

Gun Practice May Explain Battle Report

Frederikshavn, Denmark, Sept. 21 (AP)—Information that Swedish artillery units had been practicing on a low island several miles south of Særoe church offered a possible explanation today for the sounds of heavy cannonading that yesterday seemed to come from the east coast of Jutland.

Some of those who heard the firing insisted, however, the cannonading was too heavy to fit this explanation.

The sounds, they said, bore a strong resemblance to the thunder of heavy naval guns audible here during the famous World war battle of Jutland (May 31, 1916).

Others pointed out it is well known that acoustics play strange tricks in these waters.

There were reports among the fishermen German naval vessels had been observed in the northern waters of Kattegat between Denmark and Sweden, but these reports could not be confirmed.

British ships also have been reported recently in the eastern waters of Skagerrak off the northwest coast of Denmark.

Those who heard cannonading yesterday said more than 200 shots were fired, and that the sounds continued for hours.

Civic Players To Open Season

Tuesday evening, at the home of Ruth Versteeg, the Salem Civic Players who, for several years have favored Salem devotees of the legitimate stage with a number of outstanding and successful productions, held their first meeting of the season to discuss forthcoming productions and make plans for the coming year.

The Players, now in their fifth year, are under the direction of Miss Beulah Graham who, last year, directed such outstanding laugh successes as "Hay Fever" for the Elks' annual charity show, and "Royal Family" that delightfully humorous burlesque of the Barrymore family.

Several three act plays are under serious consideration, one of which is scheduled for production in the near future. Announcement of this play, also the date of tryouts, will be made within a few days. To this tryout, all persons interested in the various angles of amateur play production are invited, as it is reported that considerable dramatic activity is in prospect.

By producing worthwhile plays, dramas, farces, comedies, and one act specialties, the Players intend to make the coming season a very successful one, and one long to be remembered by Salem play-goers. Encouraged by adequate support this group can offer Salem outstanding presentations of the best new plays.

Agriculture Leads In Replacements

Agriculture led the parade of placements in the Oregon state employment service's banner August job matching accomplishment, a report by Director L. C. Stoll to the state unemployment compensation commission disclosed.

Thirty-five percent of the 12,548 regular placements recorded for the month now are following Oregon's various farm pursuits. In addition, a similar percentage of the 13,768 casual placements listed is estimated as having found their way to the farm.

Government service accounted for 27 per cent of the August totals. Officials credited an unusually heavy forest fire season as responsible for the relatively high percentage of placements in this category.

Public construction absorbed 10 per cent; lumber manufacturing 5 per cent; personal services 4 per cent; food manufacturing 3 1/2 per cent, and private construction, wholesale distribution and commercial mechanical services 2 1/2 per cent each.

Eighty-six percent of the regular placements were men.
