

Grangers Deal with Many Local and State Problems

Resolutions Meet Approval Of Hills Unit

Silverton Hills—Aside from the regular routine of business of the local Grange, Alfred Loe, master in charge, and Mrs. Victor Howard, lecturer, seven resolutions were read, discussed and passed, some dealing with Grange questions and others with schools, farms and the monetary system of the United States. Mary Murray is resolutions committee chairman of the Silverton Hills Grange.

The group passed the resolution asking permission of the state grange to allow subordinate granges to have the final say concerning all important resolutions brought up for discussion at State Grange sessions. As the rules are now, the State Grange makes all these final decisions. The committee feels that the delegates to the State Grange do not understand the situation as the home members do.

A second resolution asks the State and National Grange to divide the state of Oregon into three sections when members of the executive committee are to be chosen, with one from each section and make two terms of service the limit. As it is now the members of the executive committee are elected from the state at large.

Resolution three urges the National Grange to work in harmony with a balanced cooperation among farm bureaus, farmers' unions and various labor and industrial groups.

Resolution four comes out with the statement that "The state legislature is unfair to the schools of Oregon," and asks that the power of the legislature be limited to the initiation, only, of all bills concerning any school question.

Number 5 has to do with the "Present trend to tenancy farming" and asks more consideration for the farm owner who is bearing a government debt on his farm. Another section asks the State Grange legislative committee to repeal the law which the local resolutions committee ever is unconstitutional requiring property qualifications for those who vote at school affairs.

Resolution No. 6 wants the time of the State Grange meeting changed to the second week in April instead of in June as is now in force, as this would be a less busy season for the farmers and diversified crop raisers.

The seventh resolution aims directly at the United States monetary system and hasn't much sympathy for the banking concerns of the nation. It offers a cure for the inflation and deflation demands and the approximate twenty-year hard time series of events in cycles. A suggestion is offered that will do away with taxes by asking through the State Grange that the United States congress assume its constitutional rights "to coin money and regulate the value thereof," by making the monetary board's duty to ascertain varying amounts of goods produced and pay into circulation a portion of this for the expenses of government in lieu of taxation, with the volume of money necessary to maintain a price level that would allow every person who is willing and able to work, to do so.

A memorial service was in charge of Mrs. J. H. Maulding, chaplain, in the reading of the 23rd Psalm and group singing of hymns. Appropriate readings were given by Mrs. Waterston and Janet Mulkey. James Bonner displayed maps made by area engineers of the different Silverton Hills farms and sections. In the agricultural committee report was an urge to rid the hills ranches of Scotch broom that is spreading and claiming otherwise producing land. Harold Mires will be the choice of the Grange as 4-H representative to the state meet at Corvallis during the summer.

The remainder of the senior girls formed the court.

Homecoming activities followed the May Day program, with a basketball game between the Stayton high school and the alumni, the alumni winning by a score of 10 to 4. At 6:30 a banquet was held in the Parish hall with over 200 alumni, graduating seniors and faculty members present. Scout Troops At Camporee

Independence—About 300 Boy Scouts of the Cascade area who were assembled here over the weekend in the Hop bowl, for their annual Camporee, gathered together for religious services Sunday morning in the open air amphitheatre at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Lloyd Vickers, pastor of the Baptist church was in charge with Rev. Walker of Monmouth conducting the singing. Rev. K. K. Clark gave the invocation and Rev. W. B. Mahon, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, preached.

After the morning hour services the Scouts were privileged to attend any church they desired in the city, which they did, and then returned to their quarters to prepare dinner and also prepare to camp in the afternoon and return to their homes.

They were given a weiner roast on Saturday evening, weiners being furnished by the business men of Independence, and the Scouts knew how to prepare them to make them tasty.

After they closed camp the field was left in a most orderly manner and the grounds were in perfect condition. Seidom has Independence seen as orderly and well behaved group of boys together.

The drive here is under the direction of three board members of the county chapter, Mrs. J. C. Mayer, Clarence Shimanek and Milton E. Coe. The same personnel which handled the recent annual roll call, has been asked to undertake this special campaign. All business and residential sections will be canvassed. The $350 fund is identical to the quota fixed and slightly exceeded in the annual roll call. It is expected the special drive will be started before next week.

Chet Maulding is chairman of the consolidated school board and his assistants are A. H. Sacher and Merle Poote.

The group hopes to decide by vote whether to build this summer; the approximate cost of a school building; how the construction of the building is to be done, whether by local work or by an outside contractor; and the most important, the location of the building with two suggestions to be considered, the property adjoining the community hall on the John Reinhardt place, or the tract of land on the Clay Porter land near the L. Cooley Choice Linn Voters Recount Shows

Albany—H. W. Cooley was Monday established definitely as the nominee of the democratic party to the office of Linn county commissioner, it was announced by the official counting board. The counting board ran through this office ahead of any of the rest because the issue was in doubt, and had not completed the entire count on both tickets late Monday. The final check gave: Cooley, 1361; Ralph Hargett, 1330; Ed Bilyeu, 880.

Saturday Cooley led Hargett by only eight votes. While several minor errors were discovered by the official counters the result was determined chiefly by correction of an unofficial report from South Brownsville precinct, where figures had been wrongly transcribed to one of the tally sheets.

It had been determined Monday that no other results were altered or affected in the least by the official canvass.

While Albany turned out a comparatively strong republican vote, 1190 to 736, Lebanon was more evenly divided between the parties, 478 to 434. In the county as a whole republicans polled 4633 votes and democrats 3840.

This was slightly less than 99 per cent of the republican registration total and slightly more than 56 per cent of the total of registered democrats in the county.

Relief Drive Starting

Albany—Actual solicitation for the $1600 assigned the Linn county chapter of the American Red Cross as its quota of the $10,000,000 to be raised for war relief work among the innocent victims of war in Holland and Belgium will be under way this week, it was announced Monday by R. H. Collins, chapter chairman. The canvass will be conducted with the aid of various local chairmen who carried out the regular annual roll call last fall.
