

Salem Again To Have Branch Of University

With ten widely varied courses scheduled to meet once a week, Salem will become one of the major branches of the "campus" of the Oregon State system of higher education, it was announced here today by W. G. Beattie, in charge of this work.

The campus here will have a faculty of 10 professors who will come here from the University of Oregon, Oregon State college and the Oregon normal school. All of them are highly qualified and experts in their fields.

Courses will be given in constructive accounting, accounting theory and practice, modern theories of social reform, educational tests and measurements, problems in curriculum construction, pupil personnel work, English composition, contemporary literature, magazine writing, Oregon history and sociology.

Faculty members from the university will include Dr. Nelson L. Bouslog, professor of education; Orin K. Burrell, professor of business administration; R. H. Ernst, professor of English; Samuel H. Jameson, professor of sociology; W. G. Thatcher, professor of English and advertising; Dr. O. R. Chambers, professor of psychology, will come over weekly from the Oregon State college campus. Those from the normal school will include H. E. Inlow, professor of history; Dr. A. S. Jensen, associate professor of psychology, and Edna Mings, assistant professor of English. Wayne Woodmansee, instructor in economics and political science, is a member of the general extension division staff.

Each of the courses will meet once a week for two hours. Students who desire it may obtain two hours of college or university credit each term. The classes will meet at 7:15 o'clock in Salem high school rooms 30 and 31, beginning September 26. The schedule of courses for the fall term is as follows:

Monday: Pupil Personnel work, room 3-H; Oregon History, Oregon course of study and Oregon state system of education, room 3-G.

Tuesday: Constructive accounting, room 3-G; main tendencies in contemporary literature, room 3-H.

Wednesday: Social Interaction, room 3-H; Educational tests and measurements, room 3-G.

Thursday: Problems in curriculum construction, room 3-G; English composition, room 3-H.

Friday: Modern Theories of social reform, room 3-H; Creative Writing, room 3-G.

Twelve Killed, 100 Hurt In Passenger Train Wreck—Eleven persons met death and 100 persons were injured, many of them critically, when two sister trains of the Southern Pacific railroad crashed head-on near Niland, Calif. Railroad officials blamed the sudden, unexplainable decision of a brakeman to throw a switch, for the wreck. Soldier Killed In Collision

Portland, Ore., Sept. 21 (AP)—An early morning collision of an automobile and truck-trailer on N. E. Union avenue south of Denver killed Herschel Moody, 23, Portland, seriously injured William Dusenberry, 21, of 542 N. Jackson St., Roseburg and hurt D. J. Phair, 25, Warren, Ore. All were soldiers at Vancouver barracks.

Moody, driving with the other two soldiers to the barracks from Portland, struck the left front of the trailer with such force that his vehicle was wedged under the wreckage and he died there, passerby being unable to extricate him. The truck was driven by Harold E. Bradford, 19, Lyle, Wash., en route here with a consignment of pears.

Phair told investigators that he and the other soldiers, all musicians, had played at an army dance at the barracks, took three Portland girls home and were en route back to their quarters. What caused Moody to hit the trailer could not be immediately determined.

Dusenberry suffered a skull fracture and Phair received chest, arm and face cuts and some teeth were driven through his chin.

King Again Pleads Balanced Budget

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP)—Senator William H. King, (D., Utah) repeated today his plea for a balanced federal budget. He asserted that recent business progress has been due to increased expenditure of private capital rather than to government spending.

"The government," he said, "could do more to aid business by telling the country it was going to balance the budget—and balancing it—and by avoiding legislation tending toward socialistic and totalitarian control of business than it can do by its spending programs.

"We've got to increase taxes unless we reduce expenditures. Recurring deficits of three or four billion dollars can have only one effect—waken the credit of the country. I think congress should address itself to reducing expenditures during the coming session."

Negro Leaves State

Dallas—James Clark, Negro truck driver, charged with drunken driving in Independence, was given three days to leave the state or be imprisoned for 90 days when he appeared in justice court Tuesday morning. He decided to leave the state within the three day period and on this understanding, was released.

Electric Line to Use Big Right-of-Way

Portland, Ore., Sept. 21 (AP)—More than 180 parcels of land will be purchased for the "backbone" transmission line that will carry power to western Oregon and Washington, the Bonneville administration announced late yesterday.

Bids from abstract companies covering title work on the properties are being studied by members of the project's staff.

Berwood Jones, chief of the Bonneville land division, said the successful bidder will perform the necessary search of all public records affecting title to lands and will furnish information to aid in adjusting boundary lines.

The transmission line will be 35 miles in length and 300 feet wide. Clearing operations already have been started by WPA crews.

Cord Wood Burned

Wacoona—Fire of unknown origin broke out in the C. C. Russell woods in Mission Bottom, where a large quantity of wood was stacked, and latest reports were that 825 cords of wood had been burned. Russell is trucking the rest of the wood out as fast as possible. The fire is still smoldering.

Anti-Seining Bill Stricken from Ballot

Decree was filed in circuit court here today by Judge Earl C. Latourette of Oregon City permanently enjoining Secretary of State Earl Snell from placing the Columbia river anti-seining bill on the November ballot.

The decision was outcome of proceedings instituted in circuit court here to which Judge Latourette was assigned for the hearing, and completed with legal arguments recently before Judge Latourette at Oregon City. Accompanying the brief decree was also an order for a directed verdict on behalf of E. A. Stovvik, one of the defendants, in which it is held no evidence was introduced proving a cause of suit against such defendant.

Francis Adams, assistant attorney general, who appeared for Secretary of State Earl Snell in the case, stated this morning as far as the state was concerned there would be no appeal taken.

While the decree specified no reasons for granting the permanent injunction merely in effect reciting the fact itself, Assistant Attorney General Adams stated the specific ground for granting the decree was failure of the Oregon Wild Life Council, sponsor for the petition, to file a complete and accurate financial statement as to expenditures had in connection with the measure. It had been alleged that $1000 was contributed for advancement of the measure and that some of the circulators were paid for circulation of the petition in violation of law.

In fact, a stipulation drawn up before the arguments were had admitted it to be true that money was expended on circulators, that a large number of names were not properly verified, that false jurats were affixed by notaries public and that the statement of expenditures filed was not complete and accurate in that it did not list the expenditures of money for payment to circulators of some of the petitions.

Adams said it had been admitted among some of the attorneys that the fact of money being paid to circulators would not in itself invalidate the petitions, rather, he stated, it was contended that such could only be met by penal action. He also stated that when all the figures had been compiled showing signatures held to be invalid, there were still five more valid signatures than the number required to place the bill on the ballot.

As a result, he said, the only valid objection to the petitions was failure to make a complete, true and accurate statement of expenses involved. Those filing the statement of expenses were absolved from any knowledge of the fact that other money had been expended and it was stated the one preparing the statement had been in the east before preparing the statement and had absolutely no knowledge of such fact. However, under the law, he stated, it is the duty of the secretary of state to refuse to file such petition unless it is accompanied by a true, complete and accurate statement of expenditures and it was on this ground the court ruled the petitions out and granted the permanent injunction.

Other defendants named in the case than Secretary of State Snell were J. G. Beck, Hugo Paul, Frederick S. Wilhelm and E. A. Stovvik.

Mrs. George Welsh Visits Relatives

Gervais—Mrs. George T. Welsh who, with a companion, has spent the summer months at Newport, stopped en route to their home in Walla Walla, Wash., at the home of her brother, S. H. Brown, and spent several days. Mrs. Welsh is the oldest living member of the Brown family being past 80 years. While visiting here Mrs. Brown entertained one afternoon in her honor when guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown and daughter, Sybil, of Portland, Mrs. Scott Jones and Mrs. Virginia Booster.

Both Capital And Labor Hit By Mr. White

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP)—Criticism of both capital and labor came last night from William Allen White, Emporia, Kan., editor, in an appeal for them to unite in preserving democratic rights and privileges.

White told the seventh International management conference labor had turned to political advancement of its bosses instead of seeking better wage and hour standards and working conditions.

"Let me say this to class-conscious labor," he said: "It should know the same patriotic indignation which turned upon a federal class-conscious plutocracy and wrecked its power will turn upon a class-conscious proletariat and deny its aims."

Industry, he continued, was forced to contend with labor racketeers and the sit-down strike after it disregarded pleas for labor justice.

"Employers' foresight rather than 'recalcitrant reaction' years ago, he said, would have solved problems arising from the eight-hour day, unemployment insurance and collective bargaining.

"This hour has no time for the man who refuses to compromise even to his own hurt," White said. "Half of the civilized world today beyond our borders has surrendered the rights, privileges and blessings which democracy affords to free men."

Turning to the wage-hour law, which he said arose from inability to obtain industrial peace with justice to child labor and minimum wages for women, White said: "The law was generally considered by its opponents a kick—will you allow me to say—in the pants for American industry.

"But apparently that is where Americans—all—laborers, bosses and consumers—keep their brains and we got the kick where it would do the most good."

Pope Asks for Peace Prayers

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Sept. 21 (AP)—Pope Pius XI, who chose the name for his pontificate hoping it would be an era of peace, today asked all Catholic churches of Rome to devote an hour next Sunday to prayers for peace.

The pontiff instructed all churches of the city to hold an hour of adoration for the purpose.

Earlier today, while receiving a group of French pilgrims, he gave added evidence of his concern over international events.

A Vatican news service quoted the Pope as telling the pilgrims he "gave great blessings to all France and to Europe which is so greatly threatened in this moment."

"We place our hopes in the mercy of God. We hope all these threats and fears which hang over Europe may disappear," he was quoted as saying.

When Pope Pius was elected supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic church February 6, 1922, he thus explained his choice of a papal name which had been borne by ten predecessors:

"I was born under a Pius; I came to Rome under a Pius; Pius is the name of peace—then Pius shall be my name."

Three miners trapped in the diggings were rescued.

The dead, all married: William Brown, 63, bratticeman; William Green, 50, mine mechanic, and Thomas Manning, 50, miner.

Thomas Bidduph, 52, suffered a badly crushed body and was in a critical condition.

Rescuers found James Roberts, miner, uninjured after they cut through the upheaved tunnel floor. Later they rescued Luigi Schianni and Joe Pallone, neither of whom was seriously hurt.

Former Residents Of Bethel Visitors

Bethel — Mrs. Marguerite Geotze of Portland, sister to George Bahnsen, has been visiting at the Bahnsen home en route from California to her home in Portland. A brother, Henry Bahnsen and son Alfred Mahnsen who have spent the summer in this district, where they own a fine dairy farm, left here by auto to drive to their home in San Diego where Alfred is entering school. Mrs. Geotze accompanied her brother and nephew south and visited her sister, Mrs. Tina Long at Smith River, California. All the above mentioned grew up in Bethel district on the Bahnsen farm and are well known here.

Ten Goats Sent To Wielder of Baton

Portland, Ore., Sept. 21 (AP)—Soaped and scrubbed to a point where their habitual B.O. was sen-nationally absent, 10 goats rolled out of Portland last night on a fast express for Massachusetts. They were headed for the farm of Arthur Rodzinski, goat-loving baton chief of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra. When Rodzinski was here last August to lead the Portland Stadium Philharmonic he visited the goat farm of W. E. Blatter and bought five blooded ruminants. Later he ordered five more for delivery to his farm.

A goat, explained the great musician, is an adorable critter, with much affection and a stimulating personality. Their odor, he said, was caused by the muck which he advocated coping approximately a mile to the leeward, in a snug pen.

Does Your Breath Broadcast "I Wear False Teeth"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-accum that collects on plates and bridges. This acium soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing can stop "denture breath"—and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 50¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!
