Escaped Cons Rob Grocery

Oakland, Calif., June 21 (AP)—Two convicts, who assaulted a minister at Redding after they escaped from a prison road camp, robbed a grocery store in East Oakland early today and fled in a stolen automobile.

The robbers were identified by police and Dave Schwartz, the grocer, as E. W. Richards and James O'Connell, Los Angeles convicts.

Schwartz reported he entered his grocery store at 6:30 a. m. when two men rattled the front door. He thought they were working men and opened the door.

The men said they wanted to buy some soap but as Schwartz turned to get it they brandished lead pipes and said:

"This is a holdup! Where's your money?"

"It's in the cash register," Schwartz replied. "Help yourself."

The men took between $50 and $60 and then demanded that the grocer give them some beer. Schwartz told them it was in a cooler at the front of the store and for them to take what they wanted.

They ordered him to get it and he hurried to the cooler, then suddenly ran out the front door and shouted for help. The men hastily entered the automobile and drove away.

Guards were posted on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge.

Laborites Vote Resolutions

Eugene, Ore., June 21 (AP)—Delegates to the annual state convention of the Oregon Federation of Labor today resumed consideration of the more than 70 resolutions introduced yesterday.

One of the major resolutions—and one which carried potentialities of fireworks later in the week when it reaches the convention floor—demanded that the federation favor a third term for President Roosevelt because it had given support to the September primary referendum.

Last week it was charged that the federation, together with the grange and unnamed Oregon "liberals" had opposed the primary shift as part of a long-range program which would include a third-term "test vote."

The grange convention issued an official denial of the charge, and the resolution offered yesterday indicated that the labor group would join in the refutation.

Speakers last yesterday included Ernest P. Marsh, federal labor commissioner, who urged unionists to "examine your leaders with a microscope," but pledged his own opposition to the Oregon anti-plecting law.

B. A. Green, Portland labor attorney and a major figure in the fight against the law, told the delegates the present convention, under a strict interpretation of the statute, is a "criminal act."

Grocers Told Of Food Stamps

Kansas City, Mo., June 21 (AP)—The fate of the government's food stamp plan today was placed in the hands of the nation's grocers by President Milo Perkins of the federal surplus commodities corporation.

He explained to the national convention of retail grocers the government's plan of giving to persons receiving public assistance surplus commodities equal to half of the consumer's regular grocery purchase.

The plan has been inaugurated in Rochester, N. Y., and Dayton, O., since May 16. Expansion depends on its success there, Perkins said.

"The stamp plan places a tremendous responsibility upon the food trades of America," he said. "There is no interference with private business in this program but there is a great trust placed in private business by it.

"If it is expanded upon a national basis, the farmers of this country will be counting upon you to make an aggressive effort to sell their surplus products and thereby give them a greater income with which to buy those things which jobless men in the cities should be at work producing for them."

Church Aims Told By Rev. Williams

Need of a sympathetic understanding of what the church is trying to do from a viewpoint of all approaches to religion is necessary and the "bunk" in religion lies with the individual who insists that his approach is the only possible one, Rev. Irving Williams, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, told the Rotary club this noon. There are fundamental truths underlying all approaches and none are exclusive, he declared.

The best men in the world have a great sense of humanity, Rev. Williams continued in urging the club members to look for love in fellowmen and to assume a practical and workable viewpoint towards the church and its pastor.

Fish Food Lab for Astoria Planned

Portland, June 21 (AP)—The state fish commission considered a proposal Tuesday to establish a laboratory at Astoria for research in preservation of fish for food.

Commissioner Merle Chessman of Astoria and Ernest H. Wiegand, Oregon State College expert who offered his services, said a cannery building now owned by Clatsop county was available. Maintenance costs were estimated at $6500. The commission approved the plan providing financial arrangements could be made.

The group decided to appeal from a Douglas county circuit court decision prohibiting it from enforcing a lien on a packing plant for failure to pay poundage fees. The court asserted the action violated the state constitution.

Campaign to Cut July 4 Accident Toll

Chicago, June 21 (AP)—"Be alive on the fifth!"

With this slogan the National Safety Council today launched a campaign to cut down the Fourth of July accident toll.

Last year 8,270 persons—more than twice the number killed in the Revolutionary war which the day commemorates—met death in July accidents, a large proportion of them in celebration of Independence day.

"If history repeats itself, the Fourth of July this year will bring a national catastrophe," the council said. "Thousands will be killed or injured. Children will be maimed for life."

The council separated the major causes of death on Independence day into traffic crashes, drownings and fireworks, and urged the following safety rules:

1. "Use ordinary caution and common sense in driving."
2. "Be temperate."
3. Observe the accepted safety rules when swimming or boating.
4. Parents should caution their children not to use fireworks or explosives in celebration of the day.
5. Public officials should arrange public fireworks displays, manned by experienced workmen, to replace private use of fireworks.
6. Communities and states which have not done so should pass laws prohibiting the sale of fireworks.

British Renew Russian Parley

Moscow, June 21 (AP)—Armed with new instructions from their governments, the British and French ambassadors visited Premier-Foreign Minister Vycheslav Molotov this afternoon to continue negotiations for a mutual assistance accord.

The ambassadors, Sir William Seeds and Paul Emile Naglar, were accompanied by William Strang, special envoy of the British foreign office.

The interview was arranged at the request of the British and French embassies.

Neither side has admitted the far east has as yet entered into the discussions. (Prime Minister Chamberlain told parliament today the negotiations were confined to European questions.)

A Soviet communique published this morning specifically denied Moscow was insisting on a guarantee of the Russian far eastern border.

The opinion held by some diplomats here is that the only vital issue now outstanding is whether Moscow wants to sign a pact now or prefers to wait and see what happens at Tientsin, where British and Japanese are in dispute, and in the free city of Danzig. Instructions from London and Paris, informed quarters said, contained a compromise over guarantees to Soviet Russia's three Baltic neighbors, an issue which has been considered the main obstacle to an agreement.

Deputy Denies He or Drager Took Any Money

Chicago, June 21 (AP)—Clarifying the position of the Townsend national recovery plan regarding the formation of a new political party, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, president, said today his organization did not intend to take such action at the present time.

"But if we don't get what we want that's all we could do," he added in an interview.

Some confusion arose yesterday when a statement from the headquarters of the old age pension movement quoted Dr. Townsend to the effect that the possibility of forming a new political party would be considered at the fourth national convention in Indianapolis this week. Convention officials denied it.

If the necessity for a new party arose, Dr. Townsend said today, it would probably be called the Townsend party of California and expanded from the organization already operating there.

He expressed hope his movement would receive co-operation from both the democrats and the republicans, and asserted if such support were lacking "we'll take the reins away from them." If circumstances justified it, consideration of a new party would be taken up this fall, he said.

Dr. Townsend left today for Indianapolis. The convention opens tomorrow.

250 Refugees Land At Boulogne-Sur-Mer

Boulogne-Sur-Mer, France, June 21 (AP)—A party of 250 German Jewish refugees landed Tuesday from the liner St. Louis, ending their tragic trans-Atlantic odyssey after they had been barred from Cuba.

The refugees will be housed in a hotel for two days, during which French authorities will decide whether they shall be assigned to specific residence somewhere in France or be allowed to choose their own homes.

Cooperating with French relief committees, representatives of American organizations undertook to defray all expenses and reimburse the French government for any money it spent. The American committee agreed to move the refugees as soon as immigration quotas in the United States and other countries are open.

Automobiles Would Carry Population

Washington, June 21 (AP)—More than enough automobiles were operated in the United States last year to carry the entire population.

The bureau of public roads today tallied 29,485,880 automobiles in operation during 1938, with 1,985,422 trailers and 108,541 motorcycles thrown in for good measure. The population of the country is about 130,000,000.

Automobiles used 21,406,636,000 gallons of gasoline, and operators paid an average of four cents a gallon tax on it, netting the states $771,764,000 in revenue. They paid $358,835,000 in registration and inspection fees, and reported $2,724,000 in fines and penalties.
