

Willamette Defeats Linfield 12-8 Walla Walla Series

Bearcats Have Slim Chance To Win Title

Walla Walla, May 21 (AP)—An 11 to 1 victory over Linfield college last night left the Whitman college baseball team undefeated in the Northwest conference playoffs.

Linfield and Willamette, the other participants, each have lost two games.

Six Wildcat errors combined with 11 hits off Hoyt for the Missionary victory. Karl Schneidmiller held the Oregonians to four safeties.

Mike Reser, Whitman centerfielder, hit the only homer of the game with one on.

The Missionaries play both Linfield and Willamette today.

| Whitman | 11 | 11 | 4 |
| Linfield | 1 | 4 | 6 |

Willamette previously defeated Linfield 12 to 8 to retain a slim chance for title honors.

Going into the final inning trailing by three runs, thanks to a seventh-inning homer by Linfield infielder Swensen with the bases loaded, the Bearcats cut loose with a seven-hit barrage.

Brooks Holder Hits Winning Run for Club

Little Brooks Holder, San Francisco Seals' outfielder, rated as a mighty man at the bat today. Holder came up in the ninth inning against Portland last night with the score tied 3-3; took a healthy swing at one of Bill Radonite's fast ones and crack!—the ball went sailing over the right field fence for a homer and the winning run.

Despite the 3-4 defeat, Portland remained at the top of the Coast

McKechnie's Magic Marvels Cause Alarm

Prof. Will McKechnie's Magic Marvels, the show that wowed 'em in Boston last year, is giving the boys and girls in Cincinnati a lot of entertainment this season, and spreading no end of anxious moments among the seven other clubs in the National League.

Prof. Will is about as slick an article as the baseball business has seen since John McGraw. He can pull more rabbits out of fewer and littler hats than the very best magicians of vaudeville's heyday.

The McKechnie influence in one particular case stood out all over the place yesterday as Johnny Vandermere blanked the slipping Giants, 4-0, with a five-hit job of elbowing. Only one of Bill Terry's Terriers got as far as third base against him as he handed the champions their second straight shutout defeat and made it three wins in four starts for the Reds against the league leaders. The win boosted the Reds into the 500 class, with 14 victories in 28 games.

league's standings, by two full games.

San Diego climbed into second place, winning 4 to 2 over Oakland, while Hollywood, defeated 6 to 5 by Sacramento's Solons slipped back to a tie for third with the Senators.

Al Marchand and Hal Spindel of Seattle hit homers in the first inning, the later with two on to start the scoring that gave the northern club a 7 to 3 win over Los Angeles.

Nearly 7500 fans, who saw Holder paste the pill out of the yard to break up the game at Portland, also saw the night's "honor" player carried from the field.

Many of them had turned out to honor Harvey Storey, Forest Grove, Ore., boy, playing right field for the Seals. He connected for a single to drive in a run but was severely spiked in the kneecap sliding into third a few minutes later and was taken to a hospital, where the injury was reported serious. He was snagged by his own spikes.

Charges and counter charges flew about Friday and continued to echo throughout the streets this forenoon as fans mullied over the Bell-Caputa scrap. We never knew so many persons could get near one particular corner of the ring until we checked up the number of fans who were "right on top" of the scrap at the time Caputa went to the floor for the second time. One faction is positive that Bell really tagged Caputa just before the latter slumped in a neutral corner. Others are just as vociferous that the blow which is said to have reached the Tacoma man scarcely had broken a piece of wet tissue paper. Referee Jack Wilson said after the fight that "I know Caputa can fight better than he did before he took the dive as I have seen him work out. I've seen one or two fake kayos and I am quite certain Caputa pulled on last night. He went down the first round from a punch but the last time the punch barely touched his head and this is the reason I told the boxing commission to hold up his purse and have an investigation."

One member of the boxing commission intimates that Referee Wilson was trying to put Tex Salkeld on the spot. He claims Wilson and Salkeld had had an argument before the program went on. (Salkeld was former manager for Midnight Bell and has been interested in promotion fights for a number of years). Salkeld has not been satisfied with the way fight cards have been held in Salem and is known to be none too friendly with Wilson. Wilson charges Salkeld recommended Caputa as a good match for Bell. "He told me Caputa was a good fighter and would give Midnight Bell a tough fight and was apt to kayo Bell. The way he gave me the dope he wanted Caputa to beat Bell because he was no longer managing Bell," Wilson emphatically states.

The writer did not see the particular punch which is raising the rumpus. He did see the blow which felled Caputa the first time and it appeared to carry plenty of authority. However, when Caputa fell the first time he folded his arms so that they acted as a cushion between his chin and the canvas. Whether this is a matter of instinct or merely one of precaution the writer does not know. However, we noticed the movement of the arms at the time and thought it somewhat peculiar.

The fight game never has smelled very sweet and Thursday night's fiasco hasn't improved it one bit. Probably Wilson was right when he said, "I just wish I'd kept on with the semi-pros, as Harry Levy, boxing commissioner suggested." The valley boys probably haven't the skill and science of some of their big city cousins but at least they try to give the fans their money's worth. Considering the amount of cash they have received for their bestings, we would say the fans have received more than their money's worth.

Ray Brooks' Portland Babes will get their first experience in State league ball Sunday at Bend. Only one member of last year's aggregation, which was headed by Brooks, remains with the squad, Hughie Day, pitcher. But he has picked up John Besky, who played a great infield game for the Bend Elks last year. Pitchers who will assist Day are Jack Carstens and Gene Pentz of Grant and Jefferson high schools, respectively. Portland, Glen Butenschon, Jefferson high, and Manley Miles of Franklin high will do the receiving. The infield will

Woodburn Hi Wins League Ball Title

Woodburn—The Woodburn Bulldogs, under the tutelage of Coach Edson Cons, won their first baseball championship in the WVI league when they defeated Silverton 7-2 at Legion park here Friday afternoon to finish the season with a perfect record of seven wins against no losses.

The Bulldogs opened the scoring on the first pitch of the first inning when Stetter, shortstop, slammed it against the fence in center field for a three-base hit and scored when Pettyjohn made a wild throw in an effort to catch him at the plate. Whitman followed immediately with another three-bagger and scored on Catcher Reed's single. Silverton was unable to catch the Bulldogs after they gained their two-run advantage in the first frame. The Foxes made their first score in the fourth when M. Simmons was safe on an error and scored on a double by Strickland. The Woodburn team came back for another in the fifth and added four in the seventh. Silverton scored their other run in the eighth.

Whitman pitched a good game for Coach Cons' crew. The Woodburn right-hander allowed five well scattered hits, struck out five and walked three bases leading both teams in hitting with a single, double and a triple in four trips to the plate. Pettyjohn, Silverton's ace, allowed 12 hits, struck out 6 and walked 2. He secured two of Silverton's five hits.

Summary:

| | | | |
|---|---|----|---|
| Silverton | 2 | 5 | 1 |
| Woodburn | 7 | 12 | 4 |
| Pettyjohn and M. Simmons; Whitman and Reed; Umpires: Garfield Voigt behind the plate, Winton Hunt on bases. | | | |

Silverton Street Resembles Salad

Silverton—First street between Main and Oak in the business district very much resembled a fruit salad with the trimmings late Friday afternoon, when a door of an overladen truck burst open and four cantaloupes showered over a parked automobile onto the pavement as the truck made a corner turn. Slightly mashed fruit was sold for a mere pittance for several minutes with some of the spill salvaged as first class fruit.
