

Stocks Decline Irregularly For Holiday

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—Strength in wheat and heavy demand for copper metal featured the nation's markets today. Stock and bonds slipped off irregularly as traders watched cautiously in advance of the Washington's birthday holiday tomorrow.

Lack of demand for shares in the main list brought declines ranging to a point although there was no particular pressure. Many special issues made new highs and a few had wide gains.

Steels were depressed despite favorable news. The Iron Age saw indications of leveling off in the decline in operations shortly. Bethlehem touched off 1 1/2, but came back substantially. At its low U. S. Steel was off more than a point.

Automobile shares were firm except Chrysler which lost nearly a point. Studebaker, most active in the market, made a new high at 12 1/2 up 1/4. General Motors was up fractionally.

Railroad issues were steady to slightly easier on indications the next car loadings report will show a more than seasonal decline. Little trading was done in utilities and they fluctuated narrowly.

Aviations were mixed. Bendix made a new high at 3 1/2 up 1/4 point and then drifted down to a small loss. United Aircraft registered a small advance.

New highs for the year were made by Colgate, Consolidated Copper Mines, Inspiration Copper, Magna Copper, Miami Copper, Diesel-Wemmer-Gilbert, Diamond T. Motor, Twin Coach, General Telephone, Gillette, Howe Sound, Martin-Parry, Marshall Field and National Distillers.

Down Jones preliminary closing stocks: Industrial 148.34, off 0.21; rail 30.50 off 0.25; utility 25.05, up 0.05; 85 stocks 49.72 off 0.14. Stock sales approximated 780,000 shares against 810,000 shares yesterday. Curb stock sales were 168,000 compared with 810,000 shares in the previous session.

Soviet Tries to Crash Across Entire Isthmus

though many bombs were dropped yesterday damage was relatively slight. It said that probably 1,000 bombs fell in the town of Riihimaki and the surrounding area alone.

Today's two alarms in the capital were 10 minutes each, one beginning at 8:30 a. m., the second at 8:50.

Deny Koivisto Taken

The semi-official Finnish news agency denied a Russian news communique that the reds had captured the Finnish coastal fortress of Koivisto, western anchor of the Mannerheim line on the Karelian Isthmus.

The agency said Koivisto was still in Finnish hands and intact despite unrelenting Russian attacks.

Apparently attempting a knock-out blow from the skies, the Soviet aerial armada ranged southern and central Finland through the night and into the early morning hours, sending bombs crashing onto cities, railways and roads.

Nothing in the world's wars to date approaches the power of the Russian aerial offensive.

"Very many enemy tanks were destroyed," the Finns said, in the western sector near the Gulf of Finland, scene of some of the war's heaviest fighting which has brought the Russians within a few miles of Viipuri.

Enemy losses were described as heavy at Taipale where Finns said "the fighting raged fiercely until late at night."

Northeast of Lake Ladoga, 50 miles from the Isthmus front, there was relative quiet on the sector where Finland two days ago reportedly wiped out a Russian division, but "a few enemy strong points were captured."

Kuhmo Drive Fails
A Russian attempt to send reinforcements to surrounded detachments near Kuhmo, about midway on the Russian-Finnish frontier, was repulsed.

Finnish planes scouted behind the Soviet lines and bombed Russian encampments during a day which saw extensive aerial activity extending into the night.

"Several fierce air battles" were reported here in the war zone and far behind the lines but "in many cases attacks by enemy formations were foiled and formations dispersed."

The Finns charged a passenger train was machine-gunned and in one locality an infants' nursery damaged by bombs. However, only "a couple of civilians" were reported killed in the raids.

Air Raids Resumed
Two air raid alarms sounded in Helsinki as Russian warplanes returned to Finland to follow up their far-ranging raids of yesterday in which 10 persons were killed and 20 hurt in attacks on at least 30 communities.

Eight hundred Russian planes were authoritatively estimated to have participated in yesterday's raids, which continued into the early morning.

Boston Wool
Boston, Feb. 21 (AP)—A waiting attitude predominated in the Boston wool market today, the U. S. agriculture department reported.

Users were showing an interest in greasy combing domestic wools except for specialties such as low quantities of blood or for an occasional small quantity of some grade to place out stocks for immediate needs.

Despite the lack of demand holders of territory wools were maintaining quotations at last week's level. Combing three-eighths blood territory wool which is currently one of the most plentiful grades of domestic wools on this market were quoted fairly firmly at 80 to 82 cents scoured basis.

Salmon Fishing Tied Up by Strike

Astoria, Feb. 21 (AP)—Two hundred boats in the lower Columbia river winter fishing fleet left the drifts today to protest price reductions.

The Columbia River Fishermen's Protective Union said the tie-up, the first in the history of winter operations to supply the fresh fish market, was a "walkout" but not a strike.

Fishermen demanded 15 cents a pound for salmon and 10 cents a pound for steelhead. Buyers recently cut salmon to 13 cents and steelhead to eight, attributing the decline to release of frozen Alaska stocks and the unseasonal troll fishing off the Washington coast.

For quoting articles from foreign newspapers derogatory to Germany, a Swiss citizen, aged 66, has been sent to jail in Brunswick, Germany.

Drager Remains On Job Despite Conviction

age was revealed to him by the auditors.

"Evidently the verdict was based on the checks written during the period covered," said Mr. Drager this morning. "I wish to declare unequivocally that for every check written the money to cover them in full was placed in the till of the treasurer's office and the money for such checks paid into the county funds. I never took a dollar or a cent of county funds which was not paid into the county treasury in full. And as to the salary advance book I can say the county never lost a dollar from salary advances during my entire time in office."

Richardson Retrial

Date of the retrial of York Richardson, co-defendant with Drager and his former deputy, is still uncertain although there were indications it might be put off until March 1 or later as Judge McMahon has court matters to attend to at Albany. Francis Marsh, special prosecutor against Drager and Richardson, has expressed himself on several occasions as anxious to go ahead with the retrial of Richardson immediately while all the evidence is fresh in mind. Edwin Keech, attorney for Richardson, has been in favor of postponing the case. It was set for trial February 19, or last Monday, but with the Drager case running past that date it was automatically postponed.

Judge McMahon gave fairly brief instructions right after the court reconvened Friday afternoon yesterday afternoon. Prosecutor Marsh closing his final argument at about the noon hour.

The statutory penalty under the conviction is from one to 15 years imprisonment with a fine of not more than twice the amount alleged to have been illegally converted.

Farmers Sign At Scotts Mills
Scotts Mills—Farmers at Scotts Mills met and signed 1940 work sheets of the soil conservation program. Officers of county and district committees are in charge of the work.

The farmers of this community expressed their appreciation to the officers of the district for the meeting.

Farmers signed for the program which has never taken any part in the AAA program for the building up of their farm soil. It is the intention of the district committee to hold regular meetings hereafter in Scotts Mills.
