals' Mickey Owen with a .365 mark, and the rest of the first 10 in each loop was scrambled from top to bottom, Trosky came through handily, although he, like the others, lost plenty of percentage points.

Hank Steinbacher of the White Sox dropped from second to a tie for seventh place in the American league, and the runner-up spot was taken over by Frankie Hayes, the Athletics' catcher, in the National league. Hank Leiber, the Giants' blonde better, stayed in the No. 2 slot, only one point off Klein's pace.

Newcomers in the American league Big Ten for the week were Ken Keltner of Cleveland, tied for seventh with .370; Doc Cramer, Boston, ninth with .362, and Dario Lodigiani, Philadelphia, 10th with .356.

In addition to Klein, the new "Big Ten" members in the senior circuit were Johnny Rizzo, Pittsburgh rookie, fourth with .354; Stan Hack, Cubs, fifth with .353; Ducky Medwick, the Cardinals ace, sixth with .343; Billy Myers, Reds, and Lloyd Waner, Pirates, tied for eighth with .339, and Jojo Moore, Giants, 10th with .338.

Voget was a member of the Woodburn team that won the championship of the state, and also of the northwest in 1933.

Trosky Holds No. 1 Position With Hitters
New York, May 7 (AP)—Hal Trosky, Cleveland's clouting first sacker, survived the early season shakeup in the batting standings on both sides and remained the No. 1 hitter in the big-time with a batting average of .434.

While Chuck Klein was taking over the National league lead from the Cardinals' Mickey Owen with a .365 mark, and the rest of the first 10 in each loop was scrambled from top to bottom, Trosky came through handily, although he, like the others, lost plenty of percentage points.

Hank Steinbacher of the White Sox dropped from second to a tie for seventh place in the American league, and the runner-up spot was taken over by Frankie Hayes, the Athletics' catcher, in the National league. Hank Leiber, the Giants' blonde better, stayed in the No. 2 slot, only one point off Klein's pace.

Newcomers in the American league Big Ten for the week were Ken Keltner of Cleveland, tied for seventh with .370; Doc Cramer, Boston, ninth with .362, and Dario Lodigiani, Philadelphia, 10th with .356.

In addition to Klein, the new "Big Ten" members in the senior circuit were Johnny Rizzo, Pittsburgh rookie, fourth with .354; Stan Hack, Cubs, fifth with .353; Ducky Medwick, the Cardinals ace, sixth with .343; Billy Myers, Reds, and Lloyd Waner, Pirates, tied for eighth with .339, and Jojo Moore, Giants, 10th with .338.

Sports Parade
By Henry McLenore
Louisville, Ky., May 7 (AP)—His first mount was a scraggly shetland pony, and he threw a chubby leg over it 18 years ago in Hoskins, Neb. On Saturday, with 85,000 persons screaming at him, he'll come out on the track at Churchill Downs in the Kentucky Derby parade, and his mount will be Bull Lea, the dark bay son of Bulldog and the most feared horse in the field.

Sitting in his silks in the jockeys' room at Churchill Downs, Irving Anderson, 21 now, and a top ranking contract rider, told me how he felt about the derby, and what he thought would happen out on the loam of the racing strip.

"We'll take it all," Irving said, screwing his face into a smile. "I've seen most of the horses we've got to lick, and ridden one or two of them, and at the finish they'll be getting out of our way to keep from being run over. That Bull can run."

"But how far?" I asked, remembering Bull Lea's sire was Bulldog, a fellow who never liked to go much farther than a mile. "Some experts say your horse will need an ambulance after a mile and a sixteenth."

"Did any of those experts ever ride Bull Lea?" Irving asked. "I have and I know. When he set a track record for a mile and an eighth at Keeneland a couple of weeks ago he had plenty left."

Irving also took a crack at the horsemen who have said Bull Lea's lack of early speed would be a big handicap to him.

"We've got plenty of early foot. In that Keeneland race he stayed right with Menow all the way. From the break until we caught him at the sixteenth pole he never was more than a length ahead, and you know what that means. He's
