

Silverton Forum Will Issue Bulletin Each Month

College Head To Tell About Spanish Aims

Silverton—One of the new plans of the present set-up of the chamber of commerce is being appreciated by the Silverton public. This is the "Chamber of Commerce News," a bulletin issued once or twice a month according to the type of meetings to be held. Volume I, No. 3, made its appearance Monday under direction of S. Parzy Rose, president, and Ralph Larson, corresponding secretary. The bulletin closes with the admonition, "Join the Chamber of Commerce and Step Forward with Silverton."

The public is urged to hear Dr. Emmett W. Gulley, vice-president of Pacific College, Newberg. He will appear as guest speaker at the Wednesday evening dinner and tell of his experiences in Spain in feeding war-stricken children as a Friends' project. The dinner will be served under direction of Miss Nina Asabahr and her senior high home economics girls. In order to insure a place at the dinner the public is warned to buy tickets early as only a limited number of guests can be accommodated.

The bulletin acknowledges the calling to their attention by the American Legion Delbert Reeves post No. 7, of the condition of the flags that are displayed in front of business houses on various occasions. In reply it is stated: "The board feels that if the national emblem is being displayed in a soiled or de-lapidated condition, it is not due to lack of respect but carelessness, in failing to examine the condition of the flag from year to year. The board suggests that each merchant make an examination of the flag he uses for display purposes before the next national holiday and either have it cleaned or replaced with one in good condition. The American Legion and chamber of commerce will appreciate your cooperation."

Two important committee reports will be read on Wednesday night's meeting. Jay H. Grills, R. B. Duncan and Glenn Price will present the constitution and by-laws of the forum which has been accepted by the executive board. Errol Ross and his industrial committee, M. G. Gunderson and Dr. A. L. V. Smith, are investigating every angle of the question of a cannery for Silverton for the coming year. In this connection S. Parzy Rose, president, John Hoblitt and T. T. Leonard attended a meeting of cooperative organizations in Corvallis last week.

The chamber of commerce roads committee, Dr. P. A. Loar and E. H. King, cooperating with the Lions club committee, Glenn Price and Dr. A. L. V. Smith, brought home from Salem the promise from the county court and the state highway commission that the slippery pavement of the Salem-Silverton highway would be resurfaced, beginning at Middle Grove section and continued toward Silverton as far as the allotted $80,000 would carry the project.

Banker to Address Forum at Dallas

Dallas—This week's meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held Wednesday instead of on Friday. The switch was made in order to give the members the opportunity to hear Hans C. Pfund of Portland, public relations representative of the Federal Home Loan bank, who works in connection with the various savings and loan associations in the Portland district.

His work in this direction brings him to Dallas Wednesday for a meeting with the directors of the Polk county association. He will be introduced by Laird V. Woods, secretary of the association, at the luncheon meeting. Anyone interested is invited to attend. Non-members should make reservations with the secretary of the chamber of commerce if they plan to attend the luncheon.

Hazel Green School Has Visiting Days

Hazel Green—The pupils are having visiting days when the parents and other interested friends are welcome to come and listen to the classes and observe the progress made by the various groups undertaking special assignments. The story of books given recently by the fifth grade class gave the history of books from the earliest writings to the present day books. Exhibits were displayed of clay tablets, manuscripts, quill pens, wax tablets and picture writing.

Richard Kasper and Daryl Van Cleave related how the cave-men told stories with picture writing, Egyptian hieroglyphics and Indian sign language. Ray Kvona explained in detail how scrolls were made and Lorene Lowery told of the process necessary to make ink and the explanation as to how Roman numerals came into usage and Gladys Zielinski gave the story of how monks drew long complicated handwritten manuscripts. Lorene Lowery told how printing came into use and Errol Johnson concluded the tale with the story of how books are made today in the modern way.

Girl Receives Severe Burns

Woodburn—Marilyn Johnson, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sidney Johnson of Fortuna, Calif., formerly of Woodburn, was critically burned January 7 at her home when flames from an open fireplace ignited her clothing.

Her mother wrapped a large rug around the girl to extinguish the flames and believed the fire to be out. She then turned her attention to a flaming curtain and sent her daughter to telephone for the fire department, but as the girl reached the telephone her dress burst into flame again, burning her severely. She was taken to the Fortuna hospital and her condition is reported as good, considering the seriousness of the burns.

Johnson was formerly instructor in agriculture at Woodburn high school, and with his family left here last fall to accept a similar position in the Fortuna schools.

Classes Given 'Young' Drivers

Jefferson—Students of the Jefferson high school and adults in this locality will be offered the opportunity of learning to drive an automobile in a modern safety driving school beginning here January 24, when a seven weeks' course is started under the auspices of Earl Snell, secretary of state. These schools are sponsored by Mr. Snell as a part of his state-wide traffic safety program.

Students 15 years of age or older are eligible to enroll, and will register at the high school. Adults who wish to learn to drive or who wish to improve their driving may also enroll to the high school. Everyone who takes the course must provide his own car and must make arrangements to have it driven to and from the school by a licensed operator.

No driver's license is required for the course, but students are advised to take out learner's permits to enable them to practice. Instruction is given in the use of the clutch, shifting gears, turning and backing, parallel parking, stopping and starting on hills and general care of the car. At the first session the instructor outlines the work to be covered in regulations pertaining to the operation of motor vehicles in Oregon.

All subsequent classes feature instruction with the student at the wheel of his car. Classes are held each week during the course, one phase of driving being taken up at each session. Between classes, students are expected to practice in order to master the various steps as they go along. A competent instructor is in charge of the work at all times and parents are invited to attend any of the classes.

Jail Use Borrowed

Independence—Roy Treatfeather was arrested in Monmouth last Saturday evening to be held on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from Benton county and held in the Independence city jail Saturday evening for the arrival of Benton county officials. The city of Monmouth does not own a jail and uses the Independence jail in cases of emergency.
