Old Building Middle Grove Awaiting Fate

Middle Grove — Patrons of the school will attend a second meeting called for by the school board for the purpose of discussing and voting upon a measure for the disposal of the old school building.

At the previous meeting Walter Davis, chairman of the school board, appointed a committee of five to secure information and estimates in regard to a selling price of the building and also the price of constructing a gym by WPA labor. Serving on the committee are Mrs. Charles Low, Fred Scharf, Mrs. John Woodburn, John Van Laanen and Earl Malm. This committee will report its findings at this meeting. Earl Malm represents the Junior Community club.

At this meeting it is hoped to secure motions favorable to the majority and these will be presented on a ballot to be voted upon at another called meeting of taxpayers and patrons of the community. Other members of the school board are Lawrence Hammer and John Cage with Orton Hilfiker as school clerk.

The new building is practically completed and occupation of it depends on the disposal of the old building as lights, desks and other articles are to be transferred to the new building.

M'leay Young Grange Group Offers Comedy

Macleay—That swindlers in pursuit of newly-made heiresses can't win in love was proven when the Macleay Young Grangers of America presented the three-act comedy, "Home Town Girl," at the Macleay Grange hall under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Wells. Much comedy was supplied by Washington Lafayette Stubbs, played by Harry Martin, Jr., whose main object in life was to get married and he went down the whole list of unmarried women in the little town to find one who would consent to be his wife, and in doing so aided in catching the crook in the play.

Other members of the cast were Luke Stone, Bill Dunigan; Caroline Arms, Beuna McKee; Marion Hastings, Jean Perry; Arthur Jennings, Willis Goebel; Mrs. Hastings Smith, Rose Martin; Leroy Hastings Smith, Richard McKee; Sherman O. Swift, Harry Way; Amanda Whitaker Helen Way; Ebenezer Whitaker, Raymond Striker, and Cynthia Simpson, Gerry Keene.

The cast will present the play at Pratum March 15.

Tumble Creek Road Project Started

Detroit—A crew of men went to work Monday building a mile of new road up Tumble creek to new timber. When the road is finished it is hoped logging operations will begin at once The timber will be logged by the Idanha Logging company, formerly Boulder Creek Logging company. The company is headed by W. B. Barton and William Lumm.

Mrs. Roy Newport, wife of the owner of the Newport store, has returned to her home here after spending some time in their Portland home.

The Sunday school that was organized here two weeks ago is proving very successful. The first Sunday 25 were in attendance while more than 30 attended the next week. Plans are now being made for a program to be given Easter morning.

Community Jamboree Committee Called

Silverton—The community jamboree committee, working in the interest of the financing of the school lunchroom and kitchen as a project of the PTA, will meet in the office rooms of Superintendent H. W. Adams of the Eugene Field building tonight for furthering plans of the March 29 program to be given by all organizations of town. The meeting is called for 7:30 o'clock sharp.

Eastern Linn Storm Bothers Utilities

Lebanon—Telephones and power lines in this city withstood the recent wind and rain storms well and little other damage was reported in Lebanon, but more severe consequences followed in the wake of the storm in south and east sections of the county.

The Mountain States Power company reported no services were suspended although three poles, two of them carrying one of the main sources of supply, were blown over and have since been re-erected. A half dozen telephone subscribers were without service a few hours because of fallen or short circuited lines.

A three-quarter mile stretch of the South Santiam highway just west of the Cascadia was closed to traffic Tuesday morning, choked with timbers and limbs. The gale also downed the toll line which was again in service by Tuesday evening.

Maintenance crews were repairing severed telephone service of several customers in Sweet Home and Brownsville Wednesday and were also repairing the toll circuit between the two cities.

Several farm phone lines were reported out of commission, and minor damage to a number of rural and urban buildings was reported.

A limb fell on the roof of the Whinery home on Main street and tore out shingles from the eaves.

Water Courses Swollen

Scio—Heavy warm rains and nominal temperatures have marked weather conditions in the Scio area during the last week. Water courses have been swollen but still within their banks and no damage reported. Elliott lane, usually more or less troublesome during freshets, has been under water at times.

The soil has passed saturation point, hence gradual rising of water courses heading in the Cascades, where snow will furnish water for springs, rivers, wells and reservoirs for irrigation later on.

RICHEST OF ALL GINS
$1.10 THE FIFTH

QUESTION: If Seagram's King Arthur Gin is richer than other gins, why can't you use a trifle less in cocktails and tall gin drinks?
ANSWER: You can! Try it—and see for yourself. The "soft-stilled" flavor comes through rich and full-bodied even when you "skimp" on the gin. Be wise. Say Seagram's for super-smooth drinks—that stay "rich to the last sip."
