Big Top Headliner—Terrell Jacobs, foremost daredevil in the field of wild animal training, featured this season by Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey. Jacobs presents the largest mixed group of ferocious performing jungle beasts ever assembled.

Trainer of "Cats" Started with Pets

Terrell Jacobs, the only man who has ever dared to enter an arena with a mixed group of more than fifty ferocious jungle bred lions, tigers, panthers and leopards, is 35 and he has been twenty years getting to where he is now—an outstanding star of the big Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, coming to Salem Thursday, August 31.
Twenty years ago Jacobs was an Indiana farm boy whose way to school led past the winter quarters of a circus at Peru, Ind. Once he didn't go past. Early experience teaching his father's calves to drink out of a bucket and training his dog to jump over his pet pony, qualified him for a mental post in the animal department.
When spring touring started, he was along with the show, a gangling James Whitcomb Riley sort of a lad who had yet to acquire that hard glint in his eyes that the earth's meanest man-killers have learned to respect.
The point about Terrell Jacobs, generally acknowledged to be the greatest wild animal trainer in history, is the conventional pattern of his success story.
He is the man every boy who ever fetched water for elephants intended to be.
On his way to the top he has had to train every kind of furred and feathered creature ever presented under canvas.
He started with an act that included geese, rabbits, cockatoos and Rhode Island reds.
Jacobs says that the first thing an animal trained must learn is anatomy and that he should study taxidermy and veterinary work. He has boiled down carcasses of animals and strung bones together with wires, so that he would understand by actual research just what the strength of each species is and what can be expected in the way of jumps or feats.

"The bear is the easiest animal to train. Being naturally hind-legged, gives him a head start on the others, because every trick that animals are taught is an imitation of human behavior. Another advantage in the bear's favor is that he has a backbone like steel. Lions and tigers aren't conscious of anything but their trainer when they are in the arena."
Mrs. Utter Offered Shower of Gifts
Bethel—Mrs. M. H. Utter was honored on her birthday anniversary when Mrs. E. E. Matten opened her home on the Pen Road Thursday afternoon. A shower of gifts was presented at the meeting of the Fruitland church Home Missionary society held at Mrs. Matten was assisted in serving by her daughter, Mrs. James Lauderback.
Guests were Mrs. Utter, Mrs. Millie Brinkley, Mrs. Emma Runner, Mrs. Peter Egler, Mrs. Nick Gerig, Mrs. Fred Gier, Mrs. Anna Gird, Miss Daisy Lambert, Mrs. Kenneth Runner, Mrs. Orsa Fagg, Mrs. Roy Lively, Rev. Kauffman, Mrs. Nellie Bradow, Mrs. Lauderback and Mrs. Matten.
