

SOCIETY

By Roby Laughlin

TOMORROW is Sunday, May 14—Mother's Day. The day set aside for mother, that we may better show our admiration and love for the one who is our best friend at all times. . . . The past week has been crowded with small, informal parties honoring mothers and tomorrow will see families together for dinner, tea or casual Sunday night supper. . . . The churches will be packed with those attending the special services in reverence to mothers the world over. . . .

This week has seen a slackening in tempo in social circles, the only really large affair being the benefit bridge tea given at the Homer Goulet country place by the Junior Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church. . . . This year drew a large number of the Spring season and many from out-of-town. . . . Other parties were of small and very informal nature, with several hostesses entertaining for their clubs. . . .

Visitors and brides-elect are breaking almost even in honors these days and much of the entertaining is done for them. . . . The latest Salem debutante to announce her wedding plans is Miss Marguerite Smith, whose marriage on May 27 to Robert Rieder will be one of the bright spots on the Spring calendar. . . . Miss Jo Taylor hosted a small group this week for the pleasure of Miss Smith and many more parties are being planned in her honor. . . .

Members of the MacDowell club are making plans for a "telephone" benefit bridge Thursday, May 18. Bridge will be in play at various homes in Salem, and at the end of the afternoon high scores will be telephoned to the chairman of the party committee and prizes will be awarded.

Mrs. Wallace Wharton is chairman of the committee in charge, and assisting her are Mrs. Delbert Schwabauer, Mrs. Leon W. Gleason, Mrs. David Bennett Hill, Mrs. Carl Cover and Mrs. George Rittenman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Winslow this week announced the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Gertrude Virginia Winslow, to Waldemar Alexander Ayres of New York City. The ceremony will be performed Sunday afternoon, May 21, at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in North Church street.

Miss Winslow announced the plans for her marriage recently in New York City at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Story in Jackson Heights.

Miss Winslow is a graduate of Salem schools and the University of Oregon. For several years she has been in New York studying interpretive dancing with Hanya Holm and also serving as executive secretary of the religious drama council of New York City.

Miss Winslow and her fiancé will arrive in the capital early next week.

Visiting in Salem for several days this week was Mrs. E. Fritz Slade of Portland, a former resident here.

The Salem Woman's club met at the clubhouse in North Cottage street this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for a Mother's Day program. Mothers and daughters of club members were special guests.

Mrs. Arden A. Reed was chairman of the program. Prof. W. C. Jones of Willamette university spoke and Mrs. Josephine Albert Spaulding was the soloist.

The tea committee was headed by Mrs. Ronald Glover.

Judge and Mrs. John L. Rand and Mrs. Edward Burke have returned to the capital following a stay in Baker and Pendleton. The Rands were entertained in Baker by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Langdon Rand.

The Leslie Junior high school girls' league entertained Friday afternoon at a Mother's Day program in the auditorium at the school, with over one hundred members and guests present for the affair.

The party was arranged by the activity chairman, Mary Ann Lowe, assisted by the league's director, Miss Madeline Hanna.

The room was decorated with large bouquets of yellow and lavender iris. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with yellow and lavender iris.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sisson and Miss Carol Seagraves poured.

Mrs. Frank McCulloch of Portland has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dan McLellan.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lachmund for several days is Mrs. Paul R. G. Host of Paris.

Mrs. Lachmund entertained at tea this afternoon for the visitor and several other parties are being planned for her pleasure.

Salem folk are receiving invitations to the marriage of Miss Ardene Brocamp, daughter of Mrs. Cecile Brocamp of Des Moines, Wash., and Robert D. Lodmell of Seattle.

The ceremony will be performed Saturday evening, May 27, at 8 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church in Des Moines.

Mr. Lodmell is well known in Salem, where he was a member of the United Press staff for some time. He is a graduate of the University of Montana and a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Alpha Psi Delta Mothers' club will entertain with a dessert supper next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Stone in Leslie street. Husbands of members are being invited as guests.

Special guests for the evening will be Prof. and Mrs. William C. Jones, Prof. and Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson and Dr. and Mrs. R. Ivan Lovell.

The Little Garden club sponsored another delightful floral display Wednesday in which forty or more displays of lovely iris, some as exotic in appearance as orchids, were arranged by Mrs. Homer McWain and Mrs. Edwin Hoffnail, chairman of the event.

Mrs. Lewis E. Judson, president of the Little Garden club, was hostess in her delightful home, having invited all members of the Garden clubs of Marion and Polk counties to enjoy the exhibition and to meet Mrs. Charles A. Sprague, the guest of honor. Many members of Independence, Stayton, Liberty, Salem and Gaiety Hill Garden clubs called during the afternoon.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Clarence W. Noble and Mrs. R. E. Cartwright. Mrs. C. A. Kells introduced to the line.

Mrs. A. A. Taylor, Mrs. William Neimeyer and Mrs. Myron Van Eaton had charge of the dining room. Mrs. Alvin B. Stewart and Mrs. Conrad Falk poured during the first hour; Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. Charles W. Sawyer during the remainder of the afternoon.

JOINING the ranks of popular Salem debutantes who are busy these days with plans for their weddings is Miss Marguerite Smith, attractive daughter of the Walter H. Smiths, who this week-end is announcing her bridal party. . . .

Miss Smith's marriage to Robert E. Rieder will be solemnized the evening of Saturday, May 27, at 8 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal church and will be one of the largest weddings of the season. Rev. Mr. George H. Swift will read the impressive service.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father, Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Francis Smith, will be her matron-of-honor and bridesmaids will be Mrs. A. Terrence King, Miss Mary Agnes Meagher, Miss Jo Taylor and Miss Bobbie Shinn.

Preceding the exchange of vows Miss Betty Starr of Portland will sing "Because" and "For You Alone." Mrs. Kenneth Dalton will be accompanist and also will play the wedding marches.

Mr. Rieder has chosen George R. Ferguson of Corvallis to serve as best man and ushers will be Francis Smith, Dr. A. Terrence King, Lenard Robertson and Dean Robert Jones.

A reception following the ceremony will be held in the lovely gardens at the Smith home in Mission street.

The East Division of the Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Robert Elstrom, 1636 Center street.

The Berean Bible class of Calvary Baptist church met for a no-host dinner Thursday evening in the church, followed by a social hour. Rev. F. C. Stannard, teacher of the class, spoke on the lives of Peter and Paul.

Mrs. Lillis Price, accompanied by her brother, Frank Anderson, and his son, Carl, of Des Moines, Iowa, left today for a stay of six months in the east. They accompanied another brother, Harold Anderson, to Seattle and left for the east from there.

Probably no stories remain more firmly attached to the minds of youngsters than those from "Mother Goose." A special treat for young and old alike is being offered this year by Barbara Barnes when she presents her eleventh annual Dance Revue on June 1 and 2 at the Capitol theatre.

The Revue, a dance presentation in three acts, opens with "A Modern Mother Goose" in which is portrayed many of the beloved characters from the grand old book so dear to the hearts of everyone who enjoys fantasy. Pretty Bobbie Shafte, Mary and her Little Lamb, the Queen and Knave of Hearts, Little Boy Blue, Little Jack Horner, Jack and Jill, Humpty Dumpty, and a score of other very real characters are appearing on the stage in song and dance roles that will delight.

Other acts will include Dr. Rhythm and His Cure, a dancing comedy in one act, and a variety program in the form of diversissements. The Dance Revue will be followed by the regular picture program which will be especially suitable for the occasion.

Mrs. Homer L. Goulet presided at a dessert luncheon this afternoon at her country home in honor of a group of her friends. Mrs. Goulet entertained with a similar affair last Saturday afternoon.

Making up tables for bridge following luncheon were Mrs. Russell Pratt, Mrs. Edward Roth, Mrs. Robert Joseph, Mrs. Kimball Page, Mrs. W. L. Lidbeck, Mrs. Creighton Jones, Mrs. Eugene Tupker and Mrs. Howard Adams.

BIB 'N' TUCKER

BLACK . . . and white came into prominence as a smart color combination at Wednesday's benefit party given by the Junior Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church. . . . Mrs. Walter Holts, one of Salem's most charming matrons, was glimpsed in a black crepe frock with a full skirt and a chic jacket, accented with a white collar. Her hat was a large black one to match her dress. . . . Mrs. William Busick also wore black and white, her hat being an unusually clever one of the "flower pot" type with a smart arrangement of stripes. . . . Mrs. John Benkey was most attractive in a two-piece black costume, the jacket of which was covered with soutache braid, and a large black and white hat. . . . Mrs. Kenneth Bell wore a chic black and white print with a black hat. . . . Going in for a bit of color was Mrs. Charles G. Robertson, Jr., who wore a stunning beige, chartreuse and brown print on a green background and a toast colored picture hat with brown veiling. . . . Mrs. Robert Needham accentuated her brunette beauty with a fuchsia and blue print embei- (concluded on page 10, column 6)
