

Christian Endeavorers of State Observe Golden Jubilee

Coast Leaders Direct Thought Dallas Session

Dallas—The 50th annual Oregon State Christian Endeavor convention will be held in Dallas April 18-21, will bring prominent Christian Endeavor leaders of the Pacific coast to Dallas for the three-day meeting. Dr. Clarence Kircher of Sacramento, Calif., pastor counselor of the California Christian Endeavor union, will be one of the principal speakers. Another will be Albert Arend of Spokane, regional vice-president for the Pacific coast. Claude Neely of Portland will be present to take charge of musical activities and to lead the singing.

A state-wide registration contest is now being carried on among 17 districts. The contest is conducted by Phil Barrett of Eugene, and four of the districts have already reached their quotas. The awarding of places in the registration race during the convention is one of the colorful features of the sessions. Polk county is the local registration zone and with Salem expects to register about 400 delegates.

There will likely be special interest in the convention this year, as it was 50 years ago that the first state convention was held in Oregon. Another significant factor is that Dan Poling, international president of Christian Endeavor since 1925, once made his home in Dallas with his parents, attending church and college here, and was active in Christian Endeavor work even then.

This is the first time the state convention has ever come to Polk county. While the undertaking will be a big one, nevertheless the local convention committee, headed by Bruce Spaulding, is confident that the affair can be handled in good shape. Committees named a few weeks ago, are shaping plans and working out details for taking care of some 1500 delegates, many of whom will require lodging and breakfast.

The Dallas area includes Polk county and solicitation will be made of all towns in the county as well as rural districts in finding places for the delegates to stay.

Planning Unit Follows Advice Of Committee

Silverton—On motion of Attorney F. E. Sylvester and a second of the motion by Attorney Alf. O. Nelson last night at the Silverton community planning council, the group voted unanimously to abide by the decision of the executive committee of the planning council, whose action suggested the initiative route of getting the question of city management before the people as a vote in May.

The planning council also voted Dr. P. A. Loar, president, $50 for the services of an Oregon City attorney, E. Miller, as advisor in wording the petition to the city recorder, necessary to get the petition in circulation, and for other services of Miller on other occasions in the interest of the plan.

Dr. Loar explained to the large number present at the planning council that no report had been forthcoming from the advisory committee appointed months ago by the mayor and approved by the city council. The mayor, Mrs. Schlador, had previously told Dr. Loar, he said, that the committee would make partial report at last night's meeting through a member, Frank Wray. Wray was not present. Mrs. Schlador explained, he said, that the advisory group wanted to make a trip to Bend before making final decision and ascertain if city management were satisfactory there.

The board of health application was made upon petition of Mrs. Jean Faeh, Linn county health nurse, who alleges that Jensen has refused to remain at the state tuberculosis hospital at Salem, though he is afflicted with an advanced stage of the disease.

This is the first time such a procedure has been taken in Linn county in many years.

New Deal Scored By Corvallis Editor

Lebanon—Increase of numbers on the payrolls, oppressive business taxation, violation of the right of freedom of the press, violation of search and seizure provision of the constitution and creation of a greater government crises than during the Civil war were laid at the door of the new deal by C. E. Ingalls, newspaperman of Corvallis in a talk before the Lebanon Pro-America Monday evening.

He launched a bitter attack on those who would term the constitution "outmoded" and "a relic of the horse and buggy days" and urged that Pro-America shoulder the responsibility of educating the people to a finer appreciation of the constitution and exert a united front in preserving it to guarantee our democracy.

Following the main address, Mrs. John Gill explained the objects of the organization which was organized here only a month ago by Mrs. Roy Bishop of Portland.

Members decided to put on a stunt or other number for the community jamboree to be for the benefit of the PTA lunch room and kitchen. Fifty trees were reported received from the 40 at 8, three of which were planted at North Howell and the remainder "heeled in" awaiting the landscaping of the grounds of the new senior high school.

Plywood Plant Site Waiting Albany Title

Albany—Construction of a plywood mill at Second and Third lakes at the edge of Albany is now waiting on the title to the land surrounding the lakes and agreements for a railway spur with the Southern Pacific company and the Oregon Electric company, it was stated Tuesday.

Bringing the report up to date contracts have been entered into for the purchase of the Riley, Cooper and Cusick-Zahlsdorf, Burkhardt and Cooper tracts bordering on the lakes north of the city. It is hoped that all deals can be closed shortly and transfer of the property to the mill operators completed promptly.

Delay has been encountered with the Oregon Electric and Southern Pacific railway companies over the matter of the spur into the plywood plant and log dump. In view of the fact that the operations on the lakes promise in excess of 100 carloads of out going freight per month it is not expected that serious difficulty will be encountered by the railroads in working out a joint agreement for the construction.

The mill operators stated that construction will begin as soon as all details are complete and title to the property is in their hands.

Larceny Is Charged

Albany—Isaac Bestwick, Longview, Wash., was bound over in justice court here Tuesday to the circuit court grand jury under $500 bond after he had waived preliminary hearing on a larceny charge growing out of his alleged theft of $1725 from the cash drawer of the Albany hotel Monday.

Bestwick was arrested by Albany police upon complaint of L. E. Keeler, night clerk at the hotel, who asserted that through detection by himself and C. A. Stowell, Portland, a guest at the hotel, Bestwick was caught in the act of taking the money.

Bestwick had loitered in the lobby during the evening, where he had at one time served as bellboy.

Bestwick is in the county jail awaiting grand jury action.
