County Budget Hearing Date Set at Dallas

Dallas—The date of the public hearing on the county budget has been set for November 27 by the members of the budget board which includes County Judge Herman Van Well, Commissioners H. H. Brant and Fred Gibson and George A. Woods, R. Van Den Bosch and J. G. Hogg. Hogg is secretary of the board and Woods chairman.

Estimated total of state and county levies on the budget is $170,237.20 or $94,118.68 less than it was a year ago when the taxes levied for the year were $264,355.88. Items listed on the 1941 budget are:

Assessor's office, $6,297.50; circuit court, $3,555; county clerk's office, $7,217.50; coroner, $325; county court, $4,247.50; court house, $5,380; district attorney, $1,599; grand jury, $575; health department, $3,360; jail, $2,370; justice courts, $1,377.50; juvenile court, $150; sheriff and tax collector, $9,202.50; superintendent of schools, $3,694.50; surveyor, $270; treasurer, $1,822.50; registration and elections, $500; contributions, $62,525; miscellaneous expenses, $7,650; emergency, $4,000; total, general fund, $132,118.50.

Total expenditures in the county throughout 1941 are expected to total $318,425.70, but substantial cash balances in various funds have slashed the amount to be raised by direct tax to the amount shown in the opening paragraph. As of October 31, the net indebtedness of Polk county was exactly nothing.

Independence Offers Education Program

Independence—The plans of the Independence training school for American education week, November 10 to 16 are two-fold. Parents are welcome any time during the week, but special plans have been made for them Friday. They are invited not only to visit classes, but to bring their lunch to eat in the children's lunch room. Tea and coffee will be served by the faculty. A special assembly is planned for the afternoon at 1:15 o'clock.

The other part of the plan includes people who have no children in school. The pupils have asked to bring these friends to school on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of that week. The children will act as hosts and hostesses for the friends whom they invite. Each guests will have a tag telling whose guest he is; and each child will have a tag bearing the name of his guest. Class room work, as well as a trip through the building, may be enjoyed. All guests will be welcomed by the teaching staff.

Youngster is Hurt

Jefferson—Mrs. H. E. McKee has received word of the critical injury to her nephew, Norman Watson, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watson of Yuba City, Calif., formerly of Albany. Norman fell out of a tree injuring his stomach and little hope is being held for his recovery. Mrs. Watson, a sister of Mrs. McKee, will be remembered as Ivy Batis of Albany. The Watsons have one other son 14 years old.

'Brother Orchid' Pleases Crowds

Mt. Angel — Presentation of "Brother Orchid" attracted large crowds of drama fans at both the afternoon and evening performances by the College Dramatic club to the Student Union building.

The three-act play, a story of gangsters, gunmen and Catholic lay brothers, centers on the conversion of an ex-convict, Little John Sarto, from a gangster to Brother Orchid of a Floratine brotherhood.

Little John Sarto "bucked" by Gimp and taken "for a ride" by Freckles and Dum-Dum finds refuge in a Floratine monastary. There he finds "something bigger than himself".

How Brother Orchid, knowing the ways of the underworld, saves the monastery from one of his former buddies, climaxes the play.

Joseph Neuville heads the cast in the role of Little John Sarto. Opposing him in the role of Gimp is Bernard Geisen. Supporting gangster roles were interpreted by Richard Hopkins as Ditchy James Duyn as Freckles, Thomas Ferschweiler as Dum-Dum, Thomas Bolten as Solomon the Jew and Jeno Bean as Dominic Battista.

Marion Hite enacted the role of Abbot Jonquil, superior of the Floratine order. Other Floratine brothers in the play were Joseph Zenner as Brother Nasturtium, James Galvin as Brother Geranium and John Kendrigan as Brother Hollyhock.

Three orchestra numbers, Enchanted Night, by Max Kromm; The Gypsy Trail Overture, by Max Fischel; U. S. Orient March, by E. H. Bergh, directed by Alexander Scharbach, were well received, as were the vocal solos by James Duyn and songs by the Glee club.

Linn Millage Tax Reduced; Drive Opened

Albany—Linn county's 1941 budget committee provided funds to finance a Linn county health unit and at the same time reduced the county budget by $61,740, it was announced following the meeting of the budget board. According to a hasty estimate the reduction will bring a millage tax reduction of approximately two mills for the county general purposes, necessitating a county millage tax of only about 13 mills.

This, investigations show, is one of the greatest reductions ever made in a Linn county tax for one year.

The appropriation of $4,300 for financing of a county health unit to provide a full-time secretary was effected without increasing the budget more than $1500.

The budget committee made appropriations totaling $9,981 more than those granted last year, but gave the taxpayers the benefit of a $76,763 balance listed as cash on hand in the county treasury.

Another item which increased the appropriation total was the earmarking of $600 for use in procuring matched state and federal funds to provide for a predatory animal hunter.

The health unit appropriation will likewise be matched by federal funds.

Albany — Linn county's annual Red Cross drive swing into action here Wednesday, under the sponsorship of the Albany Junior Chamber of Commerce. A breakfast at the Veterans' Memorial hall will call together those in charge of the drive in this area and Linn county chapter directors.

It is being asked this year that housewives take out membership for themselves and families in addition to the memberships procured in the business district from their husbands, on the ground that this year the Red Cross is in greater need of support than ever before.

The county's quota was nearly doubled this year, it was announced.

Fall Blossoms Are Reported At Jordan Home

Silverton—This is second blooming year at the Mill street gardens of the J. W. Jordan home.

A row of deep rose colored holly hocks, that were cut to the ground in August, grew for the second time and produced gorgeous blossoms perfectly developed and are yet lovely, November 13.

A bed of choise delphiniums were also cut down at the same time, sprouted stems, leaves, and bloomed during the latter part of October.

A Bartlett pear tree in the Jordan home orchard put out blossoms at the time the regular crop of pears was picked, developed fruit with twelve pears maturing in late October, and dozens of other pears reaching the size of a hen egg, dropped from the tree before maturing. The fruit was fully developed.

Rebekahs Will Meet

Silverton—The Rebekahs meet Thursday evening at the IOOF hall with George Winchell chairman of entertainment when the men of the lodge are to be hosts to the women. Plans will also be made for the annual homecoming of November 28.
