

Weakness in Movie Shares Retards Stocks

New York, July 21 (AP)—Weakness in movie shares acted as a damper on stocks today. Sporadic rallies ran into profit-taking which left the main list irregular at the close.

Sentiment continued cautiously bullish, however, and trading dwindled. Volume ran some 600,000 shares below yesterday's session.

Bonds were irregularly higher. Wheat closed on fractional gains. Cotton futures moved up nearly 50 cents a bale.

Many favorite stocks, including Chrysler, reached new highs for the year in early trading. Coppers, steels, rubbers, farm equipments and motors were in best demand.

Later, however, new selling came into movie shares and spread to other groups. Most gains were wiped out but as the close approached, many leaders came back from the lows to show moderate gains.

The day's news was not particularly encouraging. Movie stocks continued under influence of the federal anti-trust suit.

Smoke Rolling From 20,000 Forest Acres

Medford dispatched 200 woodmen to Orleans, Calif., on the lower Klamath river, where a fire raged out of control.

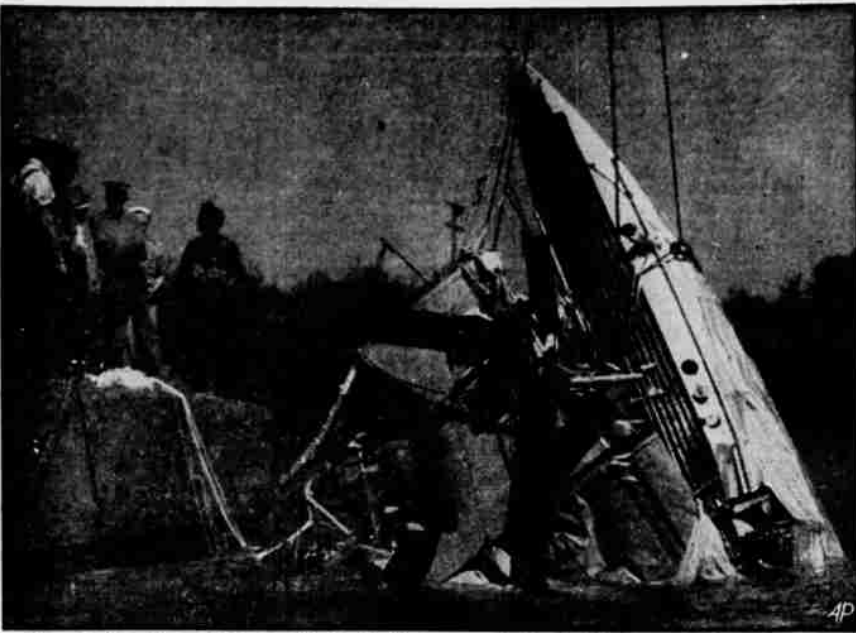

A fire in 1,500 acres of slashings, down logs and standing fir timber 20 miles east of Marshfield was believed controlled after a 24-hour battle by 350 men.

Three fires continued to burn out of control in the Siskiyou forest. Three hundred and fifty additional recruits went on the fire line yesterday, bringing the total to more than 1,700 men.

Twelve incendiary fires in the Bland mountain district of Douglas county, one fire in Kelsey valley and one north of Diamond lake on the Umpqua forest were under control.

New menace was brought to the big creek fire in eastern Clatsop county by a gentle easterly breeze. Two hundred CCC men and 100 loggers fought to keep the flames under control on a five-mile front.

The whole state sweltered as the eighth day of 90-plus weather broke records. Portland recorded 101 degrees, the hottest since July 12, 1935.

Toiley Appeals To Farmers in Wheat Program

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Agricultural adjustment Administrator H. R. Toiley appealed to farmers today for compliance with the 55,000,000-acre wheat allotment program for 1939 to prevent repletion of a price-depressing bumper crop.

The AAA has announced the division of the acreage goal by states, which later will be divided among individual farmers who, by limiting their wheat acres, will obtain farm benefit payments.

Each state was awarded 74.36 per cent of its average seeded acreage, plus the amount diverted under previous AAA programs in the last 10 years, with adjustment for the trend in acreage during the last three years.

"These acreage allotments offer farmers an opportunity to cooperate to bring wheat supplies back nearer normal," Toiley said.

"Loans can help temporarily, but unless supplies are kept in line with needs, eventually farm prices would sink under the weight of a huge surplus."

The 1939 allotments by states included: Western—Idaho, 895,549; Oregon, 768,303; and Washington, 1,681,159.

Engineers Will Cruise Up River

Portland, Ore., July 21 (AP)—Trips to Bonneville dam and Mt. Hood have been arranged for the American Institute of Electrical Engineers convention here August 9-12.

Convention headquarters will be at Multnomah hotel. The engineers plan to hold one joint session with the institute of radio engineers, convening here August 10-12.

It was indicated 500 engineers and their wives and families would attend the local convention.

Now is Time to Inspect Holly Dallas—Now is the time to have your holly inspected for scale if you intend to ship any during the Christmas holiday season, states W. C. Leth, Polk county agent.

Inspections are made during the summer usually in July by Mr. Leth without charge to growers. Commercial plantings are inspected by the state department of agriculture.

Ankels Held As Kidnaper

Portland, July 21 (AP)—Isadore G. Ankels, Portland attorney, was arrested yesterday by federal bureau of investigation agents on charges of kidnaping and conspiracy in connection with the alleged extortion of $970 from Thomas Lowe, Idaho farmer.

United States District Attorney Carl C. Donaghy said Ankels was accused of advising and assisting Anthony Gargullo and Lee W. Tomblinson, Portland special police officer, in the alleged extortion plot.

Donaghy said he would sign a removal complaint against Ankels today. Gargullo and Tomblinson were taken to Spokane Tuesday.

They are accused of "arresting" Lowe in Idaho and taking him to Spokane, where he deposited $970 with them as "bail."

Isadore G. Ankels, Portland attorney charged with kidnaping and conspiracy in connection with the alleged extortion of $970 from Thomas Lowe, Idaho farmer, resigned from law practice November 20, 1934, and was reinstated for a two year probationary period on September 24, 1935.

SEC Moves Against Holding Companies

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Chairman William O. Douglas of the securities and exchange commission announced yesterday the first SEC move to invoke the so-called "death sentence" provision of the public utility holding company act.

Douglas ordered a hearing August 8 for the Utilities Power and Light corporation and its trustee, Charles True Adams, to determine why the corporation should not be required to comply with section 11B of the utility act.

Under this section the commission can compel utility holding firms to integrate their holdings from both a geographical and economic standpoint. It is the so-called "death sentence" provision.

Leth Returns from Pullman Session

Dallas—After having been away from his office for over a week attending the American Institute of Cooperation W. C. Leth, Polk county agent, is back on the job this week.

Mr. Leth reports a very interesting and instructive experience as a result of attending this institute which was held at Pullman, Wash., and at Moscow, Ida., at the Washington state college and the University of Idaho respectively from July 11 through the 16th.

Mr. Leth was one of three county extension agents from the state of Oregon to attend this institute. The other two being Gus Haglund of Deschutes county at Redmond and J. Pierson, assistant county agent of Union county.

The American Institute of Cooperation is an educational institution and has as its sole purpose the collection and dissemination of authoritative information in the field of cooperative organizations over the entire country.

Over 900 people from various parts of the United States including a large number of farmers who were members of various cooperative organizations in this country attended. Many of the outstanding leaders in the field of cooperative marketing as well as buying were present and gave some very worth while contributions to the institute.

Wants Beauty at Bonneville Dam

Portland, Ore., July 21 (AP)—Lewis Mumford, New York author and city planning authority, told a Reed college audience here scenery and aesthetics should be considered as well as power in administration of Bonneville dam.

He urged more concern for scenery and human beings and less for industry. He criticized Oregon folk for allowing the banks of the Columbia river to be bought up by industrial firms.

Misuse of a countryside "undermines possibilities of human growth," he said, calling "inadequate" attempts at conservation without appreciation of the land.

Fishbein Fights Health Program

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, spokesman for the American Medical association, yesterday bitterly criticized proposals for a national health program and proposed that the government first solve other problems "more important" than medical care.

Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the medical association, told the national health conference he is becoming "more bewildered and amazed at the manner of approach" it is taking toward problems of national hygiene.

President Roosevelt's committee to coordinate health and welfare activities recommended to the conference a national program to spend $80,000,000 annually for national health.

Backache, Leg Pains May Be Danger Sign Of Tired Kidneys If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys are getting up a little red-hot. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking some acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. One pair of kidneys filters out over 40 gallons of waste each day.
