

Bus Dedication "All Silverton" Day Event Saturday

Plaque Calls Attention to Noted Resort

Silverton—"All-Silverton" day will be observed Saturday and if weather permits, the greatest drawing card of the week's baseball games, the Silverton Bees vs. the Eugene Drakes, will culminate a day's program.

The outstanding feature of the afternoon's pleasures will be the dedication of the "City of Silverton", a Greyhound bus that travels the coast route and will bear that appellation on the outside of the bus and a plaque on the inner wall, informing the tourist public that Silverton is the Gateway of the Silver Falls state park.

L. E. Shippey, district passenger agent, and G. Imboden, local agent, will have prominent places on the program.

Mrs. Frances Mehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mehl, who represented Silverton as crown princess of the Silverton-Mt. Angel float, will break the bottle containing water from the Silver Creek falls area at the christening. Shippey will present the plaque to the Chamber of Commerce, who will in turn place it in the interior of the bus. He will also present a large colored picture of the bus to the forum to hang in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

T. T. Leonard will act as master of ceremonies. Mayor Zetta Schlador will give the address of welcome and will be the formal recipient of the bus in the name of the town as an advertising medium on its travels. A brief history of travel will be read by a member of the committee in charge and the American Legion band is scheduled to play during the afternoon.

The time of the dedication of the bus has been tentatively set for 2:30 o'clock p.m., near the stage terminal. The committee in charge of plans includes Leonard, R. B. Duncan, W. Russell and Ernest Starr.

City and civic officials and members of the committee will be "taken for a ride" around town following the right of inspection of the bus by the general group of guests.

Silverton—During the latter part of the week Harold J. (Curley) Leach received a letter from a woman now residing in Camas, Wash., by the name of Mrs. Ben Coplan. These facts meant nothing to him until the contents of the letter revealed the story that Mrs. Coplan was his own mother whom he had not seen or known her whereabouts for more than 22 years.

The large family was separated when Mrs. Leach was left a widow and relatives and friends took members of the family of small children and some moved to various parts of the northwest from Lexington, Ore., to make their homes.

Leach is married and has one daughter, Miss Haroldine Leach. The Silverton family plan to make the trip to Camas during the week where they hope to learn the story of the lives of each other during the long separation.

Albany Groceryman Breaks Bilking Ring

Albany—Due to the alertness of a local grocery dealer an alleged check ring was rounded up in Portland by police for Albany authorities Monday. Those comprising the alleged bad check ring are Claude Risley, alias Roy Gordon; Grant Allen and Mrs. Grant Allen. No less than ten merchants were bilked, it was reported.

The three were brought to Albany today by Deputy Sheriff Mike Southard.

Detection was accomplished, local police explained, by means of an automobile license number which had been secured by Reese Dooley, one of the forger's victims, just as the car bearing the number was presumably leaving town.

Dooley placed the number on his delivery truck. That night the truck was cleaned out by a store employee and the refuse hauled to the city dump. Monday morning Dooley went to the dump and scraped through bushes of stuff before finding the looked for scrap of paper. He reported immediately to the chief of police.

With the aid of the secretary of state's office and Portland police the ownership of the car and address of the owner were procured.

Portland officers went to the address Monday in Portland and there found Allen in the car bearing the number Dooley had noted. In the house they found Risley and also took into custody Mrs. Allen.

It was found that the alleged check writers came to Albany and established their credit by depositing a small sum in a local bank. On June 10, in taking advantage of their established credit, it was alleged the trio cashed ten or more checks ranging from $3 to $15 in size. The checks were returned because of lack of funds.

It was understood here that Risley had confessed to the crime.

Woodburn—Friends and members of the Methodist church gathered in the church auditorium Monday night to bid farewell and express their good wishes to Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Kleen who, with their two children, will leave soon to make their home at Farmington, Calif. Mrs. Charles Jones was in charge of the program, which included songs by Charlotte and Willard Kleen, a vocal solo by Mrs. Herman Stone, vocal duet by Mary Buchanan and Pearl Porter, a vocal solo by Rev. Kleen and a duet by Rev. and Mrs. Kleen. Short talks of appreciation for the work done by the Kleens and the good fellowship enjoyed during their stay of three years in Woodburn were given by Rev. George R. Cromley of the Presbyterian church, Rev. A. W. Phillips of the Poursquare church and Rev. T. J. O'Connor of the Christian church.
