Fortune's Roosevelt Survey

Fortune magazine has presented another quarterly survey, with a compilation of graphs and tables reflecting the relative popularity of President Roosevelt and his policies. We don't know how these surveys are compiled and never met anyone who had been interviewed. At best they are guesses, like the lamented Literary Digest's popular polls and sooner or later will go against the realities. Meanwhile they serve as publicity promotion for the periodical.

The new survey reports that the president retains most of his personal popularity, despite the depression, but his methods and political advisers are unpopular. The executive is most popular in the southeast and southwest, most widely supported among economic levels by negroes and the poor, most uniformly endorsed among occupations by farm laborers, factory laborers and miscellaneous laborers.

The northeast and northwest (plains states) alone among areas showed majorities, though small, in disapproval of Mr. Roosevelt—a change since the previous survey. In the nation at large 54.8 percent of the population approve of the president, 33.9 percent do not, the remainder having not made up their minds. Yet the areas that disapprove have 191 of the 531 electoral votes. Summarizing, the magazine states that its investigations disclose:

The president's objectives are popular, the president more so, but his methods are not popular at all.

Although the nation approves of Roosevelt, it believes he has too much power in his own hands.

Without giving him more power, the nation hopes the next congress will work more closely with him.

Although the new deal commits us to federal centralization, states' rights lingers on.

Hardly anyone believes that the general situation would improve if labor took a wage cut.

Every division of the public stands firm against government ownership of railroads.

The Sino-Japanese war is more shocking than seizure of Austria, and we don't want refugees here.

The Roosevelt rearmament and international policies are universally popular. The mass cleavage on the president is confined merely to his methods and problems of internal economy.

No, We'll Have No Endorsement

With tongue-in-cheek the Oregon State Federation of Labor in annual convention at Tillamook adopted a resolution yesterday stating the policy of the federation in the coming state election to be that of endorsing no candidates for office.

Press dispatches reporting the action voice surprise that the resolution, framed and presented by the committee on law and legislation after a bitter fight, slid through the general assembly on greased skids without opposition from the labor champions of any of the candidates seeking the federation's official blessing in November. But before anti-labor candidates start rejoicing at this declaration of a hands-off policy they should scrutinize and analyze the resolution more carefully.

Tucked away in the text of the instrument is the following significant proviso:

... That candidates for national and state offices be scrutinized and all circumstances weighed in relation to such candidates and THAT THE BOARD THEN MAY TAKE SUCH ACTION TO INFORM THE MEMBERS AS IN ITS JUDGMENT WILL BEST PROMOTE THE INTERESTS OF LABOR by utilizing our voting strength as a balance of power between opposing candidates.

The state federation is not going to endorse candidates—it will just turn the searchlight onto their past records in private and public life to determine whether they have ever had the timidity to question the dictates of organized labor or resist its ultimatums, summon them before its board of dictators for oral grilling, demand a written statement of beliefs and principles from each candidate and then proceed to damn or bless each of them for the guidance of the brethren as they did prior to the primary election through a printed report circulated among all union members.

No, the federation will not endorse candidates; it will simply blacklist those who dare raise their voices in opposition to the dictates of the self-appointed labor czars.

What Will Be Schmeling's Fate?

Joe Louis did more than knockout Max Schmeling in two minutes, he also knocked out the absurd Nazi myth of "Nordic superiority." And the humiliation of Herr Hitler must be great indeed for an "Aryan" idol to fall before an American negro descendant of African slaves. So far the German press has had little to say but probably the alphas are in the making. If Schmeling had won he would have received as he did two years ago, a triumphal reception on his return as a national hero. Goebbels would have broadcast the victory as indisputable proof of German might and sacrifices ordered to Wootan and the ancient tribal gods.

All of which raises an interesting question as to what will befall Schmeling on his return to the fatherland. Will he be imprisoned on some fake charge for failing to sustain propaganda hocus-poens, stripped of his property and end his days in a concentration camp or turn up among those mysteriously missing?

In this connection it is well to consider the fate of the German tennis star, the popular Baron von Cram, who in his travels over the world failed to sustain the myth of Teutonic superiority, and even questioned the sportsmanship of the Hitler regime. So on his return home he was arrested on a sensational morals charge, his property confiscated and his whereabouts and fate remain a mystery.

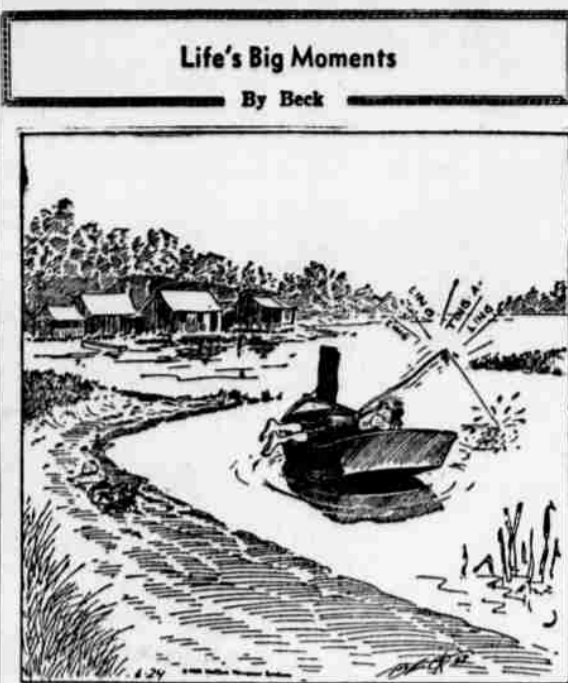

Will Max Schmeling experience a similar fate? It is not impossible in topsy-turvy Nazi-land, for the fallen idol must be regarded as a traitor to the cause.

Dallas Juniors Lose to Corvallis

Dallas—Minus the services of their star pitcher, Al Kroeker, and their regular shortstop, Ralph Lindahl, the Legion junior league nine took a real trimming from the Corvallis post juniors at Corvallis Wednesday night. The score was 16-3.

Keith Bennett, Art Hase and Klausen formed the battery for the losers.

The Junior Leaguers are slated to have a busy time for the next few days as practice tilts have been scheduled with McMinnville on Friday, Silverton at Silverton on Monday, Corvallis at Dallas on Wednesday and Silverton at Dallas on Thursday.

Novelties In the News

(By the Associated Press)
Man of Many Schools
East St. Louis, Ill.—Raymond Morgan claims a well-rounded high school education.

Morgan is a son of an Alton, Ill., traveling salesman. He was graduated from high school this month after four years of attendance spread over 35 schools in eight states, Canada and Mexico.

Grandpappy of Lobsters
Yarmouth, N. S. (Canadian Press)

The crew of the schooner Nina L. claims the lobster that got tangled in a trawl was the grandpappy of all lobsters in these parts.

The statistics:
Weight: 30 pounds. Length of body, 37 inches. The sailors had to break off the claws to get the lobster into the pot. Then they used two more pots to cook the claws. The body fed the 13-man crew. One of the claws, more than a foot long, held one and one-half quarts of water.

Signs Never Fail
Oakland, Calif.—Mrs. Louis Rothwell yielded to her curiosity and forced her way through a clump of bushes in Orinda park to read a sign.

"Beware of poison oak," it warned—too late.

A justice court awarded her $100 judgment against the park for medical expenses.

Together Again
Tucuman, Okla.—"Step in this room and make yourself at home," G. W. Ussary, 85, told neighbors who came to console him after the death of his wife. "It won't be long until I'll be with her."

Then they heard a door slam and a shot.

Assistant County Attorney Roy Edwards said the aged man had killed himself.

Better Late, Etc.
Chicago—It took 44 years, but Burnham park along Lake Michigan will soon have a pink marble drinking fountain for "man and beast."

When David Wallach died in 1894, he left $5,000 for that purpose. Now the city has proceeded to advertise for bids. Accumulated interest has boosted the fund to $14,000.

Liquid(ated) Club
Chicago—The Belt Tank club, unique and exclusive, has folded. And just at the start of the summer season, too.

Members were four youths, 13 to 16 years old. The clubhouse was a Belt Line railway water tank, 30 feet high. The entrance was a hole in the roof.

Its 12 feet of water provided an ideal swimming pool—swim suits unnecessary—until policemen "raided" it.

Fishing Fair in Western Oregon
Portland, June 24 (AP)—The state game commission's fishing bulletin said today that low water in most of Oregon's favorite streams had made fishing only fair. The arrival of some sea-run cutthroat improved conditions, with limit catches reported from certain coastal streams. Lake fishing generally has been good.

The report by counties includes: Linn—Some nice catches in South Santiam; smaller streams poor, Clear lake fair.

Polk and Marion—Streams in Polk too low with exception of Big Lucklamute. In Marion same condition prevails except for Little North Fork and North Fork of Santiam.

Eastern Lane—Fair on the McKenzie, south fork improving steadily, yielding some limit catches. Fair on Willamette. Lake fishing good.

Tillamook—Limit catches of trout reported on Klich, Wilson, Trask and Nestucca. Fly fishing good.

Lincoln—Water too low in most streams. Good flounder catches reported in the Alsea, Yaquina and Silette bays.

Western Lane—Few trout taken on spinner in streams. Triangle lake fair, other lakes poor.

NLRB Speed
The National Labor Relations Board seems to be on one of those CIO slow-down strikes of its own. Business men have lately come away from that government fact-finding agency growling they could not pry a fact out of it with a crow-bar. They claim it is functioning like a slow-motion picture.

Some slipped their queries to news-men who have been able to get satisfactory answers.

The board says this is no sit-down, no slow-down, just ordinary government speed.

Wages Affected
At last some figures are available as to how many workers may be affected by this new wage-hour law provision for a 25 cent minimum next year and 30 cents the year following.

The bureau of labor statistics has made a survey indicating 200,000 might have their wage raised by the 25 cent figure; 300,000 more with the 30 cent rate—and the 40 cent minimum would help a total of 1,250,000.

These figures are only a fraction of those mentioned in congressional debate, but even so they are probably too high. They are based on 1937 employment census, and employment has decreased sharply since 1937.
