

Sheridan Is Ready for Annual Historical Celebration

Event Features Indian Relics, Modern Queen

Sheridan—With Sheridan streets and business houses all decorated, the town named for the famous general, Phil Sheridan, who was stationed in this section from 1857 to 1861, is fast preparing for the annual Phil Sheridan day to be staged Friday, June 16.

The Browning Amusement company will bring their carnival attractions here on Tuesday and remain over the entire week. Scott's band and Rowland's band will furnish music throughout the day, both in the big parade and at the celebration morning and afternoon in the city park.

Prizes will be given for the best collection of relics, an added attraction this year; as well as prizes for the best Indian relics, as this is a pioneer celebration.

Much interest is centered around the election of the queen of the day, who is crowned by Mayor Ed J. Bayliss. Mrs. Leo Cox has charge of the election. Voting has been spirited and Mrs. Olive Flynn sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, is heading the list of candidates, and Mrs. E. O. Snow of Harmony is running a close second.

Mrs. Mae Moe, sponsored by the Bellevue community, is giving Mrs. Snow a close race. Mrs. Colleen Wooden of Gold Creek, Mrs. Theresa Ray of Valley Junction, and Mrs. G. M. Phillips of Buell, all having big prospects. All will be princesses to the one of the six now in the race who wins the queenship.

The fire department has arranged a full sports program for the afternoon to begin at 3:30 o'clock in the city park, with attractive prizes given to the participants, both men and women, boys and girls.

The big event of the day is the parade with its floats, its Indians, its pioneers, its cowboys, pioneer families and beautifully decorated cars representing the business houses of the city and first of all, General Phil Sheridan riding ahead on his famous horse. This parade, which is in charge of L. P. Wohlgemuth and Cecil Harrison, will assemble for registration at the S. P. station and proceed down Sheridan and Main streets to the city park.

Here, at 11:30 o'clock, the queen will be crowned by Mayor Bayliss, E. M. Huntley, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presiding.

A basket lunch will follow in the park, the Chamber of Commerce furnishing free coffee and cream. Pioneers will register at this time and old friends will visit during the noon hour and listen to her princesses will be entertained at noon with a luncheon.

There will be speeches in the afternoon by pioneers and Walter Mescham of Portland will give the address of the day.

A dance will be held at night in the American Legion hall.

Episcopal Rector Retiring at Albany

Albany—Dr. C. E. Coles, minister in charge of St. Peter's Episcopal church here, announced yesterday that he would retire, temporarily, from the ministry, his resignation becoming effective September 1, whereupon a successor will take charge under arrangements not yet completed.

His decision to retire, Dr. Coles said, came following a discussion with Bishop Benjamin Dagwell of the Oregon diocese, during which it was agreed that a change of policy here would be at this time opportune.

Dr. Coles had not yet formulated future plans. He came here two years ago from Seaside.

Silverton Store Is Modernized

Silverton—Among business improvements during the month have been the re-arranging and remodeling of the J. C. Penny company store under the supervision of J. W. Jordan assisted by Bob Bissell.

The center floor is has been replaced with modern display tables of oak with display dividers of grained maple. Two large electric fans for ventilation have been placed at either end of the store suspended from the ceiling. The fans are of tomato type of 24-inch blade spread moving 4800 cubic inches of air per minute. Two smaller fans are in the balcony room, making practically one-third more display surface than formerly.

"Snowball" Slips Home But Keeps Silence

Silverton—One of the follow-up stories of Silverton's fire that destroyed three main business places of town the early morning of October 14, last year, was the disappearance of the "Snowball" restaurant for more than five years.

When Tony and the fire chief broke through the flames the morning of the fire, opening the front door of the place, Snowball, alone and yowling, called past the two men through the door and the last seen of him was a mere streak running East Hill at a break-all-recording rate of speed.

Snowball was not such a good looking animal, but he was appreciated for his good work in hunting mice and rats, and the family began a serious search for him. Never a word. Sunday evening, almost eight months since his take-off, Snowball greeted his master and mistress at the back door, was admitted, no questions asked, and up to late Monday afternoon, was prowling around, very much as formerly, just a little suspicious of his many former friends but on the lookout for rodents in the adjoining rooms of the rebuilt restaurant.

Aumspaugh Flees From Burning Home
Independence—A fire Sunday destroyed the home of Mert Aumspaugh about midnight, in North Independence.

Aumspaugh, a widower, who lives on the corner of Jew and Log Cabin streets, was asleep in the house, and barely escaped with his life. He was aroused from his sleep by the crackling of fire and escaped with little clothing on. Neighbors were aroused but nothing was saved but a circulator, a spring cot and some bedding. It is thought that the fire caught in the roof, probably from defective wiring.

Aumspaugh's daughter had been living in the home with him but sometime during the day had left to go to visit some relatives and had taken her clothing and other belongings with her.

There had been no fire in the house since the morning and Mr. Aumspaugh had retired about 9:30 o'clock. The fire had made considerable headway before the fire department arrived.

Summerlike Day Lures Swimmers To 'Ol' Hole

Independence—Responding to the call of the first summer days, the river at Independence was the scene of a number of boys and girls in swimming in the old swimming hole on the Marion county side of the river Sunday.

Several motor boats were brought into action and which also created some excitement for the day. The "Jitter Bug," a very popular speed boat, performed very nicely and gave joy-rides to a number of young people. Several other heavier craft were on the river and piled leisurely up and down the long stretch of water above and below the ferry.

A number of sightseers lined the banks to watch the maneuvers of the swimmers and boats.

Summer Play Program Opens

In as far as is possible, all class work is done in the open. Periods Monday forenoon in story telling, softball, badminton and other sports were on the school lawn and the regular playground of the Eugene Field school.

The registration will probably be double that of Monday later in the week as the three Lutheran summer Bible schools are now in session and the Active club tennis tournament is underway.
