

Model Airplane Contest Ends Late This Week

Silverton — The model airplane contest sponsored by the Sons of American Legion squadron is drawing to a close with 9 o'clock, Friday night, set for the deadline for receiving entries.

All boys who have built models from kits purchased from headquarters are urged to bring their planes in at once. The contest committee wishes to place all entries on display before the time for judging arrives. Headquarters are at the Silverton Hardware store.

All models will be judged Friday evening after the contest closes. All points for solid models will be judged at that time. All flying model points, except actual flying ability, will be judged Friday evening. Tests for flying models will be Saturday afternoon, June 4, at 5 o'clock, on the Silverton school grounds when each flying model will be given an actual flying test to decide the final points for awarding prizes.

Flying tests for speed and endurance models will be held immediately following the scale model tests. After this will come the awarding of prizes in all divisions and classes. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to witness the flying tests to be held on the school grounds and to see for themselves the handwork of these young model builders.

These tests will bring to a close a day of many thrills and joys for the kiddies in and near Silverton as the Pet Parade entrants Saturday forenoon will get to see the free show at the Palace theatre through courtesy of Alfred Adams early in the afternoon.

Scores of boys are trying out with model building. The plans were originated by Harry Wilson, Jr., captain of the Sons of Legion squadron.

Black Rock Folk Picnic

Falls City — The first picnic of Black Rock was held in that city Sunday with people arriving at 9 o'clock. A picnic dinner was served at 2 o'clock. Lebanon Senior Class Offered Farewell Sermon

Lebanon — In an informal, intimate address, Dr. Q. Breen told the senior class of 69 Lebanon high school seniors in baccalaureate services in the Presbyterian church Sunday night of the problems facing them in society upon their graduation. The services, which were arranged by Lawrence Bennett of the high school faculty, were attended by a crowd which filled the church to capacity.

Others who participated in the services were Rev. LeRoy Crossley of the Baptist church, Rev. R. L. Spence of the Methodist church, Rev. Claude Stephens of the Church of Christ, Dorothy Bohle, who played the organ, the boys' and girls' quartets and the mixed glee club. The musical portions of the program were considered exceptionally good, and Miss Irene Moore, who directed the groups, was the recipient of many compliments.

The church was suitably decorated for the occasion, roses and pennies and tall candles making an attractive setting. The decorations were arranged by the junior class with Miss Marjorie Ashby in charge.

Wiscaron Makes Call

Lebanon — Vernon Wiscaron, former instrumental director of Lebanon schools and now holding a similar position in Clarkston, Wash., schools, was a visitor here Sunday. Wiscaron was en route to his home in Eugene following suspension of classes at Clarkston.

Memorial Day Quiet

Lebanon — Memorial day services sponsored by patriotic units in the Masonic cemetery Monday were attended by approximately 150 persons. About one-third of this number were members of the American Legion, Woman's Relief corps and Veterans of Foreign Wars, which arranged the program. Mayor Joel C. Booth was the chief speaker in the ceremony. Others who contributed were Legion Commander Herb Ramsey, VFW Commander E. J. Boland, Mrs. Ascha Chess and Mrs. Lockett Carlson of the Relief corps, Legion Chaplain Roland B. Miller. There was also a salute by the Legion firing squad. Dr. Q. Breen spoke at another Memorial day service in the Presbyterian church Sunday. A representative group from patriotic units attended.

Poppies Prove Popular

Lebanon — Officers of the American Legion auxiliary and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars announced yesterday that each unit had sold its entire quota of poppies last Saturday. This is a new record for each organization, the quota in previous years being but 500 each as compared to this year's quota of 750 each. Officers of both groups wished to express their gratitude to residents of this area for their splendid response.

Twelve Graduates Receive Diplomas

St. Angel — Twelve eighth grade graduates of St. Angel Normal's training school received diplomas at their commencement exercises Tuesday afternoon in the academy auditorium, with Rev. John Cummins, O.S.B., conferring the diplomas and addressing the graduates.

The graduates were Norma Jean Stahl, Joyce Rosen, Eva Helvey, June Miller, Mary Blum, Marcia Meserve, Bernadette Harold, Marjorie Seelye, Carmelita Andrea, Cora Zach, Gertrude May and Mary Araujo.

The program opened with "Majestic Overture," by the junior orchestra, followed with a style show by the first year high domestic art class. The primary students dramatized several stories under the supervision of their teacher, Sister Therese Marie, O.S.B. A playlet, "The Three Wishes," was presented by the intermediate grades. Bernadette Harold played two violin solos and Marjorie Seelye sang a vocal solo.

At the conclusion of the commencement exercises the audience was entertained outdoors with a May dance by the primary pupils after which they crowned Mary their Queen of May.
