Bartges Held at Klamath Falls

The law caught up with Warren E. Bartges yesterday when a little over a year after his escape from the Marion county jail and subsequent alleged kidnaping of Mrs. A. R. Hunter, now deceased, he was arrested in Klamath Falls by city police. Deputy Sheriff Pittenger was sent to that city to return him here. Bartges was picked up in Klamath Falls on a speeding charge and finger print identification revealed him as the long sought man. The Klamath finger prints were tallied with those in the sheriff's office here.

Preceding the alleged kidnaping of Mrs. Hunter December 30, 1939, Bartges deserted from the navy in 1931. Soon after he was given a three year sentence in the penitentiary from Yamhill county on an arson charge. Paroled a year later in a month he was back as a parole violator and was pardoned in 1934. In 1938 he was again under arrest at Cheyenne, Wyo., on a warrant from Salem charging issuance of fraudulent checks.

On December 30, 1939, he and Jack Tomlin, also a convict being held for California authorities, broke out of the county jail here and immediately separated. Bartges held up Mrs. Hunter at Winter and D streets and forced her to drive him to Portland. There he jumped from her car on the Burnside bridge and has succeeded in eluding the officers since, although erroneously reported under arrest a number of times at different places.

Bartges was being held in jail here under check charges which are still pending. As Mrs. Hunter died some months after the kidnaping took place it is questionable as to whether that charge will be pressed.

Bartges is 27 years old.

Gully to Speak Before Men's Club

The men's club of First Presbyterian church will learn at first hand the experiences, dangers and pathos of war refugee relief, when Professor Emmett W. Gully of Pacific college of Newberg addresses them at the regular meeting Tuesday, January 14, at 6:30 p. m.

During the Spanish civil war, Professor Gully was in charge of distribution of $3,000,000 worth of food, serving both General Franco's side and that of the former Spanish government. His adventures in this work form the basis for his talk. Another phase of war work in which Gully found himself was the relief administered to 7000 German refugees of the present war, who were permitted to disembark in Cuba. It has been but three months since the return of Gully to Cuba.

An effective speaker, Professor Gully is an imposing figure physically, standing six feet six inches in height. His speaking time is in great demand, for as professor of sociology and Spanish at Pacific college, it must of necessity be limited.

The meeting will start with a dinner at 6:30, and those desiring to make reservations may call the secretary at 9669.

Indian Evangelist To Speak Here

Ray Zack, Indian evangelist, will speak next Sunday evening at the Court Street Christian church. Mr. Zack, a full-blooded Yakima Indian, was educated at White Swan Indian mission in Washington and Northwest Christian college in Eugene. He has done extensive evangelistic work, both among Indians and white people. Recently he has been working on a number of Indian reservations and will bring a report of his work to his many friends in Salem next Sunday evening. Sunday morning he is scheduled to speak at the Chemawa Indian school.

Dr. Fox Begins Prophetic Series

Sunday night at the First Baptist church, Salem, the pastor, Dr. Irving A. Fox, will begin the new series of messages on the Seven Churches in Asia as found in the second and third chapters of the book of Revelation.

These are vital prophetic messages concerning the outline of Christianity through the ages. Have conditions of the churches run true to the prophetic utterances of the Lord?

"In the first message we have the past apostolic period, the departure from first love," Dr. Fox says. "There is no longer devotion to the person of Christ. He has become an idea, a cult, the expression of a system rather than a living, intimate person. How does it affect the Lord and what has He in His heart against the church."

The pastor will deal with the subject without fear.
